ASTORIA, OREGON. SATURDAY, MARCH 24, 1884. ISSUED EVERY MORNING. (Monday excepted) J. F. HALLORAN & COMPANY. PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS. ASTORIAN BUILDING. - - - CASS STREET.

A MURDEROUS ATTACK.

Burglary and Probable Homicide. When F. D. Blake, the driver of the Occident coach came out at five yesterday morning he found Officers Stebb and Carlson lifting a man up from John Rogers' corner where he was lying in a pool of his own blood. It proved to be Geo. Ganz, who keeps the Oregon market next door, and who was suffering from a pistol shot in the head. Dr. Baker was summoned and rendered such assistance as it was possible at the time to furnish. The wound from which the wounded man was suffering is a singular one, not the slightest mark being visible from the outside. The bullet which was fired from an ordinary revolver entered the left ear just inside the rim of the ear, and passed downward, striking and splitting the occipital bone. The unfortunate man was conveyed to the hospital and in the afternoon Dr. Baker extracted a portion of the bullet; the part which was tapping upon and fractured the bone will be extracted to-day should the patient's condition permit.

THE NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Bartholdi statue is to be shipped to this country in September. M. De Lesseps announces that the Panama canal will be open before 1885. A surplus of $50,000 from the Texas penitentiary was handed over to the state treasurer on the 15th. Huntington, Crocker and Flood, the California syndicate, have bought 20,000 acres of Mexican coal lands. The new law is so deep on one branch of the Canada-Pacific that no train has been run for twenty-two days. The Cedar d'Alene boom has had the effect of bringing thousands of whom ninety-nine per cent will be disappointed. It is again asserted in railroad circles that the Central Pacific has secured a controlling interest in the O. R. & N. Co. Of eleven men so named in the northern part of El Paso county, Texas, that they come right up to the settlers' doors to eat children.

THE CREAM OF OUR EXCHANGES.

The Democratic Era is resurrected. Candidates are scarce in Washington county. Disguised Mormons are preaching at Springfield. Walla Walla is organizing a horticultural society. Attempts are being made to make the Coiste river navigable again. Salem's new insurance company is prospering. Here's a pointer for Astoria. Turner hall in Portland was burned yesterday morning. Loss $30,000—insured. A large number of European and eastern tourists will visit the Northwest this season. The Herald says that there is an alarming mortality among the young women of Seattle. Columbia county, W. T., thinks of electing a woman to represent it in the next territorial council. Labanites are disgusted because San Francisco has worked off a rusty old fire engine on them as new. The Terminal company will use 2,500,000 bricks in building at Albina this season. Albina wants to know why the dry dock is not used. Ed. Kemp of Centerville drank concentrated lye thinking it was whiskey. His stomachs are filled with ulcers and his fate is uncertain. The general expression throughout the state concerning Deady's decision about the mortgage tax law is in favor of the law's supporters. The spring tide of the Columbia commenced on Sunday night, the river coming up one foot in twelve hours at Vancouver for a starter. The sheriff of Columbia county has such a strong attachment for the rolling stock of the Dayton, W. T., and Lewiston, Idaho, stage line that it has ceased to roll. During the first twenty-four days of this month over 19,000 long tons of Carboniferous coal were shipped from the coal bunkers at Tacoma. The San Pedro took 12,000 tons. Maj. William Gouverneur Morris, who was the Collector at Sitka, Alaska, and has lately died, was a great grand-son of Lewis Morris, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. A project is on foot to bore for an artesian well near Vancouver. An attempt is being made to get $100,000 subscribed for this purpose. It is said that a twenty-horse power engine would furnish sufficient power to bore down 1000 feet in ten days. The frogs, attached to the Pacific station, on her way to Sitka, Alaska, Yellow fever has broken out on board this ship, and it is deemed best to send her north immediately, and if possible to freeze out all the germs of the dreaded disease. A family named Boggs, at Harrisburg, after eating freshly made bread, exhibited every symptom of poisoning. Some of the flour from which the bread was made when given to stock, caused the death of several animals. An analysis of the flour is to be made. The land grant forfeiture fight has reached such proportions in Yakima county that several of the merchants and business men of Yakima City have withdrawn their patronage from the Signal because of its persistent urging of the passage of the forfeiture bill and the rights of the people to these lands. George Pritchard, who spent so much time in the Territory, and urged so many hardships in bringing the Cedar d'Alene mines into prominence, has been robbed of his property in the new mining district, and now all that he has left for all his years of toil is one very ordinary (in value) placer claim, everything else having been gobbled up by the insatiable jaspers. The Tacoma News says that reports from Seattle leave no doubt that the fire in the New Seattle coal mines has gone beyond control. All of the east side workings have been walled up, and it is not deemed possible to save the balance of the mine from being consumed, because it is impracticable to isolate the fire, which is raging in solid coal on the lower side of the gangways. The Hodge Pass tunnel, on the Oregon Short Line of the Union Pacific railway, was completed March 23, and will be ready for traffic in a short time. It is a fine piece of construction and engineering that was begun in May of last year and cost away through the coal measures of the Uintah range, which has been temporarily crossed by a zig-zag line with very heavy grades. The length of the tunnel is 1,500 feet, and every foot was timbered and framed with red wood.

Democratic primaries next Saturday. Time for payment of taxes is drawing to a close. The Tillie R. Starbuck is loading flour at Portland. Considerable grading is being done in the vicinity of the Weston House. E. C. Holden has his regular auction sale of furniture, etc., this morning. Rev. C. G. Larson, from Portland, will preach to a Scandinavian congregation in the Methodist Church at half-past two to-morrow afternoon. W. H. Gray is in the city and informs us that the annual meeting of the Pioneer and Historical Society will be on Monday, May 12th, 1884. Several affidavits have been sworn to concerning the excellent quality of the salmon examined at Sam Elmors's last Tuesday, and which had been alleged to be "mummy," etc. The end is not yet.

Some of the canneries are not yet certain as regards running this season. A prominent canner told us yesterday that his establishment did begin it would be the first of June before he would put any gear in the water. F. D. Blake opens the season with a much needed convenience—a fine two-horse carriage, which he will run to any part of the city for the accommodation of the public, and will attend all arriving and departing boats. Leave orders at the Occident or B. F. Stevens & Co's. Some men were rowing peacefully in a boat yesterday morning in front of Flavel's wharf when three large salmon suddenly appeared and bit at them, at least so they aver. Self defense prompted them to prevent any damage on the part of the pugnacious fish and they were promptly dispatched. Mrs. C. Brown received the sad news yesterday that her mother Mrs. C. E. Whipple, of Vancouver, had died that morning. Mrs. Whipple was a beautiful resident of that place, and had suffered from a protracted illness though her condition was not considered serious. The family go to Vancouver on this morning's boat to attend the funeral, which will take place there.

The Victoria government officers have seized 2,500,000 feet of logs out of the Canadian railway belt by Americans who intended to float the lumber to the mouth of the Tonquin. The logs are going on unchecked for years. The relations between China and Japan are not believed to be wholly free from coolness and strain. This country is accused by China of a predilection toward France in the Tonquin question and an absolute want of sympathy with China. The amounts of revenue collected from distilled spirits, or whisky, in 1882 and 1883, respectively, are $63,573,308 and $71,327,715. Over production has caused a very great quantity of whisky to accumulate in the government's bonded warehouses. The cost of maintaining the Brooklyn bridge is about $28,000 a year, and the interest on the bonds nearly $1,000,000 yearly. Reckoning last year's earnings at $621,513, it will be seen that the concern is running more than $750,000 beyond annually. It is decided that the French campaign in Tonquin shall terminate with the capture of Honghoo. After the capture of Honghoo the French will fix the western frontier of Tonquin at Nuan Quan, which is now in the possession of the Black Flag.

The Berlin Provincial Correspondence says that the Lasker discussion is closed, and that the Germans are agreed that it is no affair of parliament. It is said to be the merits of foreign politeness, and that a nation's only intercourse should be through its supreme head. The new coast survey steamer Carlisle P. Patterson, which was launched in February at New York, will go into commission on April 1st. She will be commanded by Lieut. Richardson Clover of the navy, and will leave for her station, Alaska, about the 15th of the month. The United States fish commission car from the Wytheville, Va., hatchery, arrived in Chattanooga, Tenn., March 12th, with 4,000 California trout to be distributed in the states of East Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia. It is said to be the most valuable lot of fish ever sent south. The Dominion government has notified the United States authorities that an Indian was seized within the southern limits of British Columbia by a party of armed men from American territory, and that the American government was permitted to identify the perpetrators. The Janney report of the bureau veritas shows that 147 sailing vessels were lost during that month, having a total of 50,475 tons, and 315 vessels met with accidents. Of these 92 were stranded, 28 damaged by collision, 2 by fire, 47 sprung a leak, and 117 were damaged by stress of weather. Within the same period 23 steamers, of 15,103 tons were lost, and 128 were damaged, 94 by strandings, 41 by collision, 8 by fire, 3 sprung a leak, and 34 received injury to boilers and engines. In the list of sailing vessels, 6 of those that met with minor casualties were bound to or from this port, and 3 were bound to or from Oregon.

Several affidavits have been sworn to concerning the excellent quality of the salmon examined at Sam Elmors's last Tuesday, and which had been alleged to be "mummy," etc. The end is not yet.

Some of the canneries are not yet certain as regards running this season. A prominent canner told us yesterday that his establishment did begin it would be the first of June before he would put any gear in the water. F. D. Blake opens the season with a much needed convenience—a fine two-horse carriage, which he will run to any part of the city for the accommodation of the public, and will attend all arriving and departing boats. Leave orders at the Occident or B. F. Stevens & Co's. Some men were rowing peacefully in a boat yesterday morning in front of Flavel's wharf when three large salmon suddenly appeared and bit at them, at least so they aver. Self defense prompted them to prevent any damage on the part of the pugnacious fish and they were promptly dispatched. Mrs. C. Brown received the sad news yesterday that her mother Mrs. C. E. Whipple, of Vancouver, had died that morning. Mrs. Whipple was a beautiful resident of that place, and had suffered from a protracted illness though her condition was not considered serious. The family go to Vancouver on this morning's boat to attend the funeral, which will take place there.

The Victoria government officers have seized 2,500,000 feet of logs out of the Canadian railway belt by Americans who intended to float the lumber to the mouth of the Tonquin. The logs are going on unchecked for years. The relations between China and Japan are not believed to be wholly free from coolness and strain. This country is accused by China of a predilection toward France in the Tonquin question and an absolute want of sympathy with China. The amounts of revenue collected from distilled spirits, or whisky, in 1882 and 1883, respectively, are $63,573,308 and $71,327,715. Over production has caused a very great quantity of whisky to accumulate in the government's bonded warehouses. The cost of maintaining the Brooklyn bridge is about $28,000 a year, and the interest on the bonds nearly $1,000,000 yearly. Reckoning last year's earnings at $621,513, it will be seen that the concern is running more than $750,000 beyond annually. It is decided that the French campaign in Tonquin shall terminate with the capture of Honghoo. After the capture of Honghoo the French will fix the western frontier of Tonquin at Nuan Quan, which is now in the possession of the Black Flag.

The Berlin Provincial Correspondence says that the Lasker discussion is closed, and that the Germans are agreed that it is no affair of parliament. It is said to be the merits of foreign politeness, and that a nation's only intercourse should be through its supreme head. The new coast survey steamer Carlisle P. Patterson, which was launched in February at New York, will go into commission on April 1st. She will be commanded by Lieut. Richardson Clover of the navy, and will leave for her station, Alaska, about the 15th of the month. The United States fish commission car from the Wytheville, Va., hatchery, arrived in Chattanooga, Tenn., March 12th, with 4,000 California trout to be distributed in the states of East Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia. It is said to be the most valuable lot of fish ever sent south. The Dominion government has notified the United States authorities that an Indian was seized within the southern limits of British Columbia by a party of armed men from American territory, and that the American government was permitted to identify the perpetrators. The Janney report of the bureau veritas shows that 147 sailing vessels were lost during that month, having a total of 50,475 tons, and 315 vessels met with accidents. Of these 92 were stranded, 28 damaged by collision, 2 by fire, 47 sprung a leak, and 117 were damaged by stress of weather. Within the same period 23 steamers, of 15,103 tons were lost, and 128 were damaged, 94 by strandings, 41 by collision, 8 by fire, 3 sprung a leak, and 34 received injury to boilers and engines. In the list of sailing vessels, 6 of those that met with minor casualties were bound to or from this port, and 3 were bound to or from Oregon.
