SLIGHT ODDS.

A Little Story with a Large Moral One Man who Knew his Own Business.

"No. my dear," said the venerable keeper of a country store to a timid little girl whose hend scarcely came up to the level of the unter. "No, my dear, we haven't any red finned, but we have some first rate New Orleans molasses." Softly hinting that she didn't think that would answer the purpose quite as well, the child-went her way in search of the article she wanted. "Have you BENSON'S CAPCINE PLAS

TERS?" asked a centleman of a certain druggist whose name could be given were it de sired. "I am troubled just now with a touch of my old friend, the lumbago, and the Benson's Pluster seems to go to the Spot almost a oon as it touches the skin."

"Not at present." replied the druggist, gen inlly "but, we have lots of plasters just a good. There is Allcock's, the Capsicum and others-won't one of them do as well?"
"My dear sir," retorted the gentleman with a slight show of temper, "I may nothing against those articles, but I am a business man, and always ask for precisely what I want, and for nothing clse. I may enlighten ou, however, when I say that sometime ago, or another disease, of which the Capeine has since cured me, I tried all these you mention with no appreciable benefit. They are inefficient, every one of them, the meanest act of the proprietors of some of them being this that they make plasters with similar sound ing names to decrive the unwary into believ-ing they are the same thing. Experience taught me the difference. I'll go to the next man in your line. Good day."

Be on your guard against imitations. The contine has the word CAPCINE out cleanly in the middle of the plaster. All others are Scabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.
