

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1883

PROVINCETOWN, Massachusetts, has hauled in about 10,000,000 pounds of codfish this year.

SUNSET COX recently said in an interview with a press representative: "You might as well expect to run a powder mill in hell as an honest government with an overflowing treasury."

ARTICLES of incorporation of the United States Central Railroad with a capital of $75,000,000 have been filed in Denver, Colorado. The road will run from Denver to San Francisco, and when completed will be the shortest and easiest grade between the two cities.

THE Helena, (Mont.) Herald claims for its place that "it is the richest city in the country in proportion to the population. There are fifty men whose incomes are above $10,000 each, and quite a number of these enjoy annual receipts of $100,000. This, for a population of 7,500, is certainly a comfortable showing."

THE New York Herald thinks that Mexico is just about reaching that stage of political progress which our country attained when articles of confederation were framed under which we waged the war of independence. Her greatest need is the same with which heaven supplied our country during the period in which our constitution was adopted and the present federal government organized. A statesman with the faculty of Hamilton or Gallatin would be worth more to Mexico to-day than all her generals.

THE report of the Commissioner of Pensions shows that there were 303,658 pensioners on the roll at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1883. During the year the names of 38,162 new pensioners were added and the names of 796 whose pensions had been dropped previously were restored to the roll, making 38,958 pensions added an excess of 10,645 over the preceding year. The average annual value of each pension was $106.18, and the aggregate annual value of all pensions was $32,245,192, an increase of $2,904,090. The amount paid for pensions was $60,064,009, exceeding their annual value by several million dollars. The bulk of this excess was on account of arrears of pensions covering the period prior to the allowance of claims.

An important chapter in the constitutional history of Norway has been opened. The whole of the members of the Norwegian ministry have been impeached by the lower house of the national assembly before the Rigsret or Supreme Tribunal of the realm, and the trials open to-day with the case of Mr. Selmer, the prime minister. The ministers are charged with acting contrary to the interests of the country in having advised the king to refuse his sanction to the bill which has been carried by three successful stormings for the admittance of ministers to seats in the national assembly, to a bill involving a question of supply, and to a bill empowering the storting to elect two additional members on the central committee of government railways. Some days ago the plea set up by the council for the accused ministers, declaring some of the members of the court disqualified to sit as judges, was rejected and the court had declared all its members competent to sit. As each of the eleven ministers will be tried separately, it is not likely that any result will be made known for another three or four months.

THE postmaster-general's order forbidding delivery of mail to the New Orleans National bank because it was the agent of the Louisiana Lottery company is likely to bring a good deal of attention to the most shameful condition of things in a certain way to be found in any state. The bank has got the New Orleans postmaster enjoined from obeying the order, and, if the suit is properly defended, a judicial decision will be reached upon some important points. The bank suit is in fact brought by the lottery company, and should finally test the question as to whether that concern must be recognized as a legitimate enterprise. The company was got up at the close of the war, became rich and powerful, and in 1879 had its charter incorporated in the constitution. It silences criticism by constant gifts to charities, bribes to silence half the newspapers in the country with high-priced advertising, and prevents official interference at home by maintaining a dictatorship in state politics. It has made and unmade governors and judges, and elected legislatures, and there are open charges that the federal judges there dare not decide against it in the present suit.
