

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1914. ISSUED EVERY MORNING. (Monday excepted) J. F. HALLORAN & COMPANY, PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS. ASTORIA BUILDING, 111 CLAY STREET.

ABOUT THE CITY.

Head Board & Stokes' adv. Adjourned council meeting to night. A registry law is necessary in Oregon. There were 2,000 men on the street yesterday.

Blanks of every kind required at The Astorian office. S. B. Crow will move his picture gallery to Kinney's building this week.

The Wallis Hotel is laid up at Portland, and all hands have been discharged. Lightning flashed about the sky on Sunday night. It didn't strike till yesterday.

And now that it is all over let us begin preparing for the celebration of the 4th of July. The school of yesterday's conduct re-verbosates along the Atlantic coast this morning.

The Parish Aid Society of Grace church will meet this evening at the house of Mrs. A. Van Dusen. What might have been a second fire at J. W. Hume's cannery was promptly extinguished at noon yesterday. Hume's got first water.

The latest addition to THE ASTORIAN museum is a sample of Indian pottery, apparently a relic of the stone age, handed in by R. S. Hildgett, who picked it up on Young's river.

A welcome shower fell yesterday afternoon. High winds and dry weather require constant watchfulness on the part of every citizen that a repetition of last July may not occur.

In 1882 there were 756 votes cast in Astoria and 130 in upper town; a total of 886 votes in the two Astorias; yesterday there were 1,076 votes cast in Astoria and 841 in upper town, a total of 1,917, a gain of 430 votes, or 48 per cent.

The "Bonanza King" was on the boards last night and from the way it was received he is plain to see that the Kendalls are going to be favorites. Every move showed a talent and to say that they will have a crowded house to see "M'liss" to-night is what every one prophesies. Reported seats at the New York Novelty store.

To chronicle the numerous personal encounters yesterday would be a tedious task. While it was only a matter of leaving and scuffling, the matter was taken to the police in two or three instances, the police interfered. Two belittling individuals started in about five o'clock to paint the town red, and proposed to begin by having a set for $40 on side, but were finally coaxed to refrain till Sunday when they will square off at Young's river.

The Wide West begins her summer trips to-day, continuing on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. She will also come down Saturday night. The river service between Portland and Astoria is as good as any in the United States, and the prices are low as in any section of the Union. When one can be carried 110 miles in six hours, as on the Wide West or Fleetwood, at an expense of only $2, he cannot grumble at being "out of the world." If there were no Fleetwood, however, there would be no Wide West.

The house of W. B. Painter, on the Clatskanie was totally destroyed together with its contents, on last Sunday by fire. Mr. Painter and his family, consisting of a wife and three children were on their way down Young's river, a mile and a half from home when they observed a heavy smoke rising from the vicinity of their home but did not suspect that it was their dwelling and so went on their way to complete their Sunday visit, and returned to find their home in ashes. The damage is between $1,000 and $1,500.

The first of the R. & O. Red Books for the year is out, and if it is to be taken as a fair indication of what other editions are to be, a million won't supply the demand. In the Red Book for the Republican National Convention—such being its title—about everything that is given can be considered of interest in connection with convention matters, and the clear and exceedingly concise form must commend it to all readers. The compilation is out of the usual order in political text books. There are very few figures, and the side notes in bold type lead to ready reference to an extensive compilation of valuable data. It cannot but be a very desirable little book as the campaign progresses, and a two-cent stamp inclosed to C. K. Lord, Baltimore, will secure a copy.

Last Sunday's Fire. When the fire alarm rang at one o'clock last Sunday afternoon, and great volumes of smoke were seen coming out of O'Brien's hotel, it looked as though the disastrous scenes of July '83 were to be re-enacted. The fire appears to have started in one of the frame buildings in the rear, and when the department got there, which was as quick as men could run, the kitchen and part of the rear was in flames. Five streams were soon playing on it and in spite of the fact that there was a strong wind blowing the fire was checked, and finally subdued. The Fire Department worked hard, promptly and effectively, and saved the building. For the first few minutes it looked as though that whole section of the city would go, but fortunately, there is no greater loss to chronicle.

The principal damage is in the rear of the building and the roof. The loss will probably be $2,000. The insurance policies expired but a few days ago and had not been renewed. Workmen were busy repairing the building yesterday.

Death of the Foster. The entire community was shocked yesterday evening to hear of the death of the Foster. He had been in poor health for some time and overworked himself at the fire last Sunday afternoon. Yesterday he was unable to leave his bed, but in the afternoon he felt some better, when about five o'clock came a stroke of apoplexy, and in a few seconds all was over. Deceased was for many years a resident of Portland and came to Astoria about eight years ago. In the fire of last July his store and stock of goods was swept away in the flames. He immediately put up a large building and started again last New Year's. He was a genial man, had many warm friends, was in the 49th year of his age, a member of Pacific Lodge No. 17, K. of P., and leaves a wife and family to mourn his loss.

His relatives at Seattle and Portland were notified last night, and the funeral will probably take place to-morrow afternoon.

Flower Pots. Look at the show window of Jordan & Bozorth's Crockery Store, and see the fine assortment of Pottery for Flowers, just received.

A full line of ladies' and children's shoes, latest styles, to be found cheap at Arrol's, sign of the Golden Shoe.

RETURNS AS FAR AS HEARD FROM

Nearly Every Candidate Still in Doubt. Yesterday's election brought out the biggest vote that was ever polled in Astoria. It also brought out the greatest amount of scratching. In '82 there was a good deal, but a few straight tickets were found in the boxes when the clerks began to count the returns. Yesterday it looked as though every one was determined to exercise the prerogative of an American sovereign and vote just as it suited him. It was a scratch race—a regular "go as you please." Every one was out, and the polling places had a crowd in front from the time the polls opened till after midnight. Considerable persuasion was used and reasons solid and otherwise advanced why so-and-so should be elected in preference to his opponent.

Following is latest by the telegraph and messengers up to half-past two this morning:

CLIFTON. Republican majority for state ticket, 36; county ticket, 38; Wheeler 41 majority.

KNappa. Following are majorities: Herdmann 15, Flinn 17, Taylor 11, McBride 19, Leinenweber 5, Ross 23, Trenchard 16, Berry 10, Hobson 15, Dan Warren 15, Robson 3, J. F. Warren 30, G. F. Parker 37.

WASCO. Myers 23, Herdmann 64, Thayer 23, Flinn 64, Bennett 21, Taylor 67, Dillard 23, McBride 64, Leinenweber 34, Gray 30, D. K. Warren 67, H. E. Parker 44, John Hobson 57, F. Bartholomew 15, Wheeler 40, Ross 27, Spencer 63, Trenchard 1, Berry 65, Bergmann 26, Shoop 65, Higgins 19, Shively 19, Warren 73, Raymond 10, Parker 73.

SEASIDE. 66 votes cast; Gray 44, Leinenweber 24, Ross 12 to 20 majority.

NEASIDE. Gray 18, Leinenweber 7, Wheeler 15, Ross 10, Spencer 15, Trenchard 11.

JOHN DAY. 35 votes cast; Wheeler 2 majority, Spencer 13, Bergmann and Bennett each small majority.

CLATSOP. Herdmann 21, Flinn 22, Taylor 20, McBride 15, Gray 22, Wheeler 17, Spencer 19, Berry 16, D. K. Warren 17, Parker 18, J. F. Warren 21, G. F. Parker 51, Shoop 16, J. C. Ross 23.

MYERS. Myers 37, Belmont 39, Dillard 44, Leinenweber 67, Ross 40, Trenchard 55, Bergmann 39, Shively 37, Hobson 42, Bartholomew 20, Raymond 8, Higgins 44, Franklin 35.

UPPER ASTORIA. Herdmann 128, Myers 114, Flinn 107, Thayer 122, Taylor 58, Bennett 141, McBride 123, Dillard 110, Gray 46, Leinenweber 177, Wheeler 50, Ross 127, Spencer 31, Trenchard 189, Berry 56, Bergmann 140, Gray 55, Warren 124, Shively 107.

ASTORIA. At half-past two this morning there were 353 votes counted. It was raining, about even at the head with Gray, Ross, Spencer and Bergman in the lead.

TO SAVE LIFE. Drowning accidents are so common on the Columbia, that it is necessary to know what to do in an emergency. Many a life can be saved by prompt action. From a multitude of cases the following are selected:

Instantly place patient face downwards, put a hard roll of clothing beneath pit of stomach to raise it as much as possible above the level of the mouth. Put one wrist under forehead to raise mouth off the ground. With hands spread out on patient's back, above the roll of clothing, throw upon it your whole weight with a forward motion, and keep up the pressure about three seconds, so as to force all water from stomach and lungs out of mouth, and end the pressure with a push. Repeat this twice and then, to make the patient breathe, turn him face upwards, the same hard roll of clothing now being beneath his back, the shoulders slightly drooping over it. Bend head backward and downward, putting throat on stretch to the utmost. Place hands of patient on top of head and keep them there. Strip all clothing from neck and waist, kneel astride patient's hips, grasp front part of chest on both sides pit of stomach, thumbs pointing to patient's chin, fingers fitting in the grooves between the ribs. Fix your elbows firmly, making them one with your sides and hips; then firmly pressing the sides of the patient together using your knees as a pivot, throw yourself slowly forward for two or three seconds until your face almost touches the face of the patient, and your weight presses upon his chest. End the pressure with a short push which suddenly jerks you back again to the upright kneeling position.

Keep three seconds while the ribs spring back; then repeat this bellows-blowing movement as before, gradually increasing the rate from seven to ten times a minute, but take the utmost care, on the occurrence of a natural gasp, not to interrupt it; but as the ribs fall, gently press them and deepen the gasp into a longer breath. Continue this until the natural breathing which you are imitating needs no further assistance. Don't get discouraged; keep it up for an hour. If at the end of that time all effort is unavailing, then will be time enough to close.

Browned at Clifton. Andrew Van Dusen, who was employed on the Tom Morris, fell overboard about ten minutes after six yesterday afternoon. The Clara Parker was passing at the time and the swell caused by her made the Morris roll slightly. Van Dusen lost his balance and fell over the stern of the boat and sank out of sight without a word. At last accounts the body had not been recovered. Deceased has relatives living near Los Angeles, Cal.

For a Seat Fitting Boot. Or Shoe, go to P. J. Goodmans, on Chenamus street, next door to J. W. Case. All goods of the best make and guaranteed quality. A full stock; new goods constantly arriving. Custom work.

Just Received. A large stock of soft and stiff Hats in all the latest styles, at McIntosh's Furnishing store.

False Report. The rumors circulated by our competitors in regard to our removing from Astoria are entirely false. We have come to establish a trade, and the encouragement we have so far received from the ladies of Astoria will show conclusively that we will be a permanent feature in our line.

The Oregon Blood Purifier is Nature's own remedy, and should be used to the exclusion of all other medicines in diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys.

"El Tropico," the best 5-cent cigar in Astoria, at Laighton's, Water street, between W 8th and W 9th.

STATE AND TERRITORIAL.

The Coquille fishermen are making war on the lion. The annual reunion of the Oregon Fish-ooner association will be held in Salem on the 17th and 18th inst.

There is considerable talk at Ilwaco of organizing a company to link a telephone line from the coast to the government telegraph wire to Astoria.

An interesting trial occurred last week in Linkville, Klamath county, in the case of a woman named W. C. Case, charged with the murder of Indian Agent Nickerson, who caused his arrest for traveling in the Klamath reservation with whisky in his wagon. The jury gave Webb $200 damages. A notice of appeal to the supreme court was filed.

There are now two steamers on their coast called Yucatan; one that used to run from Portland and Astoria to the bay of that name, and one recently from New York, and formerly known as the Western Texas. The universal idea is that the name of the late arrival should be changed again, as some change is not made there will arise inevitable confusion.

The directors of the Ilwaco, Shoal-water and Gray's Harbor Railroad Company held a meeting Tuesday. Jacob Kaman was elected president and J. W. Case treasurer. An assessment of 5 per cent. was levied, payable on the 15th of July. The directors are in favor of going ahead with the work, and they wish to see this fall as possible.—Pacific Journal.

Spokane Joe, the murderous swab, had a narrow squeak Friday at Wells. A deputy sheriff took him back to Spokane, and by mistake took Joe to the depot. James Severson, who was at the depot, discovered the mistake in time to send Joe back to the jail, and thus prevent the hand of Indians at the depot from killing him.

Says the Eugene City Gazette: We learn that the snow on the summit of the Cascade range over the mountains is about ten feet deep for a distance of about twelve miles. We crossed over that road with pack animals and cattle on the 26th day of June, twenty-one years ago, and had to climb over snow over ten feet deep one hard day's travel—a distance of about twenty-five miles. Snow is not usually so sufficient to enable animals to cross before the first of June, and the July is not entirely clear of snow before July or August.

Two years ago there were 756 votes polled in Astoria, 130 in upper town, 1,206 in the county. Most for governor, and 55 majority in Astoria, and 55 in the county. Trenchard for county clerk, had 56 majority in Astoria, the vote standing—Spedden, 312; Trenchard, 285; the vote in the county was—Spedden, 558; Trenchard, 527. In that election the Democrats carried Astoria, and the Republicans the county. Just how it will be this time is something that no one can possibly say, though from present writing it would seem as though the Democrats had got away with the bakery.

Wood grows east of the mountains, where earlier this year, to accommodate the views and requests of the dealers, who claim that late snow would become drier and filled with dust after the proper time for shipping, and hence of a lower grade and price. This year the snow is much lighter. Now the large cattle growers are in the midst of that annual excitement, called branding, when several cutting brands are run on each cow, getting from 100 to 1,500 in one big band, and in a suitable place, when the fat, big, Spanish style, with larist, two or three mounted men will pass the steers by the horns and ears, and pull them down, amid clouds of dust, blowing of animals, when the owner applies the brand and then repeat, till the whole is done.

"M'Liss." The dramatic adaptation of Bret Harte's well known story of "M'liss" was given last night. The character of "M'liss," taken by Julia Kendall, was portrayed in a manner which proclaimed a true conception of an untamed backwoods girl; and to her efforts—especially in her melody song—in largely due the loveliness of the play. Miss Fannie Simmons as a woman of the world, made the most of an important part, as did Miss Annie Mitchell, as "M'liss." "Tuba Bill" (Mr. H. A. Kendall) talked and looked like the tough California mail driver he was supposed to be. Mr. H. Russell as the pioneer father of "M'liss," supported the character so well as to fully detection which is given as a tribute to his talents. Messrs. Sanbrook, McKee and Knight completed the list of principal characters in this play of strong situations.—Victoria Independent.

The Chicago Convention.

A Chicago special of the 1st says: Four years ago the Sunday preceding the meeting of the Republican national convention at Chicago was a veritable bedlam. The fight then was the field against Grant and only after a desperate contest, lasting five days, were the "old guard" vanquished. The convention of 1890 met on Wednesday, but there were nearly twice as many strangers in the city the Sunday previous as there are to-day, the convention being only two days off. The Palmer house was then the headquarters of the Grant delegates; and the stairways from the local cities were on hand in full force, shouting loudly for their candidate and rather more willing to use their fists in argument than their tongues. An army of federal office holders sent here by the friends of Grant and Sherman swelled the mob and lifted their voices in words of the invective of a seventy-five cent license rotunda of the Palmer was swathed in flags, banners and streamers; a big oil painting of General Grant hung from the balcony over the main staircase, and it was with difficulty that a man could elbow his way through the curving, perspiring crowd to the headquarters of the candidates. Men stood in rows a dozen deep before the bars, and exulted in a manner not deeper than at any convention since that of the war. No such scenes transpired here to-day. Order reigned where chaos had prevailed. There were crowds of people in the hotels; the streets leading from the Grand Pacific to the Palace, LaSalle and Sherman houses were filled with people, and conversation talk was heard on every hand, but none of the angry feeling, factional bitterness and personal enmity of 1890 was perceptible to-day. There has been just as hard work, perhaps more assiduous and certainly not less scheming and maneuvering than four years ago, but it has been done quietly and in order. Instead of the wild speeches of politicians on the street corners, cheering for the candidates, the hordes of partisans and the brass bands the workers are laboring in secret.

If the blood circulation is unobstructed there is no chance for Bright's disease, and St. Jacobs Oil will increase the circulation.
