

The Daily Astorian. ASTORIA, OREGON: SUNDAY, AUGUST 5, 1883

The Fraser river salmon is reported light. The State of California is due tomorrow morning. The Gen. Miles and Gen. Canby make excursion trips to Ilwaco to-day. See adv. John F. Byrnes' charcoal sketches at Occidental Hall to-morrow night. The St. Lucie from New York for Astoria was last spoken in lat. 23 S.; lon 48-25, W. The total salmon shipments to San Francisco, thus far this season, aggregate 125,163 cases. It is estimated that over 200,000 head of Oregon cattle will be driven into Montana this year. The Shubrick leaves this morning, bearing glad tidings of great joy to light house stations to the north. Rev. E. S. McLafferty will leave for his former home in Eugene tomorrow, to bring his family here. The time made by Capt. McLellan's ship, the Graciale, is said to have never been beaten between the two ports. The Pt. Adams Packing company will give a complimentary ball on their spacious premises next Wednesday evening. Capt. Howland, of the Red Cross, reports speaking the ship Samaria, on July 8th, from San Francisco for Cork, in lat. 8 N.; lon. 122-45 W. The Astoria base ball club goes to Ilwaco to-day to play a game with their competitors across the bay. Both sides make a good showing on former scores. The American ship Red Cross, 1,301, of Richmond, Me., Howland master, laden with railroad material, arrived in yesterday afternoon, 145 days from New York. The office of police judge is vacant. It is probable that the vacancy will continue till next election during which time Mayor Hahn will act in that capacity. It is reported, says the Columbian, that two steam ferries will soon be started, one from the mouth of Lewis and Lake rivers to St. Helens, and one from Columbia City across the river. Last Friday the end of the N. P. R. R. track reached Bear River, 46 miles east of Missoula, Montana, on the other end the track is laid to a point twenty miles west of Helena, leaving a gap of 68 miles. For an evening's entertainment go to Occidental Hall to-morrow night. The play is as a golden string on which pearls are suspended, each act being in itself a specialty. Reserved seats at the City Book store. If you want any job printing done we will guarantee to give you as good work and at as low a figure as you can get it done elsewhere. We buy material in large quantities from first hands and pay cash, thus getting the lowest possible prices. The government declares that though the trade dollar has $1.03 worth of silver in it, it is not a legal tender, but that need not deter you from dropping one into the contribution box when it is passed this morning. You'll get full credit on heaven's ledger. The fact that a Tennessee "gentleman" killed his neighbor immediately after he, the T. G., had devoured a watermelon, impels one to pause and reflect upon the character of a vegetable production that will incite its consumer to bloodshed. Let us not eat watermelons—till they get cheaper. Last Wednesday the Chinamen working in Josephine county refused to pay poll tax, and made a fight upon Sheriff Rider, who was accompanied by a posse of men. The result was a shooting affray, in which three Chinamen were killed. The fact that 150 Chinamen attacked the sheriff and posse exonerates that official. Judge Bennett arrived down yesterday and will hold matters level in the circuit court for a season, beginning next Tuesday. Should the feathers of the owls and hawks be fluttered during the next two weeks it might be well to bestow a little attention on the coops in which these birds of prey breed and roost. The Wide West arrived down on time yesterday morning, and so crowded with vessels was the dock that it was with difficulty she effected a landing. The steamers for the seaside were filled with passengers, and after the bustle of arrival and departure, ensued comparative quiet. The Queen left out at half past two. Attention No. 1. Regular monthly meeting Monday, August 6th, at 7:30 p. m. All members are requested to be present. By order W. W. PARKER, President. L. E. SELLO, Secy.

Council Proceedings.

At a special meeting of the city council held last Friday evening, the resignation of C. W. Fulton, as city attorney, was read, and by unanimous vote was accepted. The following claims against the city for services as special police were ordered paid: Scott Bozorth, $9; J. O. Lidwell, $18; F. H. Sherman, $66; A. T. Grubb, $9; A. McKenzie, $18; Geo. P. Wheeler, $18; Jno. Hayden, $9; M. Phillips, $3; A. E. Shaw, $15. On motion council adjourned to meet yesterday evening, when F. D. Winton was elected city attorney. Yesterday morning Judge Stott rendered a decision in the case of the Danway Publishing Co. vs the Northwest News, in which he denied the temporary injunction prayed for by the plaintiffs. The courts held that the word Northwest was a geographical name and therefore could not be employed as a trademark. Oregonian, 6.

The Grocers' Gazette, of July 14th, reports the London salmon market as follows: There has been a decided improvement in trade during the past few days; sales of fair quantities have been made to dealers at previous rates, and the demand from the country is satisfactory. At Liverpool a better tone prevails, but there is no animation and no important sales to report. Holders keep their prices very firm, as they consider we have now reached the worst, and have confidence in an early reaction.

Joseph Watt, of Amity, Yamhill county, says that a person who came to Oregon previous to 1854 may become a member of the Pioneer association by sending to T. B. Odenseal, at Salem, $1 for membership fee and a three-cent stamp, together with date and place of birth and year of arrival in Oregon. Women need not pay the membership fee. The excursion over the Northern Pacific will leave about September 20, and the committee has decided to accept the lower rate, $60 for the round trip and slower time. The fare from Portland to New York city and return will be $99.

Capture of a Contrabandist.

The U. S. coast survey steamer Rogers has arrived at San Francisco after a four months cruise along the southern coast. One of the most important incidents of the cruise was the seizure of the American schooner Omalaska for attempting to deliver munitions of war to the revolutionists in San Salvador. This schooner cleared from San Francisco March 31st, for Guayaquil, Ecuador. She had a cargo valued at about $20,000, comprising, with other things, 1,000 rifles and 400 cases of cartridges. All the crew of the schooner and the officers also except the captain, supposed the clearance was bona fide, and were therefore slightly surprised when off La Libertad, San Salvador, the captain announced his intention of putting into that port. The reason given for this was that the water was almost gone and more was needed. It is now believed that the water was allowed to leak out. The schooner then headed for La Libertad, but the Rogers was lying in that port at the time and the schooner after reaching the entrance to the port tacked and going about bore off down the coast. About a week later she put into Acapulco. By private means the government had learned of the coming of the schooner and other facts concerning the disposal of the arms. When the vessel was sighted, the revolutionist agent who was to receive the consignment was seized and put in prison. His private signal to the schooner had been ascertained, and so by strategy, when she had dropped her anchor the government officials went off and secured possession. The vessel and cargo were seized and the officers and men arrested. Afterwards the cargo was confiscated and the vessel and crew turned over to the American Minister. Captain Green was allowed to go, and went to San Francisco. Mr. Hall then gave the custody of the vessel to Captain Phillip of the Ranger. A prize crew, consisting of Lieutenant Helm, Ensign Stafford and three sailors, was put aboard and the vessel towed to San Jose de Guatemala, thence to Champerico. From this point she sailed northward with the prize and original crew, while the Ranger steamed to do some unfinished work. The Ranger, catching up, again took the schooner in tow from Acapulco, and brought her up as far as Cape Corrientes, where she was parted with the second time, the steamer going to San Diego and thence to San Francisco. The schooner, it is thought, will arrive there about the 20th, when she will be turned over to the United States Marshal.

Pond of Bananas.

The consumers of bananas will do well to investigate the fruit before eating it, lest they may have queer things pumped from their stomachs. A fruit dealer found a number of curious little animals in a bunch. An examination disclosed a nest in the center of the bunch, and seated in it was an animal resembling a mouse, though different from it in many respects. The young ones are mouse-colored, with large, bright eyes, and their tails are fully as long as their bodies. The mother is of a reddish color, with unusually large, luminous eyes for so small an animal. Her tail is lengthy and bushy. Under her breast is a sac or pouch similar to that of a kangaroo, in which the little ones take refuge at the slightest approach of danger. The young ones sit on her tail and are carried about.
