ASTORIA AND VICINITY.

The A. E. Field is off for Tillamook today.

The Carrie Winslow has arrived at Montevideo.

E. C. Holden wants to buy a small place near Astoria, and will pay cash therefor.

The quarterly examination for teachers' certificates will be held at the courthouse next Friday and Saturday.

Chaplain Scott will lecture to-morrow night on "Fruits of Destiny" and will administer the ordinance of baptism.

There will be a Scandinavian Blaine club organized at the upper Astoria schoolhouse at seven o'clock this evening.

Two excursions to-morrow: one on the Gros Miles to Fort Canby and Iwaco, and another on the Clara Parker to Skipanon and the sea beach.

The strawberry season seems to be about over, and raspberries, cherries and peaches now plump fill the enticing looking boxes at the fruit stands.

In the justice court yesterday afternoon came up the case of A. Baldetta charged with assaulting Mettlin a few days ago. He was held in $300 bonds to answer next Friday.

The closing exercises of the different rooms in the public school in district No. 1, which were begun this week, will continue next week. Parents are especially invited to be present.

Hon. T. McF. Patton, the newly-appointed United States consul at Osaka and Hiojo, Japan, accompanied by his family, leave on the Oregon to-day for their distant destination.

Columbia river salmon is taking a good many new routes to market this season. Among the newest is a shipment from San Francisco by the Southern Pacific to Havre and Hamburg last week.

The German bark Aedus, Heiners master, from La Paz with salt, arrived in yesterday morning, the Yukon, Bonraden, cleared for Queenstown; the City of Delhi and Woodlark have laid on to load salmon for Liverpool.

The Astorian is now in daily receipt of government hydrographic charts and notices concerning changes of lights, buoys, etc., in all ports, as fast as reported to the head office at Washington. Copies of these reports can be had upon application to this office.

Our California friends are damaged somewhat by the recent rains of the last week, which extended over a large area. Rain in June is to California destruction to small fruit and to feed for stock; to us it came peculiarly welcome, and was worth thousands of dollars to western Oregon and Washington.

Keeler, who was arrested on Wednesday on the charge of selling without a license, was given a jury trial in the police court yesterday afternoon. The ordinance not being sustained by the jury, which brought in a verdict for the defendant. He will probably take out a license to-day, and thus end the matter.

The first annual ball of the Foss No. 14, G. A. R. and Gushing Redia Corps No. 3, on the evening of the Fourth of July promises to be the event of the day—or night rather. The committee of arrangements are making every effort to have the ball a success and will doubtless succeed. The advertisement of the post and corps appears this morning.

"THE HIDDEN HAND."

White's original "Hidden Hand" ointment appeared in their great specialty at Occidental hall last evening and gave the best rendition of that piece ever produced in Astoria. The characters were well sustained throughout, the scenery and surroundings were well placed and the play deserves a larger audience than was present. The third act was especially good, and the troupe have the credit of being thorough in their work. They go to California on the Oregon to-day.

Temperance Work.

ED. ASTORIAN:
 At 7:30 o'clock Colonel Hawkins will deliver a temperance lecture in the Presbyterian church, and to-morrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Congregational church he will talk to the children of the several Sunday schools, as it is understood they will unite at that place. A Band of Hope will be organized, and it is hoped that all parents will take their children, whether members of Sunday schools or not, and it is desired that all the young people will also attend and assist in the work of temperance.

A Castaway Bottle Picked Up.

The following is taken from the Pacific Commercial Advertiser of May 24th: Yesterday, Mr. W. H. Cummings handed the contents of a bottle that he recently picked up on the beach of the island of Kahoowale, consisting of four business cards, bearing the following names:—

"J. J. Mack & Co., No. 11 Front street, San Francisco. Represented by Wm. Mack."
 "Thos. J. Veach, office 223 Sacramento street, San Francisco."
 "Z. B. Adams, Tourist. Address, J. C. Johnson & Co., 12 and 14 Pine street, San Francisco."
 "James E. Bryan, representing Louis Kluge & Co., No. 110 Bush street, San Francisco."

On the back of the letter is written in pencil:

"At San Francisco, May 5th, 1883, 'Fairwell Vain World.' 'All of us.'"

The late hour at which the cards were handed to us prevents us from investigating the matter further. Anyone attending the parties above mentioned, might possibly throw some light on this affair.

In addition to the bottle, Mr. Cummings reports having hauled ashore 150 lbs. of red wood, which has apparently been in the water for a lengthened period.

STATE AND TERRITORIAL NEWS.

Garroters have been at work in Portland.

The Seattle sheriff is said to be a busy man.

The Columbia is falling at points above.

One hundred women have registered as voters in Seattle.

Seattle has raised $200 toward the 4th of July celebration.

The steamer Enterprise is at Victoria with a bursted cylinder.

The Victoria papers advise the people to filter the hydrant water.

There are 1700 men now at work on the Oregon Pacific railroad. It is rumored that 1000 more Chinamen will be put to work next month.

The Yakima Signal says that Henry Villard came out to the Washington territory legislature like an angel from heaven, told them what he wanted done, and they did it.

The quantity of Pacific coast wheat about is now $382,542 cts from California and 65,712 cts from Oregon, and of four 309,710 bbls California and 172,713 bbls from Oregon.

The Victoria Standard states that 200 laborers left there for San Francisco on the last steamer in a high state of wrath, having been deceived into coming to the province under promise of work, which was not.

Out of eighteen logging camps in operation this spring on the Schoonahash and its tributaries, eight have already shut down on account of the recent fall in the price of logs, and several more are about to cease operations until prices advance.

Capt. W. P. Gray has been exploring the upper Columbia with the view of putting on a steamboat. He asks the Yakima people to help him by taking their goods at Priest's Rapids instead of The Dalles. He speaks for the O. R. & N.

At Salem on the 19th, the jury in the case of the State vs Mary Swartz, charged with complicity in the murder of her husband, David Swartz, returned a verdict of not guilty after being out but a short time, no evidence having been introduced that in their minds implicated her in the crime.

Track laying on the Oregon Railway & Navigation company's road has been completed to La Grange, and the locomotive has entered the town for the first time. The road will be pushed along as rapidly as possible, and will be finished in about two months to a junction with the Oregon Short Line.

Says the Laconner Mail: "There is great stagnation in the logging business at present, and the camps are shutting down in all directions. Logs are down to $1.25 per thousand, and of course there is very little money in the business at that rate. Besides the camps already closed on the Stillaguamish and Skagit, it is likely that a number of others on the latter stream will soon discontinue work."

The Northern Pacific train was delayed twelve hours last Thursday by the caving of the east end of Little Iron tunnel, near Butler, fifteen miles west of Helena, Montana. Baggage and express had to be transferred by wagon. The train was also delayed by a partial washing away of a bridge across Gallatin river, eighty miles east of Helena. The road has since been repaired and the trains are running on time again.

On the 19th, in Portland, the directors of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company held their first meeting and elected the following officers: President, T. Jefferson; vice president, first vice president, C. H. Prosser; second vice president, George O. Manchester; secretary, Theodore Wiggant; assistant secretary, Alfred Hodgman; treasurer, F. R. Nourse; assistant treasurer, Lincolnton Wiggant; comptroller, C. J. Smith. The Oregonian thinks that this looks as if there is to be no change in the personnel of the management.

General Miles, commanding the department of Columbia, has issued orders in compliance with instructions from army headquarters, for the transfer of the Twenty-first infantry to the department of Columbia. Company A, now at Boise barracks, will proceed to Fort Kussell, Wyoming territory; companies B and D, at Fort Towner, will leave on the steamer for San Francisco on the 24th; for Fort Sidney, company E, at Fort Klamath, will proceed via Redding and the Central Pacific, to Fort Sidney; the headquarters, band and companies F, G, H, I, and K, at Vancouver barracks, will leave on the steamer next Wednesday for Fort Sidney via San Francisco. The Fourteenth regiment is now on the way to this coast. (George W. Wainwright, Major, will give Gen. H. A. Morrow, colonel of the Twenty-first infantry, and commander of the barracks, a farewell reception this evening.)

She Took the Whole Lot.

"Do your women customers bother you much?" asked a citizen who was talking with a Woodward avenue grocer the other morning. "Well, they seldom want to pay the prices. It seems natural for them to want to beat down the figures. There comes one now who probably wants strawberries. Here are some fresh ones at 15 cents per quart, and yet if I should ask her only 11, she'd want them for 10."

"Say, try it once, just for a joke. If she asks the price, put it at 11. The grocer agreed, and presently the woman came up, counted the sixteen boxes of berries under her nose, and of course inquired, 'How much?' '11 cents,' he said. 'Yes, sir,' 'Yes, sir,' 'Fresh ones?' 'Yes, sir.' 'How much?' 'Only 11 cents per box.' 'I'll take the whole lot,' she quietly observed, as she handed out a five-dollar bill and took 'em she did. The citizen disappeared at that moment, and the grocer somehow believes that it was a put up job between the two.—Detroit Free Press.

ACROSS THE CONTINENT.

The house of representatives passed the Pacific railroad bill on the 19th.

The question of S. J. Fisk's probable Democratic presidential candidacy is receiving much attention in the east. Southern delegates are for Cleveland.

The information published in San Francisco recently that several hundred Chinamen had left the hold of a ship whose small-pox was raging, and had scattered over the city, created a sensation which has not yet been calmed.

Gen. Grant was found at his New Jersey residence on the 18th reading a morning paper on the piazza, his lame leg resting on his crutch. He was asked how the republican ticket suited him, and replied: "I am out of politics entirely."

The port is not reconciled to the outlook of affairs in Egypt, and representatives of the powers insisting that England's self-imposed task of restoring order in Egypt is so far completed that the moral authority and prestige of the sultan is amply sufficient, it says, to insure internal tranquility. If, however, in the powers' opinion, military force is necessary, such force might be supplied by the sultan alone or in conjunction with England, France, Italy or Spain.

In the house Randall is opposed to the insertion in the consular and diplomatic bill of $250,000 for a state department necessity for this money it is understood, the state department wishes to use to further negotiations for a treaty with the Nicaraguan government, which shall accord to the United States control of an interoceanic canal route across the isthmus. There is strong opposition to this appropriation. Capt. Eads, who wants to build a ship railroad across the isthmus of Tehuantepec, and representatives of the Panama canal enterprise, are here, bitterly opposing the appropriation. The representatives of the Nicaraguan canal, on the other hand, are doing all in their power to secure it. This appropriation was made by the senate in secret session, and it is impossible for money to be voted by the house in such a manner.

A dispatch from Sonora, Cal., gives particulars of one of the most curious and tragical probably that ever occurred. Edmund Gallagher, 22 years old, shot Mrs. Otis Greenwood in the face and breast with a double-barrelled shotgun. Her son Otis ran after Gallagher and fired twice at him without effect. Robert Watson pursued Otis Greenwood, and the latter turned on Watson and shot him twice in the neck and back. Watson fell, whereupon Watson's son opened fire upon Greenwood, but the latter escaped to Sonora, where he surrendered. Learning the facts, the sheriff started for the scene and arrested Gallagher. Both Greenwood and Watson were lodged in jail. Greenwood and Watson have since died. The tragedy was the result of a dispute about Watson running away from Greenwood's mining claim. Mrs. Greenwood was the widow of a once prominent lawyer in the locality. The others are all respectfully connected.

CLAIMS ON CANNED GOODS.

The abuse of reclamation privileges has destroyed more friendly business relations than any other influence known to the trader. It is strange that some equitable understanding of the rights of shipper and consignee cannot be established and maintained, especially where both are obviously anxious to continue the harmonious and profitable commercial relations which have existed between them for years. In canned goods, heavy reclamation has often threatened disastrous consequences to the exporter who has sent out his goods confident of the return of a handsome profit on the consignment. There is often some show of modesty in the presentation of an unusually heavy demand, but in many instances, consignees will unblushingly present a claim which would consume not only the brokerage but the pecker's profit as well. Arguments and explanations follow, and it is a long time before the matter is adjusted, and even then the consummation is far from satisfactory to either party concerned. A correspondent of the London Standard, in a recent attention to the unsatisfactory condition of the canned goods trade in respect to the matter of claims as at present existing throughout the trade, says: "The subject is one of great importance, and we consider the large capital invested, the enormous turnover, combined with a continued annual increase in the demand and consequent rise in the price of business. There appears to be a want of any recognized rule or accepted principle throughout the trade on this head as between the buyers and sellers; and we have ourselves experienced much difficulty in arranging satisfactorily the differences which have frequently arisen between the importer and the purchaser after the inspection and examination in bulk has taken place, resulting in some instances in renunciation of contract, coupled with dissatisfaction and unpleasantness. A ten per cent. examination is general recognized as an average, but when this is taken and the result proves unsatisfactory, in the opinion of the buyers or sellers, as the case may be, a second examination is demanded and taken, with, as often happens, a like result. Many brokers sell upon the following: 'Many brokers to be settled on result of examination of not less than ten per cent. of the cases for average.' But, supposing the parties interested do not agree and elect to have the whole of the bulk examined, who is liable for the cost in the second instance? Recently we had a case in point—a sale of a few thousand cases of salmon, sold under the usual clause of ten per cent. examination for blow, short and pricked tins. The result, according to the buyer's opinion, embraced the following in the average: 'Blow,' 'short,' 'stained,' 'pricked,' 'collapsed,' 'dented,' 'light,' and showing claims amounting to over three per cent. upon the whole parcel; whereas the importer's allowance was equal to one-quarter per cent. The portion of the correspondent will be best appreciated by those who, in recent experience, have felt the burden imposed by one of the peculiarly-adjusted modern reclamations.—California Grocer and Cannery.

FRANK AND CLEAR.

Having Admitted the Strength of the Evidence a Prominent Physician takes Logical Action.

The following letter tells its own story. The signature will be recognized as that of the Physician-in-Chief of the De Quincey Home, and author of "Drugs That Enslave." "The Hypodermic Injection of Morphine." A Manual of Narcotics and many other popular and valuable special medical works:

191 WEST TENTH STREET, NEW YORK, August 11, 1882.

MESRS. SEABURY & JOHNSON, Gentlemen:—Like most of my profession, I am cautious about pinning my faith to any new medicine or curative agent. But your BENSON'S CAPICINE POROUS PLASTER has broken through the barriers and won its way to my good opinion. My attention was first called to it some eight months ago by a patient of mine. Although I was well acquainted with the superior excellence of your other plaster and antiseptic dressing, made especially for the profession, the Benson's was comparatively new to me. I had heard, however, of its merits as a remedy, in cases of Lame Back, Local Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Congestion of the Bronchial Tree, and Lungs, Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver and the like affections, and have since begun to experiment with it personally. I find BENSON'S CAPICINE PLASTER an exceptionally cleanly plaster to use, and rapid in its action.

Many tests of its qualities, made in my own family and among my patients have convinced me that there is no single article so valuable for popular use, nor so helpful in the disease I have named.

Should you desire to do so, you may use my name to that effect.

Very truly yours, H. H. KANE, A. M., M. D.

The genuine have the word CAPICINE cut in the center. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.
