During 1882, 64 declarations of intention to become citizens of the United States were filed in the office of the county clerk; during 1883, 123 were filed and since Jan. 1st., 1884, 51 have signified their purpose to forswear prince and potentate and be citizens of this republic.

At yesterday's session of the county court the matter of a bridge across the Walluski near F. Bartholdes' place was finally decided. It was concluded to build a bridge from each side of the Walluski about 200 feet out in the stream, leaving a gap of about 150 feet to be crossed by means of a ferry. The county supplies caps, stringers, planking and spikes: district No. 18 supplies the remainder, including the necessary labor. The work will be constructed on piles.

Mid voice, with clear and distinct reading, perfect enunciation, and in the support on the whole is good. Mr. Butler is leading nan and a good one, and Mr. Fitzgerald rendered his part of Nathan with great ability. The performance waked up a decided interest in the company, and there will be a good bosse to-night. The work will be constructed on piles, the driving of which will soon begin.

Choked Bruin to Death.

Point has ceased to furnish any bear items. Pacific county used to send a good bear story, but since Al. Bowen got into Oysterville the bears show up no more.

C. S. Dow tells a pretty good one concerning a big black fellow he caught on Dement's place a few miles from here a short time ago. He had failed to coax Mr. Bear into a regularly built log trap, such as any ordinary well-behaved bear would be glad to enter, so he rigged a "figure 4 trap," so constructed that the bear to get the bait would have to pull it out from under the log, which is just whathe did, and lost his life, as he was found choked to death in the trap. His hide adorns the floor of Mr. Dow's kitchen, and the trap is "sot" some more.

COLUMBIA BAR IMPROVEMENT.

At a meeting of the Portland board of trade held last Wednesday evening the following resolutions were read and unanimously adopted:

To the honorable the senate and house of representatives of the United States assembled: Your petitioner, the board of trade of Portland, Oregon, would most respectfully state that it has heard with deep regret that no appropriation for the improvement of the mouth of the Columbia river has been recommended to your honorable bodies, and the amount suggested to be appropriated Advertisements inserted by the year at the rate of $2 per square per month. Trunstent advertising fifty cents per square, each insertion. lamette and Columbia rivers is greatly inadequate to the proper continuance of the existing project for such work, formulated by the United States engineers and approved by the honorable the sec-retary of war, described on page 331, re-port of the chief of engineers of the port of the chief of engineers of the United States army for the year 1883. Your petitioner believes that the im-portance of these great works, from a national standpoint, has been greatly national stanapoint, has been greatly underestimated. The engineering project for the improvement of the rivers from Portland to the sea has already demonstrated its usefulness, each step in its progress being marked by increased depth of water and better channels. For these reasons your petitioner claims that your honorable bodies would be forwardyour honorable bodies would be forward-ing an important trade, and would be doing justice to one of the nation's great-est natural highways, by appropriating the full amount called for by the esti-mate of the United States engineers as set forth on page 331, report of the chief of engineers, United States army, for the year 1883. Your petitioner also believes that the improvement of the mouth of the Columbia river is a work that should be begun without delay. The rapid inthe Columbia river is a work that should be begun without delay. The rapid increase in the population of the Pacific northwest, the enlarged screage of its grain fields, the present and prospective extension of its commerce with European, Atlantic and home ports, justify the prediction that the good to accrue from the appropriation asked would more than repay the expense.

A long discussion ensued over the advisability of sending a delegate from the board to Washington, who should again urge the claims of the Pacific northwest, and it was finally decided to telegraph the resolutions just passed, signed by the president and secretary, to Senators Dolph and Slater and to Congressman George.

At a special meeting of the Astori chamber of commerce yesterday the fol-lowing telegram was ordered sent and was accordingly dispatched yesterday

Astoria, Oregon, May 15, 1884. To Senators Slater and Dolph, and Representative M. C. George, Washington.

The Astoria chamber of commerce protests against longer delay in making appropriation for the improvement of the mouth of the Columbia river. A difference of ten shillings per ton freight and one quarter per cent insurance, is now paid owing to present condition of bar. By order.

They were not expecting to be more than agreeably entertained by a fair rendition of the femiliar drama of Leah, the Forsaken. Miss Phosa McAllister and her company are wholly unknown here except through the press reports, and it is to be regretted that they are not always reliable. But the young lady soon captivated the audience, and by the time the third act was reached those present were waking up to the fact that they were in the presence of a powerful representation. Even old stagers were moved to tears by the realistic acting, and in the tears by the realistic acting, and in the curse scene the audience were breathless with awe at the terrible rendition and broke out into a storm of hearty ap-The majority are from Great Britain, latter has youthful vigor, a splendid voice, with clear and distinct

C. H. Warner has received a letter from his brother in Washington, says the Col-fax, W. T., Gazette, in which he says the secretary of the interior assures him that in any ovent the settlers on liea lands in any event the settlers on lieu lands will be protected, and that the secretary of the interior is preparing a decision to the effect that the railroad company must first show that it has lost lands elsewhere in the territory; and secondly, having failed to build the road in the time specified, it is optional with the government to say what lands, if any, shall be held from settlement for the company as indemnity, and finally, that the government will hold that lands settled upon cannot be selected by the company. This he thinks, will cover the ground so far as complained of, or so far as relates to the settlers in Washington territory.

Reckless speculation occasioned the break and like a row of bricks when one fell the rest came tumbling down.

The news from New York has created a panicky feeling all over the country and every attempt is made in Chicago, Philadelphia. Boston and elsewhere to insure self-preservation.

It appears probable that there will be but few contested seats in the Republican convention at Chicago. The call for the convention required that notice of con-tests shall be given to the national committee, accompanied by full printed statements of the grounds of the contest Up to date only two notices of contest have been filed, one from the first district of Alabama and the other from the first district of Georgia. In the latter case only have the requirements been com-plied with by filing printed statements of Miss Spreckles M Holden the grounds of contest. Two trains collided near Connellsville, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, last Wednesday. The engines remained on the track and telescoped each other, but the heavy tenders jumped into the air and fell, the freight tender upon its engine, and the gravel train tender upon the first car in the rear of it. Six men were killed outright, and four others, fastened down by the broken timbers, were roasted to death, the car taking fire from the down by the broken timbers, were roasted to death, the car taking fire from the overturned stove, and burning up before the survivors could comprehend the awful situation of their shricking companions. Three men escaped from the car. The tender of the freight train stood thirty feet in the air, and inside of the car that was burned could be seen, amid the glowing embers, twisted iron rods and dead ashes, three grinning skeletons, one sittingholt upright, apparently peering into the flames that had smothered out his life, as well as those of his companions.
