THE tea question has suddenly come to the front in the ways and not, should not, shall not and does not want to be a presidential candimeans committee of the house of representatives at Washington. We date, and that is now definitely set are glad of this, because it is of far tled. Tom will soon return to this more importance in many ways than coast. His mission is accomplished. the tariff. It is something that we can all understand, while nobody, even of those who talk and write the most about it, understands the tariff. The tea act of last March, imperfect as it was, has had the effect of drivingout of the market millions and millions of pounds of a viciously adulterated article. The proposition now before congress is to extend its scope and protect the teapot against few days ago, was famous on the New the insidious assaults of the unscrup- York Sun as a condenser. THE good state of Kentucky is rapidly coming to the front. She has given us the speaker of the house of representatives and a long line of state men who are making a broad and deep mark upon American statesmanship. The versatile Watterson covers the whole continent. The renowned Book is the terror of the senate. Jos. Blackburn throws a shadow as long and broad as the Bocky Mountains. The Kentucky maidens, too, are taking the leader ship among all their fair sisters of the Union. A few evenings ago one of the bounding daughters of the Blue Grass region beard that an unga'lant masculine biped had cruelly slandered her. Taking down her stout hickory stick, she sought him out in the scenes of his revelry and taught him a lesson which his aching limbs will 'not soon forget. Blue Grass buttermilk may yet rule the

WILL CARLETON'S first poem, "Betsy and I Are Out," got into the waste basket of the Toledo Blade, to which paper it was originally sent, but it was afterward fished out and published one day when there happened to be a scarcity of "copy." This ought to teach all amateur poets not to be discouraged if their first efforts find their way to the rag-man.
