Deeming honesty the best policy, and in striking contrast with the course of the opposition party, we have named an early day for the assembling of the state convention. Our principles as a party will then be enunciated, and our candidates placed in the field subject to the approval or consideration of the body politic.

The variance in the vote of this state The variance in the vote of this state during the past few years, and especially the very close contest in the presidential election of 1880, gives us much hope that, notwithstanding our present minority, with harmony in our ranks, and a well-directed exertion of our strength, we shall carry off the palm of victory. But to insure this end it is imperative that all Democrats should contribute their undivided support and hearty co-operation, not only in the actual convass but in its very initiation—the county primaries. very initiation—the county primaries. were initiation—the county primaries.
We do not presume to trespass upon the precincts of our popular convention, but do earnestly invoke all members of our party to put aside past differences and personal antagonisms, to unite in harmonious action in the various primaries and to send full delegations of represen-tative men to attend the state convention. We have deemed it fitting to reduce the number of delegates, in the hope of securing the personal attendance of those to be chosen. We especially recommend the formation of local clubs, where practicable, throughout the state.

The old German emperor celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday on Satur-day. He has seen in his time many vicissitudes in the empire which he has ruled for more than half a century. He was present at the battle of Waterloo, as a kind of poetic justice for the savage blows and insults which Napoleon had dealt out to Prussia. The great conquerer left the country in such a demoralized condition that a recent writer pithily remarks: "From 1815 to 1864 no Prussian army looked a serious army in the face." It is the chief glory of Von Moltke, Bismarck and the emperor that in the life of a single generation they breathed the breath of life into the German army and made it the model organization in the world, so perfectly equipped that in the hand of a master it reduced to subjection a powerful nation like France, in a campaign which was Napoleonic for its brevity and decisiveness. History can furnish fev parallels of three men, each auto-cratic in his way, working together in harmony, without jealousy, all in-spired by the common love of coun-
