

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

TUESDAY.....AUGUST 14, 1883

Salmon is quoted at $1.52 per dozen in St. Louis.

Capt. Hustler gives notice in another column concerning city taxes.

The Gen. Miles leaves for Gray's harbor at half-past six this evening.

Dr. Jay Tuttle has moved his residence to the house formerly occupied by Mrs. Hewitt.

Mr. N. L. Baker, managing editor of the Sunday Mercury, accompanied by his wife, is in the city.

A. M. Johnson was a passenger on the Columbia yesterday on a trip to Norway, after eighteen years absence.

At a special meeting of the city council last evening G. W. Coffinbury was elected to the office of police judge.

A large force of brickmakers has commenced making brick at the mouth of the Walluski. They intend burning 300,000 this fall.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the White Star Packing company, will be held at the company's office on the 23rd inst.

The Oregon arrived in Astoria yesterday morning with passengers. The Victoria had not left San Francisco at the time of her departure Saturday morning.

L. W. Poole who has returned from Foley Springs considerably improved in health, reports that Pete Roney has wonderfully improved that health resort, and that he is doing a good business.

In another column will be found the announcement of the marriage of Geo. P. Wheeler and Miss Jennie Hanna. The friends of the newly wedded pair wish them a fair and prosperous future.

The new schoolhouse is assuming definite shape, and is now one of the most prominent objects that greets the eye from the bay. It is the intention to have it completed and ready for occupancy by the 1st of October.

The London Grocer says: A better tone prevails in our salmon market, but there is no animation and no important sales to report. Holders keep their prices very firm, as they consider we have now reached the worst, and have confidence in an early reaction.

Out of twenty-six visitors to this office yesterday, twenty-four in speaking of the climate said it was the finest they had ever seen, and the variety of climate they had seen was considerable. Astoria can not be beat for health and vigor as well as other attributes of happiness.

At the regular annual election for officers of the fire department there were 72 votes cast, of which F. P. Hicks received 71 votes for chief engineer, A. A. Cleveland and J. G. Charters received 57 and 46 votes respectively, and L. E. Solig 1. There being no opposition an extremely light vote was polled.

There is trouble on the Sacramento. Two fishing boats and their crews were recently captured by the patrol established by the California fish commission, and a general melee was the result. One fisherman named B. Nicolas, was killed. The men swear they will fish, and the officials affirm they won't.

Attention is directed to the "Ad" of Armes & Dallan, who are the pioneer manufacturers and dealers in wooden and willow ware on the Pacific coast, having established their business in San Francisco in 1852. Their assortment is very complete, their prices low, and they will deal squarely by their customers.

Service will be held in the Swedish Lutheran church at upper Astoria next Thursday evening at half-past seven o'clock, by Rev. P. Carlson. Rev. J. J. Hoikka, lately from Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., with Rev. W. Skans, arrived on the Oregon yesterday. Rev. Mr. Hoikka will take charge of the congregation here; his colleague goes to Portland to take charge of the Swedish Lutheran church at Portland.

The steamer Bonita, which arrived Wednesday from Nainaimo, B. C., is in trouble with the custom house authorities. On the 24th of July she sailed from this port for Astoria with a cargo of general merchandise and thence to Nainaimo, B. C., without clearing the custom house at Astoria, and without having her papers changed from enrollment to register. From Nainaimo she came to this port with coal. As vessels under enrollment are not permitted to go into the foreign trade, the cargo and vessel are subject to forfeiture under the law. The vessel is owned by Goodall, Perkins & Co., the cargo, 482 tons of coal, is consigned to John Rosenfeld and the master's name is H. D. Leland.—S. F. Comm. News, 10.

Wanted. A girl to help take care of children. Apply at once at this office.

Dressing in a Hurry.

The regular Sunday morning fire alarm occurred a little earlier than usual last Sunday. About half-past three the bell woke all light sleepers and sent a hundred men flying down the street, and the second alarm brought every one out of bed. The fire companies went down as far as O'Brien's hotel on a run, but seeing nothing except some burning brush went back again.

There is something peculiarly attractive about jumping from sound sleep at half past three a. m., and swooping around in the dark for the habiliments with which this frail tenement of clay is ordinarily clothed. You are sure to bump against a rocking chair, and when you think you are over that danger, it comes back at you, as it vibrates with the memory of your presence, and gets you in a fresh place. In the hurry and excitement of the moment everything is got on hind side out and wrong end to, and when the operation of plunging and pawing, styled by courtesy, dressing, is concluded and the wearer strikes the street, he lends to the procession an added charm that no words can adequately convey. Fortunately, in that respect, the pitying curtain of night covers all inadequacies, and as the main point is to "get there," all minor considerations are overlooked.

Court Proceedings.

MONDAY AUG. 13.

A Challenge.

PORTLAND, Or., Aug. 10, 1883.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ASTORIAN:

I hereby challenge any man on the Northwest coast to wrestle with me Scotch back hold for $200 a side or will wrestle a mixed match of two styles, each to choose one style and agree to throw my opponent ten times, in the same time, he secured five falls from me. In case I win I am to receive the stakes, the entire gate money and be considered the victor.

DONALD DINNIE.

The condition of Smith was yesterday such as led to the opinion on the part of the physician that he might recover. The hospital, is probably the healthiest place that he will find. About fifteen minutes after he got on board the boat to come to Astoria last Saturday, a crowd of men came to the landing to hang him, and perhaps it is about the best use he could be put to under the circumstances.

Considerable speculation is now openly expressed respecting the probable effect upon business in this city and state on the opening up of the Northern Pacific railroad across the continent—a direct continental highway between New York and Oregon; or in other words, the opening up of direct communication between the eastern, Atlantic states, Oregon, and the great Northwest, centering at the Columbia river and ports on Puget Sound, W. T. Already a number of leading merchants have established branch houses in Portland and Astoria, and others will no doubt follow.—S. F. Commercial Herald.

Tennyson's "May Queen." Who knows that if the beautiful girl who died so young had been blessed with Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" she might have reigned on many another bright May-day. The "Favorite Prescription" is a certain cure for all those disorders to which females are liable. By druggists.

More West Shores.

Just received a new lot of July Number which sell on sight. Also a new invoice of views of Astoria, Youngs River Falls, Tillamook Rock Light, Fort Canby, etc., at Carl Adler's.

Walter or Wyster Wanted. At Frank Fabre's Oyster and Ice Cream Saloon in Odd Fellows building opposite THE ASTORIAN office. None but first-class with good character need apply.

Notice to the Public. After the 12th inst. I will close my Restaurant at 9 o'clock in the evening. R. DIXON.

A fine lot of Silverware just received at Adler's—the old, reliable brand.

Rogers Bros. plated ware and West-Enholm cutlery at Jordan & Bozorth's new store.

Rosee Dixon's new eating house is now open. Everything has been fitted up in first-class style, and his well known reputation as a caterer assures all who will give things to eat, that at his place they can be accommodated.

The finest flavored Ice Cream at Frank Fabre's, Odd Fellows building.

A Bad Boat.

What looked like a long black box, tapered at both ends, with a lead-colored box on top of it and a black smoke-stack running up through the middle, lay at a New York wharf. It was Capt. John Ericsson's torpedo-boat destroyer, which, the inventor thinks, will destroy vessels that are impregnable to shot thrown against their sides. In her gun, which pointed out at her bow, about eight feet below the surface of the water, was a long steel cylinder. This was the projectile which in warfare would be supplied with a torpedo at the conical-shaped tip, to explode on striking the side of a ship and blow her to pieces.

In the experiments a net will be paraded into the sea to serve as a target and fired at at a distance of from 300 to 500 feet. On the bow of the little craft, which was almost submerged, were two wooden floats to support the net in the water. The projectiles are hollow and made so that they will float. The tendency to rise is so artfully adjusted as not to interfere with the flight under the water or to destroy the aim. They are expected to come to the surface about 700 feet from the vessel, and they will pursue a perfectly horizontal course for 500 feet at least. They will travel the first 500 feet in three seconds or a little less. They weigh 1,500 pounds each. In the experiments there will be no occasion to use the torpedoes. The object will be to test the distance of flight and the accuracy of aim. The experiments hitherto have been conducted in still water, and the fring off Sandy Hook will be the first deep-sea practice. The Destroyer has attained a speed of seventeen knots an hour, and her fullest capacity has not been reached. Although her hull proper is almost entirely under water, she is seaworthy, for everything can be batted down and no water can get into her. Blowers ventilate the boat perfectly. All her working apparatus is below water and it would be next to impossible to disable her in an engagement. If the iron house built on top of her and her smoke-stack were knocked off entirely it would make no difference. She would be as serviceable as ever. A steel plate eighteen feet thick is set in front of the pilot's position to deflect balls if they should strike there. The pilot is entirely surrounded by iron-work, and looks out through a small hole on a level with his eyes to get his bearings. He can touch off the gun when he gets in exact range, and immediately back off to safety. There is a dummy plug at the opening in the boat where the projectile goes out. This is shot away with the projectile, and a valve closes over the hole to keep out the water. Only enough water to fill the gun can get in anyway, and this can be quickly pumped out by a steam siphon. So there is no danger from this source. There is no room to spare on the boat, but sufficient for the uses required. The Destroyer is the only craft that shoots a torpedo under water.—New York Times.

Dan Castello's Circus.

Of the circus which shows here tomorrow, the Oregonian says: Dan Castello's nickel-plate circus drew a very large crowd last night, completely filling the spacious tent. It requires but an act or two to convince the audience that the show was one of excellence, not only in the performances, themselves but in general management and the style in which they were presented. While there is much that reminds one of the long-ago, many of the acts are really new and very attractive. The globe croppings by Durand, Samuels and Evans were exceedingly clever. As contortionists the Heeley brothers rank very high, and introduce much that is new and startling. We have not seen any tumbling equaling that of Evans, Durand, Samuels, Harding and others. The trained horse Senator, introduced by Dan Castello, is one of the handsomest horses that has appeared in our city. As a trick horse he shows wonderful intelligence, and is a very attractive feature of the circus. His performances are alone worth the price of admission. Chas and Lottie Belmont on the trapeze give some remarkably fine feats. During the act, Miss Belmont, while hanging suspended head downward, lifts over 650 pounds of humanity, and gains rounds of applause. Aside from the excellence of the performances, every one connected with the show is polite and attentive, being in sharp contrast in these respects to those who have accompanied circuses that have heretofore exhibited in this city.

Mr. Castello, as a clown, is well known, and it is doubtful if his equal is in the ring to-day. A matinee will be given this afternoon, and we would advise those who desire to attend to go early.

A Business Son.

"Yes, there's a heap of difference in boys," replied the old man, as he tied up a bag of oats. "There's my son John, for instance. Everybody beats him in a horse trade, swindles him on a watch dicker, and leaves him out in the cold when he farms on shares. He's good hearted, but there's no business about him. If I had to depend upon John, I'd die in the poorhouse."

He wrestled the bag aside, seized another and continued. "And there was my son Phillip, keen as a raiser, eyes wide open, and so sharp that no man in New Jersey dare offer him a pair of old boots for a $300 horse for fear of being cheated."

"Is he dead?" "Yes, he's gone; and that was the sharpest trick of all. He found he'd got consumption, and what did he do but hunt up a life insurance agent, take out a $5,000 policy, gave his note for the premium, and come home and fall off a load of hay and run a pitheer clear through him. Some sons would have hung on and doctored around and wanted currant jelly and chicken soup for eighteen months; but that wasn't Phil. No sir. He didn't even ask for anything better'n a $20 tom-batone, and he said I needn't git that unless the marble cutter would trade even up for a blind calf."

Look Here! You are out a treat, and don't you forget it, if you miss JEFF'S Dinner every day from 5 to 8. Soups, fish, eight kinds of meat, vegetables, pies, puddings, coffee, tea, wine, S. F. beer, or milk. Dinner 25 cents.
