licans in the October struggle of that year settled the national battle and made Abraham Lincoln presi-dent. The state committee organized the party in every election district, had the ablest speakers in every sec-tion of the commonwealth, twice made a careful estimate of the whole vote of every election precinet, and the entire amount of money expend-el was $12,000, of which $2,000 went the entire amount of money expend-ed was $12,000, of which $2,000 went for renting headquarters and halls and $3,000 for printing. The entire expenditure of the state committee in 1860 would not now pay ordinary and incidental office expenses of the committe of the same party, although the vote of Pennsylvania is not now classed as doubtful, and the committee's expenditure in this state has reached, in subsequent national con-tests, full ten times the expenditure of 1860. What causes have thus multiplied the cost of political cam-neight a whole lot of others. These peopaigns in a state that is not regarded ple were not content to receive the as debatable? And if the cost of campaigns has thus multiplied in un-disputed states, what must be the cost of campaigns in disputed and were plainly a privileged class, though Phil, BOWHES.
