Around the City.

The Scottish Tar has arrived outy.
S. D. Adair has been appointed notary public.
The A. S. Child will leave for Tillamook tomorrow or Sunday.
The Portland and Astoria stevedores unions have dissolved partnership.
The Friends of Progress meet at Liberty hall this evening to elect officers.
The Idaho sails from San Francisco for this port today with combustibles, etc.
Sam Oliver has bought the two strips of tide land at Pillar rock and Hog back.
The Henry James sailed for Queens-town yesterday. Charles Turk was among the crew.
E. C. Holden's regular auction sale tomorrow comprises some fine furniture and miscellaneous articles.
The fifth Friday in February, something that won't happen again till 1924, by which time the Clatsop road will be in good running order.
Ordinance No. 567, published yesterday morning, concerning saloon licenses, has not yet been approved by Mayor Hume, and, therefore, is not yet in force.
The line was down as usual yesterday. The fact of anything occurring east of here that is worth telegraphing seems to insure disappointment to those who try to get the news.
On many of our streets the rails, bits of glass, jagged pieces of tin, etc., there are the cause of pain to horses. The dumb brutes have no way of making their sufferings known, and deserve some consideration in this matter.
The Narrative and Gratitude have to Liverpool have arrived outy. The last named has a goodly quantity of Columbia river salmon aboard. The Edwards also salmon-laden has arrived in Liverpool from San Francisco.
Al. Gates is giving some handsome prizes in his shooting gallery on Chenamus street. For any one making the best score out of twelve shots he gives as first prize a nickel piece revolver, second prize, a silver piece, and a nickel piece, and a silver piece, and a nickel piece.
R. L. Jeffries returned from Ocean Grove yesterday. At an early hour yesterday morning Mrs. Jeffries was arrested for alleged violation of the twelve o'clock ordinance, and by consent of the city attorney the case was continued till two o'clock this afternoon.
There was considerable life and bustle on the streets yesterday. The fine weather brought out everyone; along the water front arriving and departing vessels made it lively. The Columbia is carrying down a good deal of soil in suspension at present, together with tree trunks, etc.
He was busy explaining just how it happened that so much liquor had been wasted these hard times by the glen slipping through his fingers and being smashed upon the floor. "What kind of a looking glass was it?" asked a sympathizing listener. "It wasn't a looking glass at all; it was a tumbler."
A meeting of mechanics was held in Portland last evening, the object being to protest against convict labor in their line of business at the state prison. They held that it is unfair to place men convicted of crime in competition with those who have to support themselves and their families outside the walls of a prison.
There will be school meetings in the district next Monday which are deserving of better attendance than has been vouchsafed to recent meetings concerning educational matters. Among other items of business will be the election of school directors for a period of three years, and school clerks for a period of one year.
Two clothes lines fell in the mud yesterday morning; an express wagon horse started to run away and didn't; a man lost a dollar through the sidewalk or shaking dice, he is certain that a young fellow started down the street dressed in his sisters clothes but was caught onto before he had got a block; two dog fights were started but neither amounted to anything, and two ships went to sea.
Sometime ago it was announced that there would be a reduction in the present telegraph rates in Oregon and Washington Territory. The reduced rates go into effect tomorrow and will doubtless result in an increase of business. From March last onward the rate on ten words from here to Portland will be twenty-five cents for day messages; there will be no reduction in night rates. It is probable that the California rates will also be reduced this spring.

THE SUMMER R. MEADE.

The Story of a Stormy Voyage.

The American ship Summer R. Meade, 1905, previously reported, arrived in yesterday afternoon, with general merchandise from New York, consigned to Allen & Lewis, of Portland. As she lay partially dismantled in the stream she was an object of interest to hundreds who had heard of her stormy voyage, and who were glad to know that she and her tired crew were at last safe in snug harbor.
From Capt. Chas. C. Park it was learned that she sailed from New York Sept. 6, 1883, and for the first 77 days had fair weather. When about 300 miles north of the Falkland Islands there came a heavy gale from the southwest, and the ship took great quantities of water, washing the tussled fore and aft. One hundred tons were carried away all their bolts and considerable of the housing, carrying off the first mate and four of the crew. Fortunately, as the five men felt their lives hanging overhead they each grasped a rope and providentially escaped death.
The captain gives a graphic account of the fury of the waves beating so violently as to break down the starboard side of the forward house, completely gutting it of every berth and partition, sweeping off the lockers and the top of the forecastle, wrecking the cook's quarters and making general havoc. The gale blew with unabated violence for forty-eight hours, when they repaired damages as best they could and kept well to the southward. Two days after they spoke the British bark Hoang Ho, which kindly furnished them a boat. The unusual weather prevailed on their way round the Horn and up to Let. 40° N., when they had heavy weather with occasional fogs up to the Columbia river, which was made on the 17th day out from New York.
On the 23d inst., about nine in the evening, while standing off shore, under easy sail, a strong breeze from the southwest, a dense fog prevailing, the captain heard the whistle of a steamer to windward. He kept the fog horn blowing and in a few minutes saw the steamer's light and showed torch light, but the steamer was too near to change her course sufficiently to clear the ship, which she struck forward, carrying away the bowsprit, knight head, outwater and all the rigging attached. The night was intensely dark, and being in ignorance of how much damage he had sustained, Captain Park hailed the steamer and asked for a boat, stating that his boat had been lost in a previous gale. The master of the steamer answered that he would, in a minute, but did not do so, but lay by all night. The next morning the steamer came within hail and was asked to tow the ship to Astoria as she was in a dangerous condition. This was refused, but the master said he would telegraph to Astoria from Victoria for a tug to be sent to the ship's assistance. The captain found on examination that there was no leak anywhere, but on account of the dense fog was unable to make the land until the 26th, when the fog cleared away, and at daylight went land. At nine A. M. saw the tug Pioneer, which placed a pilot on board.

Ordinance No. 568.

An ordinance amending sub-division 1 of section 10 and subdivision 7 of section 10 of ordinance No. 432, entitled "An Ordinance to impose and regulate licenses in the city of Astoria," be and is hereby amended so as to read as follows: 1. Auctioneers shall pay an annual license of one hundred dollars; hawkers shall pay a daily license of ten dollars, or a weekly license of forty dollars. The provisions of this section shall not apply to judicial or executive officers making auction sales by virtue of any judgment or decree of any court, or to any public sales made by executors or administrators.
Sec. 2. That sub-division 7 of section 10 of ordinance No. 432 of the city of Astoria, entitled "An Ordinance to impose and regulate licenses in the city of Astoria," be and is hereby amended so as to read as follows: Steamboat runners shall pay a quarterly license of ten dollars; freight passengers, or freight for steamboats on the public streets or on the wharves or docks of the city of Astoria, shall be deemed a steamboat runner under this ordinance. Each and every runner or solicitor for any sailer, boarding house or house from which sailers are shipped on board of vessels shall pay an annual license of one hundred dollars. Each and every person who, on the public streets, or on the wharves or on any boat or vessel shall solicit custom for any sailer, boarding house, or house from which sailers are shipped, shall be deemed a sailer, boarding house runner or solicitor under the provisions of this ordinance.
Passed the common council February 25th, 1913.
Approved J. W. HUME, Mayor.
Attest: T. S. JEWETT, Auditor and Clerk.

NOTICE.

Mr. D. H. Caswell is now taking a census of school district No. 1 for the purpose of ascertaining the number of persons therein who are entitled to state school money. An impression seems to prevail among some that this will require them to pay a school tax and to send their children to school, and they are not disposed to answer questions very freely. This is a mistake. An apportionment of school money is made each year, or oftener if deemed advisable, by the state board of education, among the several counties in the state, in proportion to the number of persons therein between the ages of four and twenty years. This census is being made to get the number of persons so entitled, and I trust all will assist Mr. Caswell to make it full and correct.
J. O. BOZORTH,
Chief School District, No. 1, Clatsop County, Oregon.

LIVINGSTONE LODGE, I. O. G. T.—Officers and members of Astoria Lodge No. 40, I. O. G. T., instituted Livingstone lodge in upper Astoria last evening. The lodge starts with twenty-two charter members. A pleasant time was had and it is hoped much good will result therefrom.

A NOTABLE EVENT.—The presentation of the sacred cantata of "Daniel; or the Captivity and the Restoration," by the Astoria Musical Society at Occidental hall next Wednesday evening will be the musical event of the season. The uniform success of this society has been marked and the interpretation of the different musical scores has received through rehearsal. For several months this sublime cantata has been in preparation, and the intention is to present it on the stage in its entirety. Costumes appropriate to the period of the Babylonian captivity will be worn, an excellent orchestra has been provided, appropriate scenery has been secured, a well drilled chorus of forty voices will be in attendance and the several parts will be sustained by ladies and gentlemen of acknowledged vocal ability. Reserved seats can be secured at R. F. Stevens & Co.
THE WEEKLY ASTORIAN, in stamped wrappers, ready for mailing, published this morning, full of news and home happenings; price ten cents.

HERE, THERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Two thousand Chinamen are on their way to Portland from the Sound.
W. H. Hunt, American minister to St. Petersburg, died there last Wednesday.
In Kalama last Wednesday, Summers fractured Winslow's skull with a billiard cue.
Dynamiters are charged with making Pine headquarters for the concoction of their schemes.
Heavy withdrawals of gold from the national treasury causes fear that it may again be at a premium.
J. H. Slater has been designated as the Oregon member of the Democratic congressional campaign committee.
Senator Dolph has introduced a bill in the senate incorporating the Spokane and Coeur d'Alene Railway Company.
There are now over 35,000 head of cattle grazing within a radius of twenty miles of Malheur, Montana, which are valued at over $1,000,000.
The Whitcomb, W. T. Reville reports the probable opening of a coal mine on Lake Whitcomb, and the building of a railroad to it from Bellingham bay for the shipment of its product.
Important papers in connection with the star case have been stolen from the attorney-general's office and congressmen are seeking in their shoes in fear of possible publication of probable contents.
The snow blockade has been raised, and the first through passengers and mail from the east that had arrived for a week or ten days came down the river last night.
The 15th of June this year falling upon Sunday, the annual reunion of the Pioneer association of Oregon for 1881 will, in conformity with the provisions of the constitution, meet on that day, Tuesday after the 15th, which will be on the 17th.

Argument on the exceptions to the lien against the Queen of the Pacific for salvage on the Columbia bar last summer, was heard in the Seattle district court last Wednesday.

The snow blockade has been raised, and the first through passengers and mail from the east that had arrived for a week or ten days came down the river last night.

The 15th of June this year falling upon Sunday, the annual reunion of the Pioneer association of Oregon for 1881 will, in conformity with the provisions of the constitution, meet on that day, Tuesday after the 15th, which will be on the 17th.

The Dailies Mountainier has made inquiry of several farmers from the country regarding the condition of fall snow grain, and can learn of no injury done so far. We are assured by some that in the snow belt no injury has been done, but in that portion of the country where the ground was not protected fears are entertained that the frost has killed the growing cereals.

Concerning Weston the Walla Walla Statesman says the town presents a most melancholy appearance. Both hotels were destroyed, and the city hall, a two story brick building, has been temporarily fixed up and utilized as a hotel. The table is such that I will not attempt the task of doing it justice for fear of breaking out into ecstasies.

Several important changes in the department offices of the Northern Pacific system in Portland are expected to take place soon. It was stated some days ago that orders had been received vacating on the 1st of March the offices of general passenger agent of the O. R. & N. Co., filled by E. P. Rogers, and naming it with the general freight department under A. L. Stokes, with I. M. Chesbrough, formerly chief clerk in the passenger department, as chief clerk. All the force with Mr. Stokes, therefore in the freight department, will, it is said, go out tomorrow. E. P. Rogers, it is stated, will take the position of general passenger and freight agent of the Oregon and California.

The tug Stately arrived at Port Townsend Sunday, with Captain Bergman, his wife, and crew of the wrecked bark Lacie Marshall. The vessel went ashore on a ledge on Vancouver's head, and was quickly broke in two. One man, who was on the forward part, was carried overboard by the falling spars, and swam safely to shore. The balance of the ship's company were on the after house, which was carried out by every receding wave. After some hours it became wedged between two rocks. The forward part meantime had drifted inside the ledge and struck near the shore, fortunately enabling them to reach it and from that a large rock inside, from which they jumped and waded ashore, watching their opportunity between waves. One seaman was drowned in attempting to save his clothes.

Work on the Oregon Pacific railroad, between Corvallis and Yaquina bay, is being renewed with much energy. The conclusion is formed that new money, and a lot of it, is behind the project. Men have also taken charge. The company has purchased the steamer Yaquina and tug Pacific, and have a large quantity of iron work to be done. All this requires ready money. Where it is coming from does not plainly appear. Recent information points to the Chicago and Northwestern road as auditing the accounts and sending out the money. The road being built is not a valuable property in itself, but with important connections may be made so. The bar at the mouth of the bay is said to allow the passage of vessels drawing twelve feet, and a narrow ledge of rocks is all that prevents a much greater depth of water. The quiet manner in which the work is being prosecuted indicates rather more than the work itself.

The general superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company for the Pacific coast makes announcement that an important reduction in through and local rates will go into effect tomorrow. After that date the maximum tariff between all points in the United States, now $1.50, will be $1. This will be day and night rate, the latter being abolished, because it is found that while the day business is very light, night business is exceedingly heavy. To equalize the two the reduction has been determined upon. The reduction in local rates, however, concerns the night as well as the day rate. The cut in this instance is equal to about 33% per cent of the now prevailing rates. The minimum rate will continue to be 25 cents, as heretofore, but the 30 and 40 cent rates are to be reduced to 25 cent rates; the 75 cent rate to 60 cents, while the 50 cent rate will continue unchanged. Night rates are proportionately reduced. It will be seen that these rates have been made to conform to the new maximum rate of $1, which governs eastern business, but, unlike it, they are subject to reduction for night messages. Rates between California and Oregon and Washington territory are excepted from these reductions, for the reason that the company's lines could be incapable of accommodating the increased business which would arise from a lower tariff. A new line to Oregon is being constructed, and when that is finished, which it is expected to be in thirty or forty days, the reduction will probably go into effect there also.

A serious accident occurred on the O. R. & N. road about three miles west of Blalock's yesterday morning says the Standard of the 23rd, but fortunately no one was hurt. A boulder that would weigh one hundred tons had rolled down on the track, and in such a place as not to be seen by the engineer until within a few yards of it. The train being the Walla Walla and Portland mail, came dashing along in the night not apprehending danger, and when rounding the curve where the boulder lay, the headlight exposed the immovable barricade only too late. The engine was promptly reversed, and while the train was not totally wrecked. Hardly a portion was left on another. Evans was found on the ground with the cab over him, but was not injured much. Riley suffered many bruises about the head, body and legs, and was thrown some distance. The baggage and next car, which contained passengers, were badly wrecked, but no one was injured. The passenger coaches were full of people asleep, who were awakened by being thrown in all directions in the cars. Credit is due Mr. Evans, the engineer, for remaining at his post when escape from death was miraculous. The train was finally brought around the obstruction, and arrived in this city at 10:30 last night. Mr. Riley was taken to St. Vincent's hospital.

Concerning Mail Service.

Your weekly issue of the 22nd inst prominently brings to the surface a long and distressing grievance, which undoubtedly calls for speedy redress, being of superlative importance to the residents of Astoria, as well as those now densely studded in the several settlements along the banks of the route, the latter of whom are at a much greater disadvantage than those of your rapidly rising enterprising city. Insistence there being so much time uselessly lost to us, owing to the great uncertainty as to the precise hour the mail will arrive. It is no unusual circumstance to have to hang around the station one, two or more hours, and that in all sorts of often disagreeable weather, many of us having come considerable distances. The only parties who seem to profit by such disastrous arrangements are the rye gents, whose places are always tempting to enter in a storm, and which are for the most part the only inevitable. Twenty-five years ago when there was only one inhabitant for the ten or more that now is, we could calculate with certainty to fifteen minutes of the mail arriving. These were the days when the genial Capt. Hort with his "Mudsnail" plowed the ever picturesque, proud Flowing Columbia; but alas, the scene has changed, and a wild it continue, ad infinitum. Notwithstanding the business trade since that time has greatly increased, it ought to be borne in mind that the post office has kept in proportion, and that it is emphatically necessary for the business welfare of the community which is rapidly increasing, that a more satisfactory method of mail transit be without further delay instituted, the circumstances of the case equally demanding. In delicate language things into consideration, $5,000 is altogether inadequate to furnish us with a mail transit worthy of the name, and which the business interests of the country so woefully stand in immediate need of. Yours truly, C. A. MAGUIRE.

Concerning the compensation, it may be briefly stated that if the O. R. & N. Co., or anybody else will carry it for that price, it is directly in the interest of the community to have it done at those figures, or lower if possible. The schedule time must be shortened so that mail will arrive earlier and consequently prompt. Of course, the better the service the more will cost. Scott's new boat may help to solve the problem.
