

Isom Lanning & Co. of the Red Crown Flouring Mills Albany, have just bought 100,000 bushels of wheat at 60 cents per bushel. Most of the wheat was secured in Linn county.

A CENT A POUND for wheat is not much encouragement to the Willamette valley or Eastern Oregon wheat raiser.

Which ever way the Oregon wheat raiser turns he sees a depressed market. In the East it would be but little inducement for him to attempt to find a market, for the railroad company would charge him the difference between the price in Portland and in Chicago, for carrying it to the latter city.

The Dalles Times-Mountaineer is informed "by a reliable person" that it is the intention of the Baker City branch of the Oregon Railway & Navigation road to extend it to a junction with the Oregon Short Line at a point near Snake river.

A NUMBER of clerks in the Portland O. R. & N. Co.'s offices were discharged Monday night, says the News, and it is possible more of them will go in a few days.

By an act of the Oregon legislature the Oregon Pacific railroad was given exemption from taxes for twenty years, provided they completed their road by October 19, 1884.
