Around the City.

The State arrived down and left out in good time yesterday.
 How doubtfully forebore an election poster looks this is after election.
 A harbor master is one of the city officers unfiled. It will not long lack an incumbent.
 The P. Gearhart farm on Clatsop plains will be sold on the premises next Thursday.
 At eleven o'clock this morning E. C. Holden will sell at his auction rooms eleven lots in Olney's Astoria.
 The Glenopsis, Virgo and Lolo Eric sailed for England yesterday. The schooner Copville crossed out bound for S. F.
 The Kilochan cleared yesterday for Liverpool. She takes 15,000 bbls. flour, 10,700 bush wheat and 4,800 cases salmon. Her cargo is worth $103,755.
 The stockholders of the Scandinavian Packing company will hold their annual meeting at the company's office at nine o'clock this morning.
 The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Columbia Canning Company which is advertised for the 17th, will be held on the day following, the 17th, at the same time and place.
 The Y. M. C. A. dinner yesterday was an artistic, culinary, and financial success. Not all the good things were eaten, and there will be a bounteous lunch to-day from 11:30 A. M. to 2:30 P. M., for which twenty-five cents will be charged.
 After the dinner at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday, the tables were cleared away, and a pleasant social reunion was had by the members and their friends; the rooms were well filled; the ice cream was excellent; the musical entertainment was all that could be desired, and everyone went away well pleased.
 The sixtieth birthday of Mrs. Strawinski, who is at present visiting her daughter, Mrs. M. C. Crosby, was the occasion yesterday of a pleasant surprise to that lady by the arrival of a large party of ladies and gentlemen who came to congratulate her. She was the recipient of several handsome presents, and a shower of good wishes. A handsome repast was served and the occasion was in every way one of pleasant remembrance.

THE RESULT OF YESTERDAY'S ELECTION.

J. W. HUME ELECTED MAYOR.
A. A. Cleveland Elected Councilman in the First Ward—Thos. Dealy Councilman in the Second Ward.
 No better weather could be presented for outside button-holing than yesterday afforded. The curling mists from the river floated to the north and by nine o'clock the sun was shining bright and warm as in September. By nine o'clock there was also some bright and warm shining around the polling places, and at that hour the polls were opened and the work of registering voters began. In the first ward M. C. Crosby, G. W. Ross and J. C. Trullinger were judges; E. C. Norris and R. V. Monteith officiated as clerks. In the second ward W. B. Headington, Robt. Castroland, J. J. W. Welch were judges, Doc. O'Brien and C. W. Shively acted as clerks. B. R. Franklin cast the first vote in the first ward; O. Sovey cast the first vote in the second ward.
 Hacks profusely covered with banners and lunning tore up and down the streets, and tickets and posters were as thick as flies in a sugar barrel. Groups of men stood on every corner discussing, comparing and inquiring; some seemed desirous of knowing if any "snags" was going, and evinced a willingness to have their curiosity satisfied on that point before the day was over. Many there were found to prophesy that at the next municipal election in Astoria ladies would have the privilege of the ballot; if they had that right yesterday it is very probable that the bright sunshine would have contributed to the feminine vote which would have been undoubtedly cast.
 At the polls, though the usual amount of bantering and button-holing went on, there was little animosity, both sides "getting in the work" by means of men with bunches of tickets at some distance from the polls, the great majority of voters walking straight up and deposing their ballot as though it were a religious duty.
 The usual routine of election day was enlivened by two pictorial illustrations done in rapid succession, the truth or falsity of the assertion having been a much mooted topic during the last week.
 At two o'clock there were 129 votes cast in the Second Ward and 329 in the First. The glorious afternoon had brought out a large number to whom the occasion was a sort of novelty, and besides, there had been more people seen on the streets at this season of the year. Some few there were whose unsteady gait showed that the arduous duties of election day had weighed upon their frames, and as the afternoon wore on an occasional speech by an impromptu orator here and there added to the fun and merriment of the day.
 About three o'clock James Turk, an alleged candidate for the mayoralty, was arrested by Officer Hendley on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was promptly held out by George Hill, who put up $20 for his appearance this afternoon in the police court.
 At six o'clock the polls closed and the work of counting the votes began. Following is the result:

FIRST WARD—FOR MAYOR.

J. W. Hume	319
D. Morgan, Jr.	235
Hume's majority	81

SECOND WARD.

J. W. Hume	150
D. Morgan, Jr.	80
Scattering	4
Hume's majority	46
Total vote for Hume	449
Total vote for Morgan	315
Hume's plurality	134

The vote for council stood as follows:

FIRST WARD.

A. A. Cleveland	294
L. Bergman	247
Cleveland's majority	47

SECOND WARD.

Thos. Dealy	127
T. A. Orcutt	74
Dealy's majority	53

The vote of the first ward was 554; the vote of the second ward was 214; the vote of both wards aggregated 768.
 At the last municipal election in this city, held Dec. 13, 1881, the vote of the first ward for mayor was 335; of the second ward, 175; total, 510, showing an increase in the vote of 258.
 Immediately upon the announcement of the vote the successful candidates were loudly cheered, and hearty congratulations and hand-shakings were in order. It was a closely contested fight, and the most interesting municipal election ever held in this city.

THE PROCESSION MOVES AT TWO.

Yesterday W. G. Ross and Charley Moffitt made an agreement as follows, viz., namely, to wit: If D. Morgan Jr., was elected, the said Ross was to wheel the said Moffitt from THE ASTORIAN office down Squemoqua to Olney, down Olney to Chenamus, up Chenamus to Cass, up Cass to the point of departure. If J. W. Hume was elected, Moffitt was to perform the same kindly office for Ross. The band has been engaged, and a special detail of police provided to keep the road clear. The procession moves at two o'clock this afternoon, and it is Ross that gets the free ride.

ASTORIA'S GROWTH.

The figures of yesterday's election are very eloquent in their meaning. It is not the intent however at this writing to do otherwise than call attention to the increase in the number of votes cast. It will be noticed that the votes cast in the first ward aggregate considerable more than the entire vote of the city at the last election for mayor, and comparing the total vote indicates considerable growth. Then there were 335 votes cast in the first ward; yesterday there were 554, an increase of 65 per cent; in the second ward there is an increase from 175 to 214, or 22.3 per cent. The percentage of increase on the city vote is over 50 per cent.

THE "OLDEST SETTLER" AGAIN.

We had supposed that all the counties were heard from, and that the "oldest settler" business had been settled. Now comes Dr. W. C. McKay, who being sworn deposes and says: "Mr. Sweet claims this honor for Mr. Garmier. It is all a mistake. I know of one G. B. Gagnon, an older settler. I recollect the arrival of the two above mentioned men at Vancouver, when I was a wee chink of a boy (in the Missouri would express it). Mr. Gagnon was an educated Canadian, and there was more attention paid him than others. Gagnon was called one of the best men in the employ—finest physique and trusty. But Marion county does claim the oldest pioneer in the country in the person of Andre Loehapell, living at St. Louis, Marion county. He was one of the blacksmiths at Vancouver as far back as I can recollect."

THE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.

In writing of the new school house in District No. 1 yesterday, no mention was made of the cost of the completed structure. The original estimate was about $25,000. At the time the plans were drawn the lowest responsible bid was $28,497, and it was then decided to do it by day's work. L. Hartwig directing and superintending the work. Several important changes were found necessary in the plan, notably the arrangement of the stairs. As they are now built a safe exit is at all times assured, and in case of an alarm of any kind no danger of a panic need be apprehended. The water closets also, which, according to the original plan, were located in the basement, have, in accordance with sanitary suggestions, been built at some distance from the main structure. Other changes were also considered necessary, and while the original cost of the building is increased, yet it is the belief of the directors that it will be ultimately found the wisest economy to complete the building as it now stands. The entire cost of the building, furnished and ready for occupancy, is estimated at $38,000. It has been suggested that a stone wall, three feet wide at the base and two feet wide at the top, on both the Court and Benton street sides, level with the school site, would be in keeping with the rest of the structure. The cost of such a wall would be about $1800. The increased expense is a question for the taxpayers of the district to consider.

Social To-Night.

The first social of the reorganized Social Club will be held at Pithian Castle this evening, the grand march to be played at nine o'clock. None will be admitted except members of the association and the ladies they bring with them. Members can procure certificates by applying to C. W. Stone.

THE DAY'S DOINGS.

The Tales the Telegraph Told Yesterday.
 One thousand and twenty bills were introduced in the House of Representatives last Monday and Tuesday.—The Manifestos are still threatening secession from the Dominion.—In the House, last Tuesday, Congressman George introduced a bill framed and forwarded by the Astoria Chamber of Commerce praying for the forfeiture of the Astoria land grant.—Ex-Secretary Schurz has retired from the editorship of the New York Post.—Bud Thompson shot and killed Frank Morgan at Prineville last Saturday.—In a crush for aims at Moscow, Russia, several were squeezed to death.—Farnell's Dublin banquet on the 11th was a success. He commended Irishmen to be patient.—The freedom of San Francisco has been extended to Gen. Hancock, Robt. Carruthers, and the rock, who arrived there last night.—San Francisco's Merchants' Exchange report three schooners lost on the 11th. The Kille Stevens at Albion, the Ides and Florence at Kough and Headly Mendocino and the W. H. Hardy at San Francisco. Captain Lawrence and the mate of the last named, in their efforts to get ashore were drowned.—Four inches of snow in northern Idaho alarms the superstitious inhabitants.—The secretary of the interior is "greatly amused" by the receipt of letters asking for information relative to the Texas Pacific land grant.—War is still threatened between France and China.—The Canadian Pacific engineers are on a strike.—The new McManville bank opened for business last Monday.

Narrow Escape of Casper Baites From Injury and Possible Drowning.

Every Astorian knows Casper Baites, who though totally blind has for years permeated our streets with no other aid than that of his walking cane. If any obstructions are placed in his way, he can apprise him of the fact, but he justly complains that sometimes planking is removed from the sidewalk and no temporary barrier erected to prevent a blind man from falling in, even in the day time. Yesterday the old gentleman was sending his way to the polls in the Astorian in hopes that when any one has occasion to move sidewalk planking they will remember there may possibly be a blind man around.

Assault and Battery.

"You are certain that you saw the prisoner strike this man?" asked the judge of a witness who was testifying in an assault and battery case.
 "Yes, Your Honor, I am certain," replied the witness.
 "And you know what he struck him for?" continued the interested magistrate, leaning forward, expecting to hear some startling testimony.
 "Well, yes; I believe he first struck him for $10!"

ADVICE BY A JOLLY SMOKER.

Cheap Cigars Condemned—When To Indulge and When to Abstain.
 "When I first began to smoke," said the Old Smoker, "you could buy cigars for two cents apiece, and they were scented with nutmeg and cinnamon. There's no good reason why a good cigar shouldn't be sold for ten cents, but nowadays you have got to pay at least twice that amount for anything of the finest flavor."
 "I like a good black cigar," said a young smoker, "and you can buy 'em for ten cents."
 "Take my advice, young man," said the Old Smoker, "never smoke a cheap black cigar of the kind you name; the color is not natural to the tobacco and is produced by dipping the leaves in a chemical preparation. All large cigar houses, manufacturers I mean, employ chemists, and they doctor the tobacco used. When I hear of a smoker having a cancer on the lip caused by smoking, I make up my mind that he has been using chemically prepared tobacco."
 "I generally go for a cigar that has small yellow spots on the wrapper," remarked a genius fresh from Salina. "And you get sold nine times out of ten," said the old man. "Those spots are produced by acid, and are not the result of age, as most people imagine. I see that you are a young man who needs advice; let me give you a little. Never smoke a cigar, at least make a practice of smoking, before you have one good square meal in your interior. Smoking on an empty stomach is very hard on the nerves, and you can't do that sort of thing long without running the risk of suffering from indigestion. Discontinue smoking on an empty stomach often ends in a sort of St. Vitus's dance, and is apt to injure the optic nerves. You know cases of blindness caused by indiscreet indulgence in smoking. Never smoke the butt of a cigar you have laid aside. The end is clogged with nicotine, and the smoking of stumps may deposit the poison on the lip or tongue."
 "I notice sometimes that after smoking a great deal I have a dull pain in the vicinity of the heart," said the young smoker.
 "When you feel that pain, stop. That pain is an evidence that you are troubled with 'nicotine poisoning,' as the doctors call it. Indulge in moderate quantities is an antidote."

HOT WATER FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A Lunch Friend Who Went Just a Trifle Too Far.

It was at the Occident after the doors were opened last evening that he followed a number of men in, and gazing at the bartender in a wistful sort of manner, gently edged his way to the free lunch counter. That he had seen free lunches before cannot be doubted, but the systematic manner in which he worked along the table from the cheese bowl to the pickle dish. The young men left the place and also left the lunch fiend at work. Just as he gazed at him fiercely as he wiped up the bar, and muttered something about "baste." It made no impression. Baked beans followed cabbage, and Bologna sandwiches followed the baked beans. As the once heaped-up table was gradually relieved of its burden the bartender could stand it no longer.
 "Did you say ale?" he inquired.
 "No, not ale, but if you can accommodate me with a glass of hot water for my dyspepsia you will confer a favor, for cold liquors never did agree with me. One minute and eight seconds after the fiend picked himself from the sidewalk and, quietly crossing his swollen eye, murmured: "The dyspepsia racket is flaring; hot water ain't no good without liquoring."
