The Knoat-A Terrible Panishment

The following is the way of administering the knout. Conceive, reader, a robust man full of life and health. This man is commanded to receive fifty or a hundred blows of the knout. Burning Tortures, Humiltures, Humil-iating Erupframe, inclined diagonally, and at the extremities of which are fixed iron rings; his hands are fastened to one end of the frame, and his feet to the other; he is then stretched in such manner that he cannot make a single movement, just as an eel's skin is stretched in order to dry. This set of stretching the victim causes his bones to crack and dislocates them. What does that matter! In a little time his bones will crack and be dis located in a very different manner. At a distance of five and twenty paces stands another man. It is the public executioner.

With both hands he grasps the in strument of punishment—the knout. This knout consists of a thong of thick leather, cut in a triangular form, from four to five feet long and an inch wide, tapering off at one end and broad at the other; the small end fastened to a little wooden handle about two feet long. The signal is given. The executioner advances few steps, holding the knout in both hands, while the long thong drags along the ground between his legs On coming about three or four paces from the prisoner, he raises the knowt toward the top of his head, and then draws it down with rapidity toward his knees. The thong flies and whistles through the air, and descending on the body of the victim twines around it like a hoop of iron. In spite of his state of tension the poor wretch bounds as if he were submit ted to the powerful grasp of galvan-

The executioner retraces his steps and repeats the same operation as many times as there are blows to be inflicted. When the thong envelops the body with its edges, the flesh and muscles are literally cut into strips, as if with a razor, but when it falls flat then the bones crack; the flesh in that case is not cut, but crushed and ground, and the blood spurts out in all directions. The sufferer becomes green and blue, like a body in a state of decomposition. He is now removed to the hospital, where every care is taken of him, and is afterward sent to Siberia, where he disappears forever in the bowels of the earth. The knout is fatal, if the justice of the czar or the executioner desires it to

MESTS. SEABURY & JOHNSON, Gentlemen:-Like most of my profession, I am cautious about pinning my fai'h to any new medicine or curative agent. But your BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER GARDNER Bros., has broken through the barries was to my good opinion. My attention was first called to it some eight months ago by a patient of mine Although I was well acquainted with the superior excellence of your other plaster and antisoptic dressing, made especially for the profession, the Benson's was comparatively new to me. I had heard, however, of its merits as a remedy, in cases of Lame Back, Local Rhoumatism, Neural-gia. Congestion of the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver and the like affections, and have since begun to experi-ment with it personally. I find BENSON'S CAPCINE PLASTER an exceptionally cleanly plaster to use, and rapid in its action-Many tests of its qualities, made in my own family and among my patients have convinced me that there is no single article so valuable for popular use, nor so helpful in the diseases I have named.
