

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1883

Faith, without works, is dead.

A. G. Allen, of Ft. Stevens advertises a team of horses, a wagon, harness and two seated buggy.

Reports from the two canneries on Gray's Harbor are that the fall run is coming in plentiful, and both establishments are busy.

The criminal record in the police and justice courts of this city has lately been remarkably light. When the cause ceases, so does the effect.

A young man named Turnham, rowed from St. Helens to the Washington Territory side of the Columbia river and back, last Tuesday, in nineteen minutes.

Gustav Hansen goes to San Francisco to-morrow to bring up a large stock of fine jewelry. Anyone wishing to send a special order by him can be accommodated.

A letter from Mr. Paul Schuler, whose address is Portland, Oregon, concerning the cutting of timber on government land, would be of interest to many at present.

Rev. Mr. McLafferty lectures to-night on "Things to be Abominated." This is the first of a series of six popular lectures to be given on successive Sabbath evenings.

The poor little Magnet which passed through so many vicissitudes once more floats the sea, and has been bought by Capt. Whitcomb to make trips between South Bend and Woodard's Landing, Pacific Co.

It is reported that the preliminary survey and final location has been made for, and work has begun on a railroad beginning at Montesano, and ending at South Bend, there to intersect with a road from Chehalis down the Willapa valley to Knappton.

Mr. Shower is teaching the public school at Skipanon, district No. 2; Miss Emma Holden, the school at Jewell, district No. 8; these schools with the one at upper Astoria, and district No. 18, are, we believe, the only ones in the county that are now in session.

The Gen. Miles arrived in from Gray's Harbor yesterday morning. On the 20th she towed in the North Star and the next day towed out the Schroeder and Rebecca, lumber laden for San Francisco. She brought freight and passengers, and starts next Tuesday for Tillamook.

Among those from Clatsop county who propose to go on the Oregon Pioneer's excursion which starts from Portland on the 2nd of October are Mr. and Mrs. A. Van Dusen, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Trullinger, Mr. and Mrs. Job Ross, Mr. Hall, Mr. W. H. Gray, Mr. Philo Callender, Mr. H. B. Parker, Capt. Whitcomb, and Messrs. D. K. and J. F. Warren.

At nine o'clock last evening, the cry of "fire" rang out and by the time the alarm bell was sounding, the three companies were flying down to the dock to find that the China boarding house near Kinney's dock which had had a blaze in it a moment before had been extinguished by a crowd of men who stamped it out. There never was better time made to a fire, but, fortunately, the services of the department were not needed.

Yesterday was a little cooler but yet so oppressive was the east wind and the hot rays of the old copper colored luminary in the sky, that everyone was ready to give his share in the profits of the Astoria railroad for a genuine old-fashioned Oregon mist. This Chinook wind is all right, later on, but in September a breeze from the south is more comforting. However think of those poor fellows in the interior, and be sympathetic.

It seems that a wonderful change has of late taken place with Mt. St. Helens since she has been from sight during the late long smoky period. The snow has entirely disappeared from the north side and partially from the south side of the cone. Thus to the oldest settlers, is something they never witnessed before. By taking observations through a powerful glass, steep precipices and dark chasms can be seen upon the north side, and the mountain seems to have an entire new or changed appearance.—Oregon Mist.

The public school at Upper Astoria began last Monday, and, this term, is in charge of Miss Jennie Anderson. The requirements of district No. 9 has outgrown the accommodations, and a larger schoolhouse, where two teachers could be employed would be in line with the educational interests of the district. Any public school teacher that has more than forty pupils cannot do effective work, and where nearly one hundred pupils are in one room it is a physical impossibility to do them justice.

Frank Fabre's Hotel. Frank Fabre has the finest accommodations for lodgers to be found in Astoria, over his restaurant in Kinsey's building. Everything is neat and clean and the beds are new, soft and comfortable. If you want good board and lodging go to Frank Fabre's.

Boys' clothing at cost at the Occident store.

School Meeting District No. 1.

Pursuant to the published call a special school meeting was held in the old school house on block 74 yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of authorizing the directors to negotiate a loan by issuing bonds in sufficient amount to enable them to complete the new school house now in process of construction; L. Hartwig, in the chair; J. O. Bozorth, secretary. The following resolution was introduced by the secretary and after considerable discussion was passed.

Be it resolved by the legal voters of School District No. One, of Clatsop county, state of Oregon; That the directors of said district be and they are hereby authorized and empowered to negotiate a loan of a sufficient sum of money to pay for the construction of the school building now being constructed by the district, not to exceed the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, including bonds already issued; and to execute, issue and sell the bonds of the district for that purpose—which bonds shall be in such sums or denominations as the directors shall deem most advantageous; shall pledge the faith of the district for their payment, and shall draw interest at such rate and payable at such times as the directors shall deem best; provided the amount of bonds so issued and authorized as above shall not at their par value, exceed in the aggregate the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, and the rate of interest thereon shall not exceed eight per cent. per annum, and the bonds shall be payable in not more than ten years after July 1st 1883. An additional resolution was also adopted, endorsing the action of the board of directors in the issuance of the bonds already issued and in the hands of sundry purchasers.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

Across the River.

The assessment roll of Waiilatpu county for the year 1883 foots up $241,900—$9,000 less than for 1882. The loss was owing to the burning of three canneries since the assessment was made for 1882. Many substantial improvements have been made in the county within the past few months. A large saw-mill has been built at the mouth of the Skamokawa and one or two canneries rebuilt; also, the value of real estate has materially increased, so that the next assessment roll will show a large increase of material wealth.

Waiilatpu is one of the smallest counties in the Territory. The southeastern portion of the county is quite broken and mountainous. At Cathlamet the character of the country begins to change. Toward the west and the north extend long lying hills and bench land, with the Elahomom, Deep, Gray, Crooked and Skamokawa rivers and tributaries extending between them. Along the sides of these streams, where they debouch into the Columbia river, extend low marsh or tide lands, grassy or bare in some spots, but usually covered with spruce and hemlock of inferior growth and more or less scraggy character. Tide water extends from one to five mile up these rivers, and all of them, with the exception of Crooked river, are navigable at high tide the greater part of their distance by boats drawing three feet of water. Proceeding up these rivers, one finds above the lower tide lands rich alluvial bottoms from a quarter of a mile to a mile or more in width. There have been settlements in these valleys for twelve or fifteen years or more. Some of the farms are well improved and very valuable, principally for grass and stock raising, but are excellent for grain and vegetables of all kinds. There is little if any land vacant in any of these valleys, but between the hills and mountains, well up to the sources of these streams some unsurveyed claims are yet to be had. Occasionally good pieces of bench land are to be found here and there adjacent to the streams. The whole face of the uplands, except where cleared, is covered principally with growths of spruce, fir and hemlock timber. Nearly all the choicest and most convenient timber lands have been pre-empted, homesteaded or bought up. The population of the county is about 1,200.

The American flag, that boasted emblem of U. S. liberty, is a humbug in Astoria, and Jeff, of the Chop House, has taken it down in disgust. But all the same he will continue to give the best meals in town, from 5 A. M. to 12 midnight, for 25 cents regardless of cost, as he is determined to be the boss. Try his dinner from 4:30 to 8 P. M., and compare it with one you pay 50 cents for.

Sooner or Later.

While the people of the North Pacific are rejoiced to see railroads built, and welcome all enterprise, this region is peopled by the most energetic and independent of Anglo-Saxons. They know that the overshadowing question, that dwarfs partisan politics, relates to transportation and the assumption of corporations. Thus people will watch, with greatest care, the course of the corporations that are developing their country. They are willing to reward enterprise, but they are certain to demand full value for their money paid. The time is not distant when this question will dominate politics and make and unmake politicians. We have as much to fear from demagogues as from monopoly. It is to be hoped that Mr. Villard and his associates will realize the duty they owe to a generous nation and win the confidence the people wish to give while they sustain the credit of the corporation. If they don't try to pay dividends on water, the people will make no complaint. The Chicago Times asks this question, if it does not use these words: "If the Northern Pacific antagonizes the Central Pacific, how long will the Central people wait before buying it?" Mr. Villard advertised for a "blind pool," and raised the money to buy the Northern Pacific. What is to hinder Huntington, Stanford and Crocker from buying the controlling interest in the Northern Pacific? The Central management can afford to pay immensely for the northern franchise. We must look to the future with apprehension if such a consummation is probable. Again we are met by the startling fact, that the generosity of the government in endowing these corporations with means to build transcontinental roads, has created consolidated wealth that becomes a tyranny. It possesses a power of monopoly dangerous to the nation, and laying tribute upon the world."—Willamette Tribune.

Nasby, whose comical letters to his paper, the Toledo Blade, have convulsed the country with laughter for twenty years, is growing old. In some recently published verses he says:

My hands are weak, my blood runs cold. My eyes are dim, my hair is gray. Caring naught how the time goes by— Played out.

My hand was hot at twenty-five; Then blood and fire were alive; But time its victory hath won,— It's cold and chill at sixty-one— Played out.

The swelling bust, the flashing eye. The ankle trim as it trips by. The witching beauties half concealed. Stir not the blood that's half congealed. Played out.

From habit I sit down to dine— What good to me the mantling wine. With stomach gone, what earthly good The rarest skill or richest food? Played out.

Gold! I might as well have lead; Gold can't restore a nerve that's dead; Millions won't make my step more light, Millions won't give me appetite— Played out.

And so, half dead, I stupid lie, Waiting for t' other half to die, Waiting, my only company That taunting devil, memory— Played out.

ADVICE TO CONSUMPTIVES.

On the appearance of the first symptoms, as general debility, loss of appetite, pallor, chilly sensations, followed by night-sweats and cough, prompt measures of relief should be taken. Consumption is scrofulous disease of the lungs; therefore use the great anti-scrofulous or blood-purifier and strength-restorer, Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Superior to cod liver oil as a nutritive, and unsurpassed as apectorial. For weak lungs spitting of blood, and kindred affections, it has no equal. Sold by druggists. For Dr. Pierce's treatise on Consumption send two stamps. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE DIFFERENCE.

They stood at the bar of justice— Two women with heads bowed down, And one in distress in rustling silk. And one in tattered gown.

One clad in the height of fashion, The other one ragged and torn, The former inspiring sympathy, The latter contempt and scorn.

"And why are they here?" I questioned; "Why are they in such disgrace?" The shrinking form in the tattered gown And that in the silk and lace?"

"They're here," said the grim policeman, And from his visage wore, "For stealing whenever they got a chance. In a fancy dry goods store?"

The one in rags was sentenced To a year's incarceration In the common goal; the one in silk Was "taken on probation."

"Now, why should this be so?" I asked; The answer was terse and brief—"The lady's a kleptomaniac. The one in the rags a thief."
