Two gentlemen named Hamilton and Carr improved the shining hour afforded by the Columbia's detention last Thurs-day by trying the change swindle at Aug. Danielson's saloon. Somehow it didn't work satisfactorily; at any rate the Co-lumbia is absed on their passage money and they are serving a $25 sentence in the county jail on a charge of larceny.

From County Superintendent Sloop it slearned that the county's apportionment of school meneys aggregates $7,599.40, which is to be divided pro rats among 1404 pupils, or $5.41 to each child. The state apportionment will bring the pro rats for each child up to $6.15, or thereabouts. The different school district clerks can get their orders this morning.

yesterday afternoon. He was met at the There then arose a contest between Randall expressed anxiety on the part of the appropriation committee for the disposal of appropriation bills, and Pay-son demanded consideration of the Ore-gon Central forfeiture bill. Payson's demand was not acceded to, and Holman moved to go into committee of the whole on the appropriation bills.

This was lost, 68 to 98.

Holman, in the interest of public business, called for the yeas and mays, but Randall declared a roll call would not be in the interest of public business, and the isfied that $500,000 has been contributed by the world's industrial and cotton exposition.

The committee rose and the bill passed to Astoria. WASHINGTON, May. 8.-The appropris tions for Oregon and Washington territory as finally agreed on are as follows: Yaquina bay, $40,000; Columbia river, at the Cascades, $150,000; Columbia and lower Willamette rivers, below Portland, $100,000: Willamette, above Portland, $5000; upper Columbia and Snake rivers, $15,000; Chehniis river, $2000; Cowlitz river, $2000; the Skagit and four other river, $2000; the Skagit and four other small rivers of Washington territory get $10,000. The recommendations of the engineers for Coquille river, Coos bay and the mouth of the Columbia river in Oregon were rejected. As heretofore stated in these dispatches Congressman George early in the session introduced a bill for $500,000 for the mouth of the Columbia river, $150,000 for Coos bay, and $60,000 for the Coquille. These several sams were recommended by the engineers.

The Oregon delegation in the senate and house made strong argument before the committee for each of these places. It will be remembered that Oregon's representative was not reappointed in the resentative was not reappointed in the present congress to the committee having charge of these works last winter. The bill which passed the house, but failed in the senate, appropriated $75,000 to start the improvement at the mouth of the Columbia, $30,000 for Coos bay, and $7000 for the Coquille. Mr. George says that unless these matters are rectified, either by the house or by the senate, it will strike a most fatsl and severe blow to the interests of that section. Hitherto it has interests of that section. Hitherto it has been almost impossible to amend the regular river and harbor bill.
