A Little Story with a Large Moral One Man who knew his Own Business.

"No. my dear," said the venerable keeps of a country store to a timid little girl whose head scarcely came up to the level of the "No, my dear, we haven't any red finnel, but we have some first rate New Or-leans molasses," Softly hinting that she didn't think that would answer the purpose quite as well, the child went her way in search of the article she wanted

"Have you BENSON'S CAPCINE PLAS of my old friend, the lumbago, and the Benson's Plaster seems to go to the spot aimost as oon as it touches the skin."

"Not at present." replied the druggist, genially "but, we have lots of plasters just as good. There is Alleock's, the Capsicum and others-won't one of them do as well?" "My dear sir," retorted the gentleman with a slight show of temper, "I say nothing against those articles, but I am a business man, and always ask for precisely what I want, and for nothing else. I may enlighten you, however, when I say that sometime ago, for another disease, of which the Capcine has since cured me. I tried all those you mention. with no approciable benefit. They are ineffithe proprietors of some of them being this : that they make plasters with similar sound ing names to decrive the unwary into believ-ing they are the same thing. Experience taught me the difference. I'll go to the next man in your line. Good day." Bo on your guard against imitations. The genuine has the word CAPCINE out cleanly in the middle of the plaster. All others are Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.
