Doctor Prime, the venerable editor of the New York Observer, usually spends the summer months traveling in his native state, and about New England, and wherever he stops he is a .welcome visitor. His weekly letters in the Observer are widely read, and are enjoyed Thatises and Enriches the Placel. . by everybody.

In his travels, Irenaeus comes across some quaint people, and many queer things which he keen ly appreciates, and he gives an account of them in his interesting

Among his last discoveries, Dr. Prime has found an odd monument in northern New York, which had been exected to the memory of a most excellent wo- QUE DISEASES ORIGINATING IN-4 EAR EAR man. A good man had lived happily with a devoted wife until they were well on in years, when she died. He bethought him of some fitting memorial to place over her grave, and the happy thought struck him that the square stove, by which they had been. comfortable through many long winters, would be just what she would like if she had a voice in the matter. He had the stove taken to the charchyard and placed over the remains of his companion, who sleeps quietly underneath it.

After a Rainy Ride a Country Physieran Tells What He Thinks of Some People.

"I wish to gracious some people would learn when they need a dector and when they don't," exclaimed Dr. E-, as he entered his house in a cosey little village in the inter ior of the State of New York, after a tedious ride of many miles. "I have been down among the mountains ty see a man, who the messenger said, was very sick and not likely to live 'till morning, unless he had immediate help; and found him suffering from a rather sharp attack of colic, which his family might have relieved in ten minutes, if they had a grain of sense and two or three simple remedies in the house. But no; they must remain ignorant as pigs, and when the least ache or pain takes them, send for a doctotr whether they ever pay him or not."

"Why, Doctor, what kind of simple remdies, as you call them, do you expect people to keep in the house?" asked his wife, as she peur d him a cup of hot tea.

"In this case," answered the Doctor, "if they had only put a BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER on the man's stomach, he would have been all right in an hour, and saved me a d ear, ride."
