A party of thirty ladies and gentlemen go to Young's Falls on the Tom Morris this morning.

The Grand Encampment of Oregon will meet at Oak Fellows' hall, in this city, next Monday evening.

Wm. T. Coleman & Co.'s bank is now ready for the transaction of a general banking and exchange business. See adv.

T. J. Shanahan has secured the contract for building the Chehalis Valley Academy at Montesano, the price being $3,375.

There will be a meeting at Ilwaco today of the directors of the proposed road from Ilwaco to Oysterville and Gray's harbor.

The democrats and republican kickers have nominated a fusion ticket in Multnomah county and propose to break up "the ring."

A pleasant party was held at Captain Forbach's last evening, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of his oldest daughter.

There is some talk of starting a Scandinavian newspaper in Seattle. It is under discussion to establish a similar institution in upper Astoria.

Laying pipes for the Columbia water Co., is about finished. As soon as possible private consumers will have an opportunity to connect with the mains.

Francis Gordon, one of the crew of the British ship Esquimaux, lying at Portland, while painting the ship's side last Saturday, fell into the river and was drowned.

The Clara Parker leaves Parker's dock at nine o'clock this morning for Knappa, Washou, Corvallis, Astoria and Lewis River. For freight or passage apply on board.

The Chaplain Scott reported on Sunday as going to Bemica, Cal., in not Captain Winfield Scott, who in all probability will abide with his friends on the Columbia.

The little son of C. W. Stone met with an accident last evening in falling from a wagon seat, the wheels of the vehicle passing over him, fortunately inflicting but slight damage.

Wheeler & Kipp are making a specialty of tapping water mains and connecting with private residences, besides other plumbing business and guarantee satisfaction in every case.

The grand lodge of Oregon I. O. O. F. meets in this city on next Tuesday. The Fleetwood will carry passengers to and from the session at a reduction of twenty per cent from the regular fare.

The A. B. Field arrived in from Gray's harbor, with freight and passengers, on Sunday afternoon, and will make a return trip on the 24th. She leaves for Tillamook, from the main street wharf, at ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

Wm. Hume is authorized by the statement that there are no bears at Eagle Cliff, but he has a great big $30 gold piece for any one, regardless of age, sex, or previous condition of service, who will bring or send him a 75-pound salmon.

Columbia river salmon meet with ready sale in San Francisco. The epicures of the Bay city are satisfied with no other, and all lovers of delectable fare favor them, on the Sacramento salmon one having tasted the inimitable salmon of the Columbia.

The testimony of the crew of the ship Summer B. Mend was taken at Portland, and that of the steamer Wellington will be taken on her arrival at San Francisco, and the collision between the two will be arbitrated on to settle the payment of damages.

H. B. Parker's new three story house will be begun to-day; it will be 48x75 feet and will be on Water street, close to the former site of the Foster's building. The Clatsop Mill company, begin sending lumber on the Columbia to the extent that the intention is to have the building ready for occupancy by July 20th.

The steamer Sam is receiving a general overhauling, having a new boiler put in, and being painted and fixed up generally for the spring trade. Capt. Fisher is going to have a new pilot house, and the recent ridiculous order concerning passengers in the pilot house won't affect him a bit.

There is a slight improvement reported in the run of salmon this week; the fish are not up to the usual size, averaging about fifteen cents to the fish. The peak is considerably behind that of the corresponding date last season, but as two busy days in June or July would make a difference of several thousand cases it is too early to predicate anything in relation to the outcome.

A communication is received from a leading resident of Clatsop complaining about the condition of Beaman's bridge on the county road. The charge is made that though money has been expended for its repair, yet the bridge has not received the benefits of it to the great inconvenience of residents in that vicinity. There is evidently something in it, and if upon investigation it proves to be as our correspondent states it will receive due attention.

J. D. McGowan reports that the body of a man was washed ashore at Scarborough head last Sunday afternoon. The weight of the man was apparently, 150 lbs., height 5 feet, 10 inches, light hair, sandy moustache, high boots, brown overalls, red undershirt, blue overalls, etc. He had in his pockets a foot rule, one black-handled knife and three silver dollars. He is supposed to be one of the poor fellows that was drowned in the gale on the 4th inst.

THINGS AS THEY OCCUR.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin of the 11th inst., says that very few Oregon salmon can be laid down in Boston at a cost of 20 cents per pound, and sold at 25 to 30 cents, at the first of the season, when native salmon is worth from 75 cents to $1 per pound. The Oregon fish has the effect of placing salmon in abundance in our markets earlier than formerly, and at a price which will cause much larger consumption.

There was a meeting of the officers and members of the Pioneer and Historical society of Oregon, at one o'clock yesterday afternoon, and a public meeting of those interested in its continuance at Rescoe's rooms at half-past seven. The annual address will be delivered by Rev. Wm. Roberts in the Congregational church, at half-past seven this evening, and the program for the evening's exercises will be announced.

D. P. Thompson goes to John Day's river this morning, where exists the only impediment to a full volume of water flowing through main from Bear creek to this city. That stream, which is there twenty-two feet deep and 200 feet wide, being navigable, had the pipe laid at the bottom, and the pressure on one of the staves caused a slight leak, which interferes with the flow. The trouble will be obviated by placing a stronger joint at that place.

An Upper Astoria girl was looking disconsolately out the window at the rain the other day, and in a moment of dreary abstraction she puctured up her countenance and attempted to whistle. It unfortunately happened that the young man who is courting her was past her house at the time, and he glanced up at the window with a most engaging smile. But the smile froze on his lips at the sight of her, and that night he went to call on a brand new girl. Those who have seen a woman try to whistle will understand why the young man thought his girl was making faces at him.

The many friends of Mrs. Jennie Woodruff were gathered on Sunday afternoon to learn of the death of that estimable lady. She died at Fort Canby, W. T., on Sunday morning, the 11th inst., in the 44th year of her age, after a illness of two days. The funeral will take place at two o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Woodruff was widely known throughout the state and territory and the news of her death will be read with regret by hundreds who knew her in her lifetime. The Geo. Miles will leave Gray's dock at nine and remain at the City Hotel until after the funeral obsequies, giving all who wish to attend from this city opportunity to do so.

Baron Judge Fox, yesterday, came O. F. Carlson, who lodged information to the effect that he was going home at an early hour last Sunday morning, and while between John Devlin's and O'Brien's hotel, three men standing in the road called to him. Thinking they were friends or he went over, and was immediately knocked down and robbed of whatever small change he had about his clothes. When he recovered his senses it occurred to him that a certain Jack Curley, and an uncertain "Alek" and "Joe" were his assailants, and warrants were accordingly issued yesterday for the apprehension of these gentlemen, whose ideas on the acquisition of property seem a little vague.

Sound Advice.
 If you must do a credit business, don't forget to charge, says the American Storekeeper. When one customer has been attended to, charge up his purchase before you attempt to wait upon another. Don't neglect it or put it off because some impatient customer asks you attention. Don't trust your memory one minute, because nervous customer number two may happen in before number one is out, and you will forget about charging anything. It's dangerous enough to trust your memory directly, losing by relying upon a treacherous memory. For should you forget only one item out of the many which Mr. Jones bought, it would take the profit from the entire sale, and a month later, when he calls to pay his bill, his failure to remind you of the omission of that one item will be no proof of dishonesty. Charge first, then serve the next customer, but charge even though the next customer leaves in a pet for leaving to wait so long. Better not leave the certainty of one sale to jump at the uncertainty of the next.

The best way is to charge while the articles are yet spread out on the counter, before they have been gathered into a basket or made up into a bundle. Look at the methods used in our large jobbing houses, where, with the systems of checking and double-checking almost approach red-tapeism, it is next to an impossibility for an item to be omitted. Should you not be careful and take as much pains to prevent mistakes as they are not the five pound package of sugar, overlooked in the items you charge to a customer, as long as a percentage of the whole bill as an extra bolt of "Wassutta" would be in the case you receive from the city.

WASHINGTON POLITICAL GOSSIP.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The great tariff reform battle waged by Carlisle and Morrison since the opening of congress, came to an end in the house Tuesday afternoon. The tariff reformers lacked four votes of a sufficient number to prevent the bill being killed. Three Republicans voted with them, and forty-one Democrats, four of whom are from California, voted against them. From the first the bill has been considered purely a political measure, and its death, therefore, is fraught with momentous political results. The feeling since Tuesday among the Democrats is very bitter, and although it will probably abate some before the meeting of the national Democratic convention, there is no possibility of Democratic hernia this year. The defeat of the bill has killed off all talk of the old ticket in congress. Tilden is known to be the friend of Carlisle, and the tariff reformers believe the latter voted Tilden's sentiments. The idea of voting for Tilden and Hendricks meets with derision, and even if the "rage of Grammar" was a possibility it is a probable that the "knife" of Carlisle would "knife" him at Chicago.

Two days ago Mr. Eaton, one of the Democrats who voted against the Morrison bill, was asked by a Democrat to assist him in passing the presidential count bill, of which he has charge. "No, I will not help you," said Morrison in an insulting tone. I have no use for you or your friends, nor for any legislation with which you are connected." In this remark Morrison probably carried out the feeling of his faction. "Once there, they say, and Randall will have no Republican minority to swell his vote. A radical reduction platform will be adopted, and two radical tariff reformers nominated."

A prominent Democratic senator, speaking of the programme here outlined some days since, said: "Let me give you a few thoughts and predictions. The tariff reformers will greatly outstrip the so-called Randall men at Chicago, and if they choose they can adopt a platform endorsing Morrison's bill and Spacker's course. They will probably do so. That will read Tilden, Randall and Eaton out of the party."

North, mark the result: All the Independent or semi-independent votes will go to the president, whom we rely to carry the doubtful states, will go over to the Republicans, and we shall lose New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Ohio and Indiana in the presidential election. This conservative element will not only elect a Republican president, but they will elect a Republican house. The representatives of the tariff reformers in the session of the 49th congress, abolish internal revenue taxes and smooth out some of the inequities of the present tariff, which will bring the receipts of the government up to the required basis. Then away goes our best issue; the treasury surplus question is settled for ten years, and Mr. Morrison will have the ground satisfied in the required basis. In conduct in this congress has resulted one more in wiping out the Democratic party." The senator who said this is a tariff reformer.

Salmon Notes—Foreign and Domestic.

The run on the Sacramento shows some surprising variations in the strength for different days of the week. Last Monday three catches took 3,000 fish; Tuesday their catch fell off to 900 fish, and on Wednesday the catch was only nominal. Some salmon experts will give an explanation of this one particular freak, but old packers and veteran dealers will point to it as cumulative evidence of their well established dictum that salmon is a queer fish. The catch on Tuesday, the Columbia river pack may be truthfully repeated of the pack of the Sacramento river canneries. The best fish are being used, and greatest care being exercised in packing than was ever before noticeable.

California Grocer and Cannier.

There is no change to report in the market for salmon during the week, the holidays naturally interfering with business operations, but there is reason to believe that the stocks in the hands of retailers are very small, and there are all ways signs that they are replenishing exhausted stores. It is to be expected, therefore, to be a general hanging off on the part of large buyers, in the hope that the importers will be obliged to come into the market and sell their parcels at a sacrifice. When the market really begins to make their purchases, there is little doubt but that some improvement will be made on the now very unsatisfactory prices. There is likely to be a considerable falling off in the new pack, in consequence of the disappointing result of last year's business, and therefore the time is very near when enhanced figures will have to be paid. The present quotations are 22c @ 24c for Columbia river, and 23c @ 25c for outside rivers. —Correspondence London Grocer.

A tripod of Columbia river salmon, 20,000 pounds, was shipped from The Dalles Thursday evening to the Northern Pacific Refrigerator Car Company to E. G. Blackford, of Fulton market, New York city. The car in which the fish were sent was the first ever used for the fish business, under the supervision of C. W. Sleeper, of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. It will make the trip in nine days. The temperature inside the car is kept at 32 degrees below zero. If this is maintained there will be no trouble about the fish arriving in good order. Large quantities of salmon packed in ice in boxes have been shipped from this place, but the hot notices above the continent.

The largest catch of a salmon with hook and line in Oregon waters yet known to the piscatorial fraternity is reported to have taken place at Willamette Falls yesterday by Mr. H. I. Bingham of this city. He took a 32-pound fish with a common bamboo rod, salmon bait, and was nearly an hour in landing his fish. —Oregonian, 11.

The assessed value of Pacific county for 1884 is $585,043. This is an increase of $120,000 over last year. The tax levy this year will be 17 mills, divided as follows: Territorial, 2 1/2; county, 8; school, 4; road, 2 1/2.

The old adage that the sea shall give up its dead was faintly illustrated last week. As Linney Stone was walking on the ocean beach near Ocean park, he came upon the skeleton of a man lashed to a board. Nothing remained but the reformers believe the latter voted Tilden's sentiments. The idea of voting for Tilden and Hendricks meets with derision, and even if the "rage of Grammar" was a possibility it is a probable that the "knife" of Carlisle would "knife" him at Chicago.

There is said to be a movement on foot to place a line of steamers on the route between South Bond and the head of the Bay, to accommodate the passenger traffic, as there is much complaint from travelers who are occasionally compelled to lie over in Oysterville, while by the other route they could easily reach South Bond or Woodard's from Astoria in one day.

There is a rumor in circulation, says the Jacksonville Times, to the effect that the Central Pacific company is about to assume control of the O. & C. R. R., and that before the first of July work will be resumed both on the California, and Oregon ends and connection made, without delay. It is also said that a tariff reformer will be sent to Redding, Cal., as much of a play to get control of the Oregon system as it was to build up the California legislature.
