A Curcago dispatch says: son of Edwards Pierrepont stated last Monday, that the Tribune in reference to the scheme for acquiring British Columbia, had penetrated the most important ceit. state secret which had been opened since the rebellion. He ad- Medical College, adds his opinion mitted practically that his father's to that of many others that cigatrip to Alaska was in reference to rette smoking is injurious, be this very thing. As an ex-minis- cause the smoker inhales the ter to the court of St. James he is smoke. He is satisfied that smoke in a position to know whereof he in the process of inhalation comes speaks. He says that in estab- in contact with four times the exlishing the boundary line with tent of mucous membrane that it British Columbia a tremendous does in ordinary smoking, and error was committed. At present bence the absorption of nicotine The Astoria Passenger Line it is impossible to get into Alaska, is excessive. The Doctor remarks where all our fisheries and mining that about all eigarettes manufacindustries are, without going 100 tured in this country are cheap miles through British waters, and vile. The only other route is 100 miles around through the stormy Pacific ocean. He remarks that it is now a state question with both England and America whether the United States shall acquire British Columbia by conquest, or Great Britain lay siege to Alaska. He was entertained by the governor of Vancouver Island, and the chief justice of that island was present. He remarked to lus visitors that the United States had no business in Alaska, since it was only accessible through British waters. The British secured the sea coast as far up as Mount St. Elias, and thence a line was drawn due

Mr. Pierrepont says it is not a 'question of the purchase of British Columbia since Great Britain is too dignified to sell her possessions, and it is a matter of conquest. He refers to the fact that England is watching the isthmus England is watching the isthmus canal project and is ready to snatch the Pacific coast trade. He says war is inevitable, because our interests are identical, and the moment the United States interferes with Great Britain's carrying our products to Europe there will be trouble. A great navy is an absolute necessity to the country. The war is not a matter of the near future, but it will be desirable to the people of this country, At 11 A. He says that England is astonished at the vast industries developing in Alaska; that the territory cost the United States only $7,200,000, and the royalty from the seal in- Together with the Neat Cottage dustries alone is 6 per cent, on the investment. The fisheries there are equal to those of all the rest of the world combined, and this produce, going through British waters, excites great jealousy.

A DISTINGUISHED party of English and Canadians, principally stockholders in the Canadian Pacific railway, are en route to the present western terminus of that road. Among the members of the party are President George Stephens, Vice-Presidents D. McIntire and R. B.
