OREGON MAPLE SUGAR .- Mr. Wm. Smith, who formerly was a resident of East Portland, is a Vermonter and thoroughly understands the manufacture of maple sugar. He now lives in the Nehalem valley, 23 miles from Forest Grove. on his claim are hundreds of the finest of Oregon maple trees. During the fine apring weather of last week he tapped a number of them from which he secured a flow of sap equal in quantity to a 1y be even had from the sugar trees of Vermont. This sap he boiled down and was delight-ed to see it "grain" into perfect sugar, closely reasonbling and tasting eractly like the enstern article. He lefts cake of the sugar at this office on Thursday morning which was duly sampled and pronounced to be as good as any. Mr. Smith says he can tap 500 trees each apring, on his place, and thinks they will yield 1,500 pounds of sugar. If that is true he has a good industry before him as maple sugar commands fancy prices in Oregon.—Vindicator.
