

C. R. Thompson has opened a law office in the White House, room 6.

Ordinance No. 195 would be a good ordinance to enforce in one or two instances.

H. B. Parker returned yesterday on the Columbia from California after several weeks absence.

A. J. Megler and party arrived home yesterday from a three weeks sojourn at Foley Springs.

It is estimated that there are 300,000 cases of salmon on the river, of which 100,000 are still un-cured.

There is considerable sickness in the city, and doubtless will be till the natural weather returns, and the sun looks white again.

The Northern Pacific Railroad runs across the greatest country in the world from the greatest lake in the world to the greatest ocean in the world.

It is a common occurrence to have a group of four to five compare watches and find no two agreeing as to time. A standard for Astoria time is needed.

What do the people of Astoria think of Villard's answer? Oregonian. Complete answer not yet received. By the way, what do the people of Portland think of the stock market?

John Swinton says that there are 25,000 newspaper men in New York, and that they earn from $2,500 to $600,000 a year. Swinton has some inflated ideas since he struck Gotham.

E. C. Clayton has finished a new map of the city of Astoria which is about as complete a thing of the kind as we have yet been shown. He will send it to San Francisco where it will be lithographed.

Twenty years ago Frank Buckland was ridiculed for predicting that the day would come when salmon would be cheaper than meat in England, but the day has come and his foresight is confirmed.

The Idaho brought down 500 cases salmon from Chilkat to M. J. Kinney. The catch at Cape Fox and Chilkat is reported good; a far greater number of salmon, however, being caught at the former station.

The aged mother of Capt. J. C. Ainsworth died at her home in Oakland, Cal., last Saturday. During a residence of thirty years in Oregon she was a valued member of society and had a wide circle of acquaintances many of whom she survived.

The Portland Commercial Reporter, which dearly loves a joke, talks of the enterprising city where it is published, as being "the Northern Pacific terminal city of the historic Columbia." "Historic Columbia" is good.

An exchange contains an advertisement of a man who will reset old chairs. The writer will gladly re-accept some old bills if tendered fitting reasons therefor. This is about the gentlest form of a dun that we can devise.

The little girl of Mr. Burke, on Main street, died of scarlet fever yesterday morning; the other children of the family are recovering, and in the other families where it has broken out the little sufferers are reported out of danger.

The Twenty-first infantry stationed at Vancouver barracks will remain there, and not exchange posts with the Tenth infantry, stationed on the lakes. The expense of the transfer would be too great to justify the proposed change.

On Salmon river in Northern Idaho, cotton has been grown to perfection this season. Some sugar cane and tobacco will be grown next season, and the year following some darkies will be imported and bananas produced for export to Astoria.

It is thought that should no unforeseen accident occur, the new schoolhouse in district No. 1 will be ready for occupancy about November 1st. It is being well constructed throughout, everything in it being put together by days' work, and when finished will be one of the best built houses in the state.

Yesterday a change came o'er the spirit of our dream by the dying away of the horrid east wind and the floating in of a gray fog, through the rays of which the sun looked red as blood. The air was sultry and the perfumes from the sinks and cess pools through the city were in active and successful competition with the oil works across the peninsula.

A new dress is announced, and those who are posted say it will soon be fashionable. If it won't, then there is no merit in anything being "unique." It is described as being made mostly of silk, of balloon inflation, beginning at the lungs and ending at the knees, and will be known as the Fedora puff, but for goodness' sake don't say we told you.

Among recent transfers of real estate may be mentioned the sale of the Alderbrook property owned by Messrs. Bergman and Berry, and comprising about 150 acres of most desirable property, to Messrs. Bozorth, Johns and Hanthorn. The price paid was in the neighborhood of $20,000.

The enterprising Pomeroy paper after saying all the pretty things that it could find in reference to the Villard party, took a fresh hold and announced the important discovery that the brandy they brought along was fifty-one years old, was French and "fine." They must have given that editor an extra drink.

Col. Parker, of the Walls Walla Statesman, offers to pay ten girls $30 per month to wait. Girls are scarce in Walla Walla as elsewhere. Here they could get $30 a month "to wait" and wouldn't have to wait very long, either. Such begging and praying and coaxing to get a girl for a month! They are sometimes got for life with less trouble.

The Pacific Liberal Association held their annual election at the schoolhouse at Woodard's Landing, Pacific Co., W. T., on the 16th inst., electing following officers for the ensuing year: President Job Bullard; vice president G. Faber; secretary, J. Dressler; treasurer, M. Louderback; librarian, J. Dressler; committee on books, G. Faber, Mrs. Sevinton and H. Hanson.

The Oregonian throws a bombshell into the municipal camp by publishing an alleged agreement whereby Dr. Chapman in consideration of solid support and gold coin did on the 16th of May 1882, agree to be elected mayor, to nominate Tom Connell for chief of police and L. Besser for street superintendent of the city of Portland. The next thing will be something else.

Special Treasury Agent Evans has returned to San Francisco from Washington Territory, where he has been investigating the reports as to the smuggling of Chinese from British Columbia. He states that he has given much time to the investigation, and that he has failed to find evidence that such smuggling is going on. The employers of labor in the territory, he states, characterize the story as a joke.

Sometime ago we had a little item in reference to Robt. Carruther's house being the first brick residence in Astoria, and being on the site of the first settlement on the northwest coast. The item has been copied in such an extensive manner that the house in question bids fair to be celebrated. The last paper we saw it in was the Boston Herald, and it is presumably still on its travels. Mr. Carruthers will have his house ready for occupancy about November 1st.

The demand for Columbia-river salmon has been fairly active, without any special features being exhibited, except in the country districts, where at the present season of the year there is a large consumption. The consequence has been that stocks are pretty well run out—so much so that a question may arise as to whether they will be sufficient to cope with the demand pending the new arrivals, which are now on the way and may be expected in the course of a week or two.—Liverpool correspondence London Grocer.

The number of houses now building in Astoria is greater this season than at any time in the city's history. From Uniontown to upper Astoria, and from the river as far south as the line of open streets extends can be found new stores, and residences in process of construction, and lots being graded and put in shape for building "as soon as the lumber can be got."

For pure picturesqueness and artistic beauty of outline, we believe Cass street from Squemoqua south has rarely been equalled and certainly has never been excelled.

The Chasco is at Kinney's dock to load salmon; the Idaho arrived in yesterday from the far north with a crowd of returning Alaska excursionists, salmon, skins, etc. The State of California arrived down in the afternoon and after taking on several thousand cases salmon, and about 300 sacks Shoalwater Bay oysters, dropped down to Bakers Bay. She will go to sea this morning. The Columbia arrived in at 8:30 a. m., with the usual San Francisco freight and passenger list. The Gen. Miles took on freight all day yesterday, and is off for Tillamook this morning.

A Town Clock.

From the tower of the new public school building, over which on gala days floats the stars and stripes, can be had one of the finest views in this section of country. Few places can offer a greater variety of scene, and among the possibilities of future seasons will be a good glass to be placed there. There is, however, something else that should be in the new schoolhouse tower, and that is a large clock, with four dial faces and a bell to strike the hours. A town clock is something that Astoria needs, if for nothing else than as a matter of convenience, and now that there is a large building, prominently located and with a proper receptacle for it a large clock with illuminated dials by night would be in order. Let us have a town clock, its utility is plain.

Astoria merchants are already, it is said, ordering goods in large quantities from eastern dealers and manufacturers. Already, also, several new enterprises are in contemplation, and Astoria expects a large addition to her business interests, resulting in a competition which, it is to be hoped, will redound to the general welfare of that live little community.—S. P. California Grocer and Cannery.

Reports are still adverse to any lively or heavy operations on the Sacramento river, and it is generally said that the falling off in the pack will amount to fully 50 per cent. Thirty cents is still the ruling price for raw fish to fishermen. Two canneries at Martinez remain closed, as does Bradforth's cannery at Chipp's island. The Central Pacific Railroad is now taking the canned salmon from the cannery wharves on the Sacramento river for eastern shipment at $1.25. Formerly canners were forced to send their products to San Francisco or Sacramento at extra expense, the above rate being charged by the railroad company from those points. This results in saving to canners from $10 to $11 per carload. A report was made at the recent meeting of the Fish Commissioners at Sacramento, to enforce the law prohibiting fishing during the month of August. The arrest of twenty-seven offenders was reported, of whom twenty-five were convicted, while two were still under bonds. Six more arrests were reported, of whom three were convicted. The patrol instituted proved very efficient, and the convictions following these arrests will probably prove a salutary influence.—Cal. Grocer and Cannery.
