THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION A Republican convention for the state of Oregon is called to meet at the city of Portland. Oregon, on Wednesday, the 30th day of April, 1884, at 11 o'clock a. M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following offices, to-wit Representative in congress, judge of the supreme court, the presidential electors, and district officers for the several judicial districts, and to select six delegates to attend the national Republican convention, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention. The convention will consist of 206 dele gates, apportioned among the several counties, as follows: Ciackamas

2 Umatilla..... Curry Douglas Grant 5 Waseo...... 6 Washington

The same being one delegate at large from each county, and one delegate for every 125 votes, and one for every frac-tion over one-half thereof, east for Hon. M. C. George, congressman, at the last C. George, congressman, at the last coneral election.

LOW WATER.

M. C. George, congressman, at the last general election.

The committee recommend that the primaries be held on Saturday, the 12th of April, and the county conventions on Tuesday, the 22d day of April, unless otherwise ordered by the proper county central committees.

The committee earnestly recommend that the delegates elected to the state convention attend in person, and if not convenient for them to so attend personally, that they send their prories by electors of the county they represent.

The Bepublican voters of the state, without regard to past political differences, who are in favor of elevating and dignifying American labor, giving free popular education to the masses of the people, effectually protecting all human rights in every section of our common country, and who desire to promote friendly feeling and permanent harmony throughout the state by maintaining a government pledged to these objects and privileges, are cordially invited to unite in selecting delegates to the Republican state convention.

SOL HIRSCH, Chairman.

Portland, Oregon, Feb. 21, 1884.

THE DEBOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The state Democratic convention is hereby called to meet at Dalles City, on Thursday, the 17th of April next, at 10 o'clock a. M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following offices: Judge of the supreme court, three presidential electors, representative in the lower house of congress and district officers for the several judicial districts, and to select six delegates to the national Democratic convention, and generally to to do such other busines as may of right come before such convention.

The committee deem it fitting to present to the Democratic voters of the state the following considerations:

We see approaching an election of most vital import to our commonwealth in all its interests, both public and private.

vate.

Deeming honesty the best policy, and in striking contrast with the course of the opposition party, we have named an early day for the assembling of the state convention. Our principles as a party will then be enunciated, and our candidates placed in the field subject to the approval or consideration of the body politic.

The variance in the vote of this state.

The variance in the vote of this state The variance in the vote of this state during the past few years, and especially the very close contest in the presidential election of 1830, gives us much hope that, notwithstanding our present minority, with harmony in our ranks, and a well-directed exertion of our strength, we shall carry off the palm of victory. But to insure this end it is imperative that all Democrats should contribute their undivided support vided support and hearty co-operation, not only in the actual canvass but in its very initiation—the county primaries.
We do not presume to trespase upon the precincts of our popular convention, but do earnestly invoke all members of our party to put aside past differences and personal antagonisms, to unite in harmonious action in the various primaries and to send full delegations of representative men to attend the state convention. We have deemed it fitting to reduce the number of delegates, in the hope of securing the personal attendance of those to be chosen. We especially recommend the formation of local clubs, where practicable, throughout the state.

Believing that the success of the Democracy is the welfare of the people, we cordially invite all persons, regardless of past political effiliations, who favor simplicity, economy and frugality in the administration of public affairs to unite with us.

P. H. D'Ancy, Secretary.

AUGUST DANIES.

AUGUST DANIES.

Charles' Island, which the American Yacht club is fitting up for its uses, was once the summer home of old Ansantawae, who was the sachem of all the shore Indians between the Hudson and Connecticut rivers. It is a beautiful little island in Milford bay, and about three months every summer it used to be dotted with the white birch bark wigwams of Ansan-tawae. Old Uncle Peleg Abercrombie who is 92 years old, and whose ancesters were among the first settlers in Milford, is full of reminiscences of the lams and Indians of early days.

"My great grandfather," he says, came here about 1650, and his, Elnathan, told me about the Indians when I wa'n't knee high to a grasshopper. This kentry round here used to be a great haunt for the Indians in the summer. In July they'd thicken up, and jest before Ansantawae got here you'd see a lot of his braves and squaws working on his summer wig-wam on Charles Island. That was the royal island. He used to spend three months about the bay every year, and eat and sleep on the island. It's a great place for clams, you know, and its name, Poquahaug, means the

They used to git off to the island jest about the same time of the year the city white people go to the shore now to eat baked clams. Jest at the time the green corn was in the milk, I've heerd my old grand ther say, was the Indians' time for opening the Poquahaug clam feasts. Then the clams were in prime order, being fat, tender and salt. Huckleberries, too, were beginnin' to turn, and there was no eend to the swamp apples to be had. Off on the big flats 'twixt the island and the shore the men used to wade in with their bare feet, and tread or feel out the skulking hard clams. Meantime the squaws on the island would be fixing up the clam pit to roast the clams in, and which is the only proper thing that ever was got up to cook clams. That's where the white men got their notion of clam bakes.

"Well, as I was sayin', the squaws made the pit by laying a floor out of a circle of big cobble-stones. On these were built a smart fire of dry wood. Arter they had het the rocks red-hot they used to brush off the cinders and ashes with boughs, and spread on the clams and the green corn, the fresh fish and the lobsters. corn, the fresh fish and the lobsters. Then, kivering the whole pile up with a sweet smellin' blanket of rockweed and green kelp, they used to let the mess simmer till it was done. An' when 'twas done it made a feast that was fit for old Ansantawae or Jay Gould himself. It don't look well, I know for a man at my time of life. know, for a man at my time of life, but I'm takin' tew cents agin one every time that them New Yorkers never'll have no seeh good dinner off there as Ansantawae used to have, and even as I've eat there in my time.

Juicy clams? The best you ever saw.

A fragrant mess of it? Well, I dunno of nothin' to beat it.

"An' that sin't all the Indians used to do there. 'Long in the hottest part of summer they used to string up the clams raw on cat-tail reeds and hang them on the brush all about the island to cure them in the the island to cure them in the August sun. My gran'ther said they dried thousands of pounds of 'em in this way, an' in the fall, when they went back into the country to their hunting grounds, their boats and their squaws would be loaded down with dried clams for winter use. The old island, small as it is, was a mine 'o wealth to the Indians.—Milford, Conn., Corr. New York Star.
