The house passed pessed by the free traders of the new a proper bill in the main, but struck Kentucky school. They want dis- out the clause forbidding the increase criminations in favor of free t ade, of the Bland dollars by the retire instead of the unbroken policy of the ment of the trade dollars. The sengovernment under all parties and all ate should restore the clause stricken vor of general productive industries, the bill thus amended. and they claim that all who favor revenue reform and a revenue tariff general business depression, bankare supporters of their cause.

All the Democrats of the country, or more of the Republicans believe in a revenue tariff, but two-thirds of all favor of general productive industries and against every form of creditors. monopoly. A revenue tariff and country; but "a tariff for revenue only," as now interpreted by the free trade school, is a revenue tariff that positively discards incidental protection and proposes to place the labor of America and Europe on exactly the same footing. The Democratic national convention will declare for a revenue tariff and for severe revenue reform in the broadest and clearest terms, with the approval of Pennsylvania as cordially given as Iowa or Kentucky could give it; but if a revenue tariff and revenue reform are to be interpreted in the platform to mean free trade, or the distinct rejection of every feature of incidental protection, New York. Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and the Virginias will be as certain to vote for a incident. It is now given out that it Republican president as Iowa and will probably be a long time before a Vermont, and will cut loose and swell the Republican majority. A decker. It is also intimated that the revenue tariff and honest, searching official will remain vacant until a sucrevenue reform will command the approval of the country; free trade and that the character of the Gerwill command the overwhelming dis- man appointment will depend solely approval of three-fourths of the states of the Union.

IT seems that there is no limit to the possibilities of invention of trade deceptions. The most recently exposed is one by which calf and other skins are made to resemble very closely alligator skins by a very ingenious process. A photograph having been made of a genuine alligator hide, a copy of it is produced in bichromated gelatine, which gives in relief all the curious markings, and from this latter relief representation a metal die is readily excuted. This die is pressed heavily on the cheap leather with the result of making it look so like the leather manufactured from the skin of the alligator as to deceive experts unless it is handled or examined. Any suitable stain can by imparted to the ficticious product.

THE Iowa coiners who have just been arrested for manufacturing standard silver dollars were no doubt moved by the ideas of the silver agitators to believe that if clipped money was the good thing they represented it, too much of it could not possibly be made. They probably thought this was a good time of year to make money to be used in "moving the crops." Their arrest will put a stop to a growing industry in which the government has asserted its own right to a monopoly. It is all right for the United States to make eighteen cents on every dollar put out, but it is wicked in a private citizen to do the same thing. This establishes the principle of coinage for revenue only.

In the American navy the dying words of the gallant Lawrence "Never give up the ship," have be come historic. At Boston a few days ago, as described in our dispatches yesterday morning, an humble press man in a newspaper office uttered words that almost deserve a place side by side with those of the noble commander. Extricated from the whirling presses, he gasped with his last breath: "Go shead with the press, boys. Get the edition off and don't lose any bundles." The readers of that paper a few hours later little suspected that a life had gone out in the effort to bring it to them fresh with the story of the world.

THERE is every probability that the "bar'l" will be a potent factor in the coming campaign. The simple announcement of such a possibility is enough to induce every "worker" to invest in a new pocketbook and brace up on the strength of great expectanouncement of such a possibility is up on the strength of great expecta-

WHAT CONGRESS SHOULD DO.

He will not be a candidate before the Chicago convention, and will not accept the nomination under any circumstances. The convention will meet to deliberate and to select the strongest man, and whether this man is Bayard, Cleveland, Field, Morrison, McDonald or Carlisle it is for the convention to determine."

LITTLE booms are looming up all over the political horizon, but, like all good things, they die young-so immature, in fact, that it is suspected they did not live long enough to draw one vigorous breath.

Tue most prominent presidential candidates will soon play the role of dissolving views and disappear without leaving the faintest trace on the political horizon.
