ASTORIA, OREGON: SATURDAYDECEMBER 1, 1883

ISSUED EVERY MORNING

Mr. and Mrs. Gorman have lost their little four-year-old daughter, Lottie, who died of scarlet fever last Wednesday night. This is the second death from that scourge that has afflicted the family in the last month.

Each number of the West Shore is an improvement upon its predecessors and a pleasant surprise to the subscribers. "Progress" is the publisher's watch-word and perfection his aim. With its January number the journal enters its tenth Mrs. A. J. Megler and Byron Kimball, of year, and will then appear in an entirely new dress of type, be generally remod-eled and have eight pages added to its most pleasant excursion with the pionlishment, it is ten to one that the girls would leave after the first week and look for situations readily offered them in private families. At present the girl is the "boss" and doesn't propose to have any one forget it.

WOULDN'T HAVE IT .- Many are the tales told of wandering Webfeet "back in the states" on the occasion of the late excursion. Capt. West arrived back from New York last Thursday. Of him it is told while standing on the corner of Canal and Broadway streets one after-Canal and Broadway streets one afternoon, a spruce young man came briskly up, and holding out his hand, said: "Why, Mr. West, how do you do? I am glad to have met you; I want you to do me a fovor. I want to send a cane out to my father; you know my father, W. S. Ladd.
Come on; my room is just above here.
How glad I am to have an opportunity of sending the old gentleman a cane." Mr.
West took in the tout ensemble of the individual who was "so glad," etc., and said: "Yes, I know Ladd, but I don't know you, and I believe, young man, you are lying." The young man moved on,
but he didn't seem so glad.

The soft clayey soil is so sticky as to render progress almost is so sticky as to render progress almost impossible, and where one loaded team has passed, the water from above makes such a mixture as to render it almost impossible to pull an empty wagon.

The card of the evening is dedicated "To our Webfoot Friends from Oregon, by friends of Abercorn, which is in Kanady." Following is the order of dances which, it will be seen, was got up with yre tall reference to the greater. White Help.—It is reported that the superintendent of the Knappton Packing Company intends to do away with Chinese help next season, and employ girls to do a part of the work now done by Chinamen. There are a good many kinds of work in a cannery that could be done by white labor, and on the other hand there are a good many objections to the move. Prominent among them is the difficulty in getting girls to work, not so much in inducing them to work, either as the scarcity of the material itself. Girls are in demand for housework, and if a cannery superintendent were to get twenty-five or thirty girls to take the Chinamen's places in his establishment, it is ten to one that the girls would leave after the first week and look.
