Clatsop County.

This county has an area of 1400 square miles. Its leading resources are the fisheries, agriculture, timber, coal, and probably iron.

The surface of the country is chiefly mountainous, but many streams flow through, along which are large areas of fine agricultural land.

Even back from the streams, almost everywhere, the soil is excellent and well adapted to cultivation when the ground has been cleared of its dense growth of timber.

Clatsop plains, a strip of land lying along the sea shore which has been settled for thirty-five years, is the largest body of agricultural land in the county.

The soil is light and sandy and produces vegetables, grain and small fruits in abundance.

But little wheat is raised, oats and barley being the principal cereals. Hay is the chief crop, and dairying the leading feature of the farming business.

Two cheese factories on the plains make an article that is celebrated in the market for its excellent quality.

Butter is produced in great quantity and of fine quality. The soil is well adapted to hop culture, though that industry is not yet carried on here.

The same is generally true of the ranches on Nehalem, Lewis and Clarke, Young's, Wallis, and other rivers in the county.

The Nehalem valley is especially a fine grain region. On these streams and in the mountains are large areas of vacant land, covered with timber, still open to settlement.

It requires persistent effort and hard work to clear them and reduce the land to cultivation, but when this is accomplished the settler has a fine and productive home.

Work can always be found by an industrious man to aid in the support of himself and family while he is engaged in clearing his land and securing title to a homestead.

For vegetables, hay and small fruits there is a sure market at high prices.

From end to end the county is covered with a dense growth of magnificent timber, and hundreds of men make money by logging into the streams from the claims of settlers and selling the logs to mill men at Astoria.

Much charcoal and cord wood are also taken from the claims. The timber of which there is the greatest abundance is the Douglas fir, generally known as Oregon pine, some varieties of it making finer ship building material than eastern oak.

The other valuable woods are tide land spruce, used for boxes, ship lining, boat building, and house finishing, hemlock, cedar, larch, alder and maple.

In the Nehalem valley is the largest body of the most desirable timber, and here are offered great inducements for settlers to locate and enjoy the benefits of the railroad soon to be built through that section of the county.

Coal of a superior quality has been discovered in the southern portion of the county, and it is probable that this whole region is underlaid with seams of that valuable material.

In case no desirable coal is discovered near the line of the road, a branch line will undoubtedly be constructed to tap the beds in this locality.—Standard.

SLIGHT ODDS.

A Little Story with a Large Moral—One Man who Knew his Own Business.

"No, my dear," said the venerable keeper of a country store to a timid little girl who had scarcely come up to the level of the counter. "No, my dear, we haven't any red flannel, but we have some first rate New Orleans molasses."

"Softly hinting that she didn't think that would answer the purpose quite as well, the child went her way in search of the article she wanted.

"Have you BENSON'S CAPSINE PLASTER?" asked a gentleman of a certain drug store whose name could be given were it desired.

"My dear sir," replied the gentleman, with a slight show of temper, "I say nothing against those articles, but I am a business man, and always act for precisely what I want, and for nothing else. I may enlighten you, however, when I say that sometimes, for another disease, of which the Capsine has since cured me. I feel all those you mention, with no appreciable benefit. They are inefficient, every one of them, the most exact of the proprietors of some of them being this: that they make plaster with similar sounding names to deceive the unwary into believing they are the same thing. Experience taught me the difference. I'll go to the next man in your line. Good day."

Be on your guard against imitations. The genuine has the word CAPSINE cut clearly in the middle of the plaster. All others are imitations. Senbury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

MOTHERS, READ.

"GENTS"—About nine years ago I had a child two years old and almost dead. The doctor I had attending him could not tell what ailed him. I asked him if he could not think it was worms. He said no. However, this did not satisfy me, as I had conceived in my own mind that the child had a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S CATHARTIC VERMIFUGE. I gave him a teaspoonful in the morning and another at night, and he passed seventy-two worms and was a well child since then. I have never been without it in my family. The health of my children remained so good that I had concluded to write you, with a view to giving you the same, which I have done. I have been suffering with a severe case of Catarrh of the Bladder for many years. I had tried every remedy known to me, but without success. I had a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE, and I took it. I had a severe case of Catarrh of the Bladder, and I had a severe case of Catarrh of the Bladder, and I had a severe case of Catarrh of the Bladder.
