

The Daily Astorian. ASTORIA, OREGON: FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 1884. CLATSOP COUNTY REPRESENTATION.

The state senator elected jointly from Clatsop, Columbia and Tillamook counties in June, '82, holds over. The joint representative from Clatsop and Tillamook counties to the next session of the legislature will be elected next June.

With interests second only in importance to Multnomah, with a population that entitles her to at least double the representation she has, our county appears in Salem in the person of half a representative and one-third of a senator.

Take our state senator. An estimable gentleman, a good business man, and true to his friends, but unable by reason of the unjust apportionment of which we complain, to do full justice to the measures which affect our county and which can only be redressed by adequate representation.

This matter of representation is a stigma on "political" leaders in this state. It is a mutual concession and a mutual confession of weakness. It is a tacit admission that each side is afraid of the other, and a cowardly dodging of a question that has no excuse for postponement.

When the legislature met in the fall of that year, Hon. C. W. Fulton, who was then representing this county, introduced a bill reapportioning state representation, and giving Clatsop county its due. It merited immediate passage. But it didn't pass. Both sides seemed afraid of "the unknown quantity" in politics; they had figured up just how the state might go under present apportionment, and were content to take their chances as things were.

Last year that delightful courtesy which is the crowning charm of political action awarded the legislative nomination to Tillamook county. This year a man from Clatsop county is to be elected. The star that glitters in the political horizon, above the smoke and dust of the conflict, is the senatorial election, but there are a few little matters that are of far more importance to the citizens of Clatsop county than who shall sit in the American House of Lords for six years from March 4th, 1885.

We want to elect a man from Clatsop county to go to Salem next winter with some idea of what he goes for; with some idea of his duties, his powers and his responsibilities. He needs brains to conceive ideas, he needs courage to maintain them. There need be no difficulty in finding the man; the difficulty lies in getting him nominated. The question is not always "is he honest and capable?" Rather, "can he be elected?" Both questions are very important—the first one particularly.

In the senate are thirty members; in the assembly sixty; taking the census of '80 as a basis would give about 5,600 population as a ratio for a senator, and 2,800 for a representative. According to this, Clatsop is entitled to at least one senator and two representatives. Contrast this with her present status of half a rep-representative and one-third of a senator and the contrast furnishes sufficient comment. This matter of adequate representation is one of the things that our representative to be elected next June should iterate and reiterate. He need only have the courage of his convictions. He would get plenty of help from every source. Friends would arise to fight the battle and make common cause. There are other matters of importance to Astoria and western Oregon in general that need a little attention. Our salmon interests, Columbia bar, corporation rate, the mortgage tax law, etc., which it will be time enough to discuss in the future.

There is going to be some high old German talked in the parliament at Berlin. The friends of the late Herr Lasker, in the Reichstag, are about to demand of Prince Bismarck an explanation of his extraordinary conduct in relation to the Lasker resolutions of the American house of representatives. The despotic chancellor has undoubtedly made a great mistake, and that very near the close of his career. He is not sustained in his cantankerous behavior by the enlightened German people, and, least of all, by the Germans in this country. His friend and patron, the old Emperor William, will die presently; the splendid Prince Frederick Charles will come to the throne; enlightened young Germany will take hold of the scepter, and then the bloody-minded chancellor will be retired to his estate, ausgespielt.

The Oregonian says that Portland didn't lose more than a million dollars in the drop in Willard stocks, and that those that did lose could well afford it: that there is plenty money in Portland and that nothing but the attempt to tax it so heavily keeps it out of sight.

WOMAN'S PHYSICIAN AND LADIES' PRIVATE COMPANION FOR HOME TREATMENT. A COMMON SENSE MEDICAL INSTRUCTOR FOR LADIES ONLY.

Containing full information in reference to all questions relating to Womanhood, the better to enable the sex to fulfill their duties and enjoy themselves in their various relations as Maidens, Wives and Mothers. It is, as a popular work, commending itself to the great heart of Womanhood; written in plain, concise and delicate language, easy of understanding and above all other recommendations, it is thoroughly reliable and right to the point. It is a work which fills a place occupied by no other book, and is a complete library in itself. No lady however sensitive, with ever regret its personal. It gives information which will make life more pleasant, give a higher zest to its enjoyment, make those by whom home lies are prized, prize and enjoy them still more; while it will certify to relieve many a woman's burning sore by those to whom life has proved almost, if not quite, a failure. It gives the cause, symptoms and treatment with prescriptions for every disease peculiar to the sphere for which it is designed. To those who have unintentionally, by ignorance, or by reckless disregard of the divine laws of health made themselves wretched in life by sickness, resulting from any of the various forms of weakness, which follow in the train of womanhood, we can unhesitatingly and most confidently recommend this book as one which will give you the advice your necessities require in order to restore you to health and happiness. The wasted form, the pale, wan cheek, the listless sunken eyes, the slowly dragging step, the "tired nature" is too often seen in our homes. The authors of this work sincerely believe that all these features may be changed, the form again rounded and plump, the cheeks to bloom with roses of health, the eye to sparkle with life and vivacity, the light, quick step regained, and the enervated nature restored, by a simple home treatment and prescriptions as laid down in this work, and in this belief, and with an earnest desire to benefit the suffering, and renew health and happiness to the afflicted, and to furnish such information to those now in health, as will enable them to retain it and avoid the difficulties, this book has been prepared. Every invalid should obtain a copy and treat themselves, and no lady in health can afford to be without it and thus remain in ignorance of its peculiar, extraordinary and instructive teaching. It is recommended by many eminent physicians as a SAFE GUIDE FOR THE SEX. It is hand-somely bound and illustrated. Sent post paid to ladies only, upon receipt of $1.00. Address the ROCHESTER PUBLISHING CO., Nos. 32, 33, and 33 1/2 Osburn Block, ROCHESTER, N. Y.
