Around the City.
 The A. B. Field crossed on her way to Tillamook yesterday.
 Reserved seats for the Jay Bird troupe at the New York Novelty store.
 In a short time Cedar street will be one of the prettiest thoroughfares in the city.
 The Oregon board of pilot commissioners will meet next Tuesday in Portland.
 Among other enterprises that are being talked of, a seaman's home is one of the latest.
 The Chinamen have struck a bonanza in the charred timber at the site of the Clatsop mill.
 If the State gets down from Portland to-day there will probably be a marriage in Astoria this evening.
 The present weather is a thing of beauty while it lasts, and we are confident it will be a joy forever.
 Receipts of salmon at San Francisco from April 1st to November 1st, 1882, 292,153.
 Chase, May is removing his stock to the store formerly occupied by A. M. Johnson & Co., and will be ready for business next week.
 The new pilot schooner City of Napa, fourteen days from San Francisco, arrived in yesterday afternoon, and came to anchor below.
 The Miles began running yesterday between Ilwaco and Astoria, and will continue on that route till further arrangements are made.
 The Fleetwood which laid over one trip to put in a new propeller arrived down yesterday afternoon in good time. The new propeller works well.
 In the police court yesterday afternoon, in the case wherein W. Erickson was charged with smoking opium, the defendant was fined five dollars. In the case of J. M. Cook, charged with keeping open a house for the purpose of smoking opium, the defendant was dismissed.

ALDERBROOK PROPERTY.—The sale of Alderbrook property at E. C. Holden's this afternoon is deserving of more than passing notice. Situated as Astoria is, it is the natural base of the timber trade, and saving, to invest their earnings in a manner that will bring them an assured benefit. To anyone who has a little money to spare, the sale this afternoon affords a most desirable opportunity. The constantly increasing growth of the city, the new enterprises in contemplation, determines a purchase of real estate of the nature offered as a good investment.

WOOD BUSINESS.—The increasing population of Astoria occasions increasing demands in every line of trade. In no way is this more apparent than in the augmentation of the wood business. This season, it is estimated, that there are 300 men engaged in the business of supplying wood to Astoria. It consists principally of spruce timbers, vine maple, cedar and fir, and is estimated that Gray's River, Deep River, Lewis and Clarke's, Knappa and elsewhere, principally from the Washington Territory side. It is a hard life, and one engaged in it will earn what they make at it.

NEW COUNTY SEAT.—Word comes that the bill has passed the Washington Territory legislature transferring the county seat of Wahkiakum from Cathlamet to Skamokawa. This will be a big benefit to our Wahkiakum county neighbors. The greater part of the population of that county will find it much more convenient to go to Skamokawa than the present county seat to transact their business. Information is also furnished that Muckle Bros., of St. Helena have bought the mill site just below Montgomery's mill at Skamokawa, paying $1,000 therefor, and they intend putting up a saw mill next season. Lots are already selling for $100 apiece in the neighborhood.

A MERITED COMPLIMENT.—Capt. Palmer of the ship Balabara, reports to the Commercial Herald that one of his sailors named Robert Ray, while lying at Astoria, was taken ill and was removed to St. Mary's hospital, where he shortly after died, owing to the serious nature of his illness. The captain says the hospital is one of the finest he has seen for years; that one might travel for thousands of miles and find one so complete in all its departments, so carefully and satisfactorily kept, and so pleasant for patients. He speaks highly of the sisters who have charge of it, and states that charges are very reasonable, and that it is a pity ship masters are not generally aware of the many excellencies of the Astoria hospital.

A Portland Justice Court.
 Rumors were afloat yesterday to the effect that an encounter had taken place on Saturday out at Kegan's court, commonly known as the "Court of Death," in which Aleck and Jack Keegan engaged in a life-or-death struggle, and the judge came out first best. Inquiry failed to develop the minutiae of the struggle, but sufficient information was gained to warrant public mention of the fact, to show how a certain one of the justices' courts is now run in this city and by what class of dispensers.

Aleck and Jack have been at sword's points for a week past, and on Saturday the culmination of their ill-feeling was reached in a personal encounter in the saloon adjoining the tribunal of justice. It was nip and tuck for a while, both being powerful men and evenly matched as to size and strength, but the judge finding his wind about to fall him and a fair prospect of Jack's mopping the walk with his legal carous, whipped out a knife and inflicted upon his victorious brother three or four stabs, that sent him to grass, and may cost him his life. Jack was immediately conveyed to his room and a physician summoned, who sewed up his wounds and carefully attended him during the entire day. Strenuous efforts have been made to suppress the transaction, but without avail.—News.

DEEP RIVER DISTRICT.
 From An Occasional Reporter.
 ENTIRE ASTORIAN:
 Deep River is a tributary to the Columbia and from Stark's point to Shaw's ranch all the vessels in existence could find a snug and safe refuge on its deep, tranquil and placid waters.
 The present banishes the past so quickly on this golden Pacific slope that to the younger generation of to-day it already seems a very dreary and distant heroic past.
 There are about forty families of Hingham Finns located in the Deep River, Salmon creek and tributary country. They are industrious and energetic and just the right class of settlers for a new country as they can grow rich and get fat on trout, salmon, ducks of all kinds, pheasants and the fat of the land. Messrs. Shaw, Suis, Perilla and Davis assist Mr. Shaw, Mr. Lewis Henry, are doing all they can do to promote education in the district. They have three good school houses.
 It would be desirable to keep these schools open as long as possible. With the limited means derivable from the school fund it is impossible for the directors to do justice to their children unless they solicit outside aid.
 The whistle of the Coyote will soon be supplemented by another larger whistle from the Stark, located in the Deep River, on the establishment of Mr. Jenkins. The owner of the Coyote will be the owner of this larger steamer, which will do much to develop the hidden and untold resources of this new section of country. Every new industry and enterprise should be encouraged. To new and intending settlers who offer such inducements as this section of country, thousands upon thousands of acres of land await the advent of the fortunate settler who wishes to create a home. This might well be termed "Poor Man's Paradise." The new settler on the lookout for a home may rest assured of one thing that will be aided and not floored in his endeavors to make a home in this section of country. In a few years from now thousands of dollars will be given for land that can now be had for the cost of a dime.

Fashion Notes.
 Very long overskirts are worn with plain skirts.
 Sapphires are the fashionable stones for engagement rings.
 Flush will be much used for children's milks and wraps.
 Plaids, blocks, checks and stripes are featured in fall fabrics.
 The newest plaid costumes have the material cut on the bias.
 Imported hats and bonnets are noticeably larger than those of last fall.
 Coques or large collars are worn on tight walking jackets by young ladies.
 A singular fancy is to combine ashes of roses with gold color.
 A polonaise for winter wear will have a full epaulette to wear with a belt.
 New shoulder effects are cut to produce a full epaulette effect on the shoulders.
 There is a tendency toward the revival of colored wraps for occasions of high ceremony.
 Coffee-tinted lace is the latest. The ladies wear it to the theater; it matches their escorts' breast.
 Wide waisted heads are much used in trimming fall suits. Sometimes a line of fine gold soutache edges the wide brim, but this is only for home wear.
 Just now it is said to be a craze among fashionable ladies for worn valuable coats, paying for their sum varying from $5,000 to $10,000. The pocket and dade must go.
 For dressy winter evening toilets, wide waisted heads are worn with necks and nets, with satin, velvet, chenille and feather embroideries, the figures very solid while the grounds are very open.
 Gathered sleeves are becoming eccentric, and modistes are not satisfied with putting them very high on the shoulder, but even those who are usually chary of running white extremes, are setting still more in vogue to make a blouse in this section of country. In a few years from now thousands of dollars will be given for land that can now be had for the cost of a dime.

Removal.
 The Astoria Passenger Line
 WILL AFTER THIS DATE HAVE ITS HEADQUARTERS at its Stables next to J. H. Franklin's, two doors below The Astorian office. First-class Livery service. Carts and horse for hire. Its greater moved on "That," replied the elderly lady, critically, "was meant, I should say, to represent crushed raspberry upon which the cream and saffron."
 The fashionable modistes who remained late in Paris in search of novelties are displaying costumes made entirely of velvet, or else of velvet in combination with Sicelias, Regalons, Victorians, or other soft ruffled silk. In these late importations plain velvet has the preference to the large-figured broadens, which are mostly used for wraps or for the fronts of dinner dresses when figured velvet is chosen. It is chiefly in very small designs.
