ITEMS, LOCAL AND OTHERWISE.
 The Idaho will be down to day, Dr. Fulton's telephone number is 41. To-day is a legal holiday in this state. Memorial services at the Congregational church this evening. Chaplain Scott will deliver the address at the G. A. R. memorial service this evening. It is to be hoped that the Portland fashion will not prevail outside of that city to any extent this season. Binger Hermann will address the citizens of Astoria at Occidental hall this evening. Reserved seats for ladies. Service preparatory to the celebration of the sacrament of the "Lord's Supper" will be held in the Presbyterian church to-morrow at 2:30 p. m. Freight for salmon and grain are very low. Shippers seem to think that the bottom has not yet been reached and are not offering very freely. Jim Harris, who was captured here a few weeks ago, and tried in Portland on a charge of grand larceny, has been given four years in the penitentiary. C. W. Leick is fast assuming prominence as a skillful architect and draughtsman. He is now busy on plans for various residences throughout the city. N. H. Angell, a well-known resident of Skamokawa, W. T., dropped dead last Tuesday night, supposedly from disease of the heart. The remains were taken to Portland yesterday for interment. Judge Deady was engaged yesterday in hearing testimony in the case of the Queen of the Pacific, George Flavel libellant. Pilot Doig and several other witnesses were examined, but the case has not yet been finished.—Standard, 29th.

The memorial service at the Congregational church this evening is the only feature of Decoration day that will be observed in Astoria. The services will be impressive. Ladies are asked to send flowers to the hall over Carman & Co.'s from 10 to 2 o'clock. Visitors speak with the utmost enthusiasm of the glorious weather that we of Astoria are enjoying. It is only those people that live in less-favored localities call attention to the beautiful weather that any notice is taken of what appears to be a matter of course to residents. The Oregonian advertises an "Albina club" at Astoria. There is an "Albina club" here composed of one member. He says he started a paper in Albina to elect a justice of the peace, and the "damned thing" came out of the same game here with the same probable result. George P. Rowell & Co., the New York advertising agency say that the circulation of American newspapers is rapidly increasing. The most important and farthest west of any daily morning newspaper in the United States, is happy to say that its increasing circulation corroborates the statement.

One of the most ridiculous things in life is to hear a blustering talker boast of his "influence," when it is dollars to me that when election day comes he can't "influence" his own vote. This is more especially the case when it is a little one that wears his master's collar and does his master's dirty work and gets his pay in trade. From all parts of the district come the most flattering reports concerning the political prospects of Frank Taylor and Tom McBride. With them it is only a question of majority. It is for Clatsop to help the thing along. They are both talented and deserving young men, have made a good record and deserve a solid vote from Clatsop. Rio's Surprise party drew another crowded house at Occidental hall last night. The principal attractions—Kate Easton and Harry Phillips—were married in San Francisco about two weeks ago, and are now enjoying their bridal trip. The entire troupe has considerable talent and will do good business in Oregon and Washington.

There is an effort making in certain quarters to create a "boom" for W. W. Thayer for supreme judge. It is not the intention of the Astorians to rake up the masonry things alleged against the ex-governor, but will suggest that Hon. L. Flinn of Linn deserves and will doubtless receive substantial support in this section for the position of supreme judge. The Kendall Commission is the next and they say the troupe is "hot" and it is no use saying that money is "scarce" in Astoria. A city of its size that is able to put up $4,000 in one week for amusements has plenty of money, and now that the Kendalls are coming it is as well to bear in mind that reserved seats can be had at the New York Novelty Store.

Knights of Pythias.
 The order of Knights of Pythias is founded on naught but the purest and sincerest motives; its aim is to alleviate the sufferings of a brother, succor the unfortunate, zealously watch at the bedside of the sick, soothe the pillow of the dying, perform the last sad rites at the grave of a brother, offer consolation to the afflicted and care for the widow and orphan. Great disadvantages have been overcome in the founding of the order, but beneficial results have been brought forth. Organized during the heat of the late civil strife, it has steadily advanced in numbers and in importance and is now in a flourishing condition. The beautiful lesson of friendship between Damon and Pythias is sought to be practically taught by a ritual which, for beauty and clearness of language, can not be surpassed. This young and growing order originated in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 15th day of February, 1864. Next the order gained a foothold in Pennsylvania, Maryland, etc. in 1867. In a short time the order made its advent on this coast, and it has obtained a footing and a home in every state and territory of the Union, passing into the British provinces of North America, and made a name and a home in the islands of the sea, crossed the Atlantic ocean and founded lodges in the kingdom of Great Britain. To-day it has a membership of over 150,000, and it can hardly be said it is of age. Based upon the old story of Damon and Pythias, it seeks to inculcate the worth and beauty of such a friendship. Its cardinal principles are friendship, charity and benevolence; its mottoes and teachings are generous, brave and true. The fundamental principle of the order are before the world; its deeds are not concealed from public scrutiny, while the constitution and laws of the society are within the reach of all who wish to examine them. Astoria is the banner city of the northwest in proportion to its size, and the members of the K. of P. in this city are among its best citizens.

THE MEMORY OF THE DEAD.
 To-day the nation honors the memory of the honored dead; the brilliant blossoms with which the heroes' graves are wreathed obliterate the scars of war. Earth's fairest floral treasures adorn the resting place of the men who, in the first glow of early summer in the dead years that are past, fought in defense of the Union, and though the fortunes of war struck their names from the muster roll of duty, a grateful country inscribes them on the herald of immortal fame. The years of strife are fast becoming but a memory. It is as well. 'Tis nineteen years since North and South laid down the sword and the tears of a united country were shed over the graves of the men who had sealed with their lives their devotion to what they deemed to be the right. The old bitterness is no longer manifest. A new generation is growing up with new hopes, purposes and ideas. From the past come a sigh of remembrance over the fate of those who went to battle but did not return. Every year on the 30th of May the shutters are opened in the windows of Memory's picture gallery and the dead faces are viewed with streaming eyes.

The day is an occasion purely sentimental. It is the only distinctively sentimental American holiday. The dead are past all help or need of help; yet from the surges peaks of the Atlantic to the desert wastes of arid Arizona; from the sunlit waters of the southern gulf to this far-off western shore, fall gently over the little mounds of earth the graceful blossoms of spring, kindly tributes to the nation's dead from the children of the nation that passed through the purification of fire.

How sleep the brave who sink to rest, By all their country's wishes blest! When Spring, with dewy fingers cold, Returns to deck their hallowed mould; She there shall find a sweeter sod Than Fancy's feet have ever trod.

By fairy hands their knell is rung, By forms unseen their dirge is sung; There Honor comes, a pilgrim gray, To bless the turf that wraps their clay, And Freedom shall awhile repair To sweep a lowly hearth for there.

Fire in Portland.
 Portland is getting quite a record for fires and failures. This time it is in John Stephens' saloon that the fire originated. Stephens was down here the early part of the week and left here yesterday morning. He has been running the Wasp saloon, but it together with considerable other property is destroyed. Several other buildings, including Davidson's photograph establishment and "Lind Meyer's" extra-brokers' shop are also consumed. Ira F. Powers' furniture and Olds & Summers are the heaviest losers. The others seem to be pretty well insured, which under the circumstances is comfortable. The fire broke out about two in the morning; when Mr. Seeley, the purser of the Fleetwood, passed by yesterday morning at half past seven, and reported that the fire completely under control and were waiting about the ruins. The total loss is placed at $25,000.

With Many Regrets.
 A telegram from San Diego, Cal., yesterday morning to Alex. Campbell, proprietor of the Gem, conveyed the sad news of the death of his son's wife, Mrs. Bertha Campbell. The deceased lady was formerly Miss Butterfield, and was married at Eureka, Cal., about a year ago to Mr. C. A. Campbell, the young couple coming to Astoria on their bridal tour. Mr. Campbell shortly afterward accepted the management of the Horton House at San Diego, and his wife accompanied him with every assurance of a long and happy life before them. Mrs. Campbell made many friends during her stay here, and the sad news of her untimely death will be read with sincere regret by many who sympathize with the sorrowing husband.

WHAT THE WIVES SAID YESTERDAY.
 Blaine's friends are confident of his nomination at Chicago next Tuesday. Indians are killing settlers and stampeding cattle and horses in Manitoba. For the first time in the history of the Derby, the great race last Wednesday was a dead heat.

The National Greenback convention is in session at Indianapolis. Ben Butler has been offered the presidential nomination. An amendment was offered in the senate, on the 28th, by Senator Dolph, to the bill to reimburse states for expenditures made in common defense. It provides that the secretary of the treasury be authorized to pay to the state of Oregon $35,140, and to the state of California $195, for expenditures incurred in suppressing the Modoc Indian hostilities.

Great excitement has been caused at Wabash, Indiana, by the discovery of a half pound of dynamite, with a three-foot fuse attached, under the Journal office. The proprietors of the paper suspect the perpetrators to be persons whose enmity has been incurred through some publication. It is supposed the intention of the villains was to explode the dynamite at night when no one was in the office, and destroy the building without taking life.

In congress, members of the river and harbor committee say the refusal of the house to consider their bill makes the probability of its non-consideration at this session doubtful. They say they stand taken by Kendall's bill that he is opposed to the passage of any river and harbor bill this session, and will endeavor to prevent its consideration, now chances are that congress will adjourn without making any appropriations for continuing the improvement of the rivers and harbors of the country.

Democratic Presidential Gossip.
 WASHINGTON, MAY 29.—Stories are current here that information has been received direct from New York that if Tilden is tendered the Democratic nomination for President, he will accept. It is stated that a prominent member of congress has a letter from the sage of Congress park, detailing his wishes as to further action by the house, and stating in direct terms that if nominated he will make another campaign. This letter is being shown among democratic leaders, and has caused an entire change of the congressional programme. It is stated that Tilden advises the speedy passage of the remaining appropriation bills and adjournment about July 1, and meantime all talk of tariff revision shall cease. There is now no doubt among Democratic congressmen that Tilden will accept, and it is stated that intimations have been received by Headquarters that he will again run for president, if Tilden accepts. However, there will be a severe struggle for this place, and Hendricks may not receive much encouragement to change his mind. The Democrats in congress are earnestly discussing Tilden and the vice-presidential nominee. There is a disposition among them to defer to the wishes and counsel of the Democrats of doubtful states.

Representative of Georgia.
 "I would find out the man whom the delegates from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut want and I would take the wish of doubtful states, and I would elect the president, and what we want is a candidate that can carry them."

Democrats who voted against the Morrison bill all favor this policy of yielding to the wish of doubtful states, and some who voted for that measure take this view. Some of the latter think that the tariff quarrel would better be dropped.

Senator George of Mississippi, an earnest tariff reformer, says that now the fight is over, the subject should be let alone within the party for the present; that the Democrats in congress ought to quit talking about it, and let the bad feeling the question caused die out. All this talk is believed to be due to inspiration from New York.

STATE AND TERRITORIAL.
 The upper Columbia's boom is equal to Blaine's. The steamer Queen of the Pacific collided with the Seattle dock last Wednesday, plowing her way fifty feet into the wharf and warehouse. No one was hurt. The damage to the dock is about $500, but the steamer was uninjured.

After June 8 the steamship Geo. W. Elder will be drawn off the Puget sound, San Francisco route. From that date the steamship Queen of the Pacific and Mexico will conduct the traffic on that route-making trips every eight days. The company announces the falling off in traffic as the cause for this decrease of service.

The senate amendments to the Indian appropriation bill, as shown in the Congressional Record, give the Forest Grove Indian school $20,000 for buildings, on condition that land enough for a farm for the school shall be donated some place in Oregon. Provision is also made for the admission of fifty more pupils, making all 800 pupils. The amount per capita for the support of the school is $175, being $25 per capita less than was allowed last year. Senator Dolph gives notice that an additional amount would be asked for next year for buildings. Several important additions were secured to the appropriation through the efforts of Senator Dolph.

On Monday the trunk of John Peterson, in W. R. Hayden's place, Dracoo, was broken open and rifled of its contents. Fred Jost, formerly in the employ of W. W. Ward, and some months past a resident of Portland, was suspected as the probable culprit and a warrant immediately issued for his arrest. He was followed to Astoria and captured, but as he could not be brought across the river by the regular mail, he was taken to Astoria or came back to Ilwaco. He deided on the latter course, and returned, whereupon he was immediately arrested by Constable Moore, the necessary preliminary examination he was bound over to appear before the grand jury in the sum of $250, in default of which he was brought to Oysterville Thursday and lodged in jail.
