

The Daily Astorian. ASTORIA, OREGON: FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1884

Result of the Conference.

The railroad manager at their San Francisco meeting last Wednesday practically closed their labors by adoption of an agreement, the substance of which is as follows. Portland and San Francisco are to be common points, taking the same rates to and from the east. The Northern Pacific is to make the same through rates to San Francisco via Portland that the Northern Pacific makes to Portland direct. All lines are to maintain the present regular rates, except as modifications may hereafter be mutually agreed upon.

The Chronicle, in an editorial drawing attention to the exorbitant local rates established by the Northern Pacific, says: "What Villard designs to do for California has also become apparent by his offer to the Central Pacific to pool the rates on through freight, he taking the lion's share of the business, while consenting that they shall remain at their present high figures."

Very justly comments the Times-Mountaineer when it says, while we rejoice with others in the completion of the North Pacific, and give all merited praise to Mr. Villard, we cannot forget that while the government has been extremely liberal in giving to all railroads large grants as an inducement to further the enterprise, it has been extremely negligent in appropriating sums for aiding the improvements of river and harbors.

Wall Street Notes.

VILLARD stocks opened a fraction lower last Wednesday, then advanced 1/4 to 1 1/2, the latter for Oregon and Transcontinental. Northern Pacific preferred opened at 63 1/2, against 62 1/2. At the close last night fell off and then rose to 63 1/2. Common opened at 35 1/2, advanced 1/2 and sold down to 33 1/2, and called 33 1/2.

Villard reached New York last Wednesday afternoon, and a meeting of directors will be held "as soon as a quorum can be procured," which, under the circumstances, will not be a work of surpassing difficulty. It is confidently asserted that Villard will be re-elected.
