

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:
FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1884

OREGON'S PRESIDENTIAL VOTE.

The total vote of the United States at the last presidential election before the civil war (1860) was as follows:

For Lincoln.....	1,866,332
For Douglas.....	1,375,157
For Breckinridge.....	845,763
For Bell.....	869,581

Total vote.....4,776,833
From 1860 there was no presidential election at which every state voted till 1872. In 1864 there were eleven southern states not voting. In 1868 Virginia, Texas, Mississippi and Florida did not vote. In 1872 all the states, thirty-seven (Colorado was not then a state), voted, with this result:

For Grant.....	3,597,090
For Greeley.....	2,834,079

Total vote.....6,431,169
The vote at this election was far short of a full one. The Fusion candidate, though he received the endorsement of the Democratic national convention, could not control the Democratic vote in the southern states, as is manifest from the fact that he received majorities in only six of the sixteen. In 1876 the contest was a square issue between the Republicans and Democrats, and the vote—all the states voting—was as follows:

For Hayes (Rep.).....	4,033,950
For Tilden (Dem.).....	4,284,885
For Cooper (Greenback).....	81,740
For Green Clay Smith (Pro'n).....	9,522
Scattering.....	2,536

Total votes.....8,412,733
The next presidential election was in the census year of 1880, with this result:

For Garfield (Rep.).....	4,440,053
For Hancock (Dem.).....	4,443,035
For Weaver (Greenback).....	307,146
Scattering.....	12,576

Total votes.....9,201,970
The increase in the four years from 1876 to 1880 was 788,237 votes, or just about 9 1/2 per cent. If, therefore, we add 9 1/2 per cent to the vote of 1880 we shall closely approximate the total vote that will be cast at the election in November this year. Thus:

Total vote, 1880.....	9,201,970
With 9 1/2 per cent added.....	839,690

Probable total, 1884.....10,170,660
The presidential vote of this state presents the following interesting figures. In 1860 the vote was as follows:

For Lincoln.....	5,270
For Douglas.....	3,951
For Breckinridge.....	5,006
For Bell.....	183

Total vote.....14,410
In 1864 the vote was

For Lincoln.....	9,888
For McClellan.....	4,527

Total vote.....14,415
showing an increase of nearly 20 per cent.

In 1868 the vote was

For Grant.....	10,961
For Seymour.....	11,125

Total vote.....22,086
Being an increase of about 20 per cent.

In 1872 there were cast

For Grant.....	11,819
For Greeley.....	7,730
For O'Connor.....	572

Total vote.....20,121
An apparent loss of 8 per cent, but which is directly traceable to the refusal of many Democrats to vote for Greeley.

In 1876 Oregon's presidential vote was as follows:

For Hayes.....	15,206
For Tilden.....	14,149
For Peter Cooper.....	510

Total vote.....29,865
An increase of more than 35 per cent. over the vote of 1868.

In 1880 the vote was

For Garfield.....	20,618
For Hancock.....	19,950
For Weaver.....	245
Scattering.....	67

Total vote.....40,880
An increase over the vote of 1876 of 11,015 or nearly 37 per cent.

Allowing an increase of 33 1/2 per cent, which does not seem under the circumstances too much, it would appear that on the 4th of next November the commonwealth of Oregon will poll 54,507 votes for president of the United States.

Apart from the historic value of these figures they admirably illustrate the growth of our state for the last quarter of a century.

While several shocking things have been published about Cleveland's character, he has received unstinted praise from many great and good men. The Rev. Mr. Beecher recently proclaimed Cleveland "an angel of light." There is no doubt that the genial Grover, notwithstanding his adverse avowals, needs only wings to qualify himself for the high order of beings referred to by Mr. Beecher. In this wicked world angels are so scarce that anything resembling one should be received with joy and gratitude. An angel of light hovering over the white house and shedding a heavenly lustre upon the capitol would be a spectacle compared with which the Bartholdi Statue of Liberty would sink into insignificance. Seriously, we hope, for the sacredness of American manhood, that Mr. Beecher's encomium on Cleveland is a deserved tribute to his character.

The entire expenditures of the government are being carefully indexed in great volumes. The work is being done and done well by a $900 woman clerk, under the supervision of a chief of division who receives $2,000.

It is said that when Governor Cleveland was sheriff he proved himself to be a man of exceptional ability. During one year, it is claimed, he put in and received pay for 863 days' attendance. If it be true that the man who can make two blades of grass grow where only one grew before is deserving of high honor, what shall be done to him who can take time by the forelock and condense two years into one? With such a capacity for condensation, Cleveland would make a capital president. The usual term of four years would be reduced to two, and everything would be run on the double-compound pressure plan. The chances of both Blaine and Butler diminish proportionally as the cuteness and capability of Cleveland come to light.

The Iowa municipal and district courts are crowded with liquor cases. The energy which for several years has been expended in procuring a prohibitory law, is now devoted to securing its enforcement, and litigation is the order of the day in all the large towns.

In nineteen years the national debt has been reduced from $2,750,000,000 to $1,450,000,000, and the annual interest changed from $150,000,000 to less than $50,000,000. No other nation has ever made such a record.

The charge that will worry Ben Butler the most is the one which George Francis Train lodges against him. He says Butler stole the ideas in his letter of acceptance from his (Train's) speeches.

The astonishing fact is brought out by a writer in the September Century, that out of our total population of over 50,000,000, the white population of native parentage is only 28,601,676.

COL. BLACK DOG and Major Strike Ox were the rival candidates for chief of the Osage nation, in Kansas, at the last election, and the Colonel was victorious. Every dog has his day.

"Two classes," says Butler, "the very rich and the very poor, are hurtful to the people of the Republic." He prefers a medium condition, say about two millions.

The population of the United States increases at the rate of 32 per cent. every ten years. At this rate there will be 88,000,000 inhabitants in 1900.

N. C. BARNETT, renominated by the Georgia Democrats for secretary of state, is 90 years old and has held his present office since 1842.

Enough copies of the tariff speeches delivered in the last congress were printed to give one to every voter in the country.

HENRY VILLARD will live in Berlin in the future. He wants to get as far away from Wall street as possible.

Six years ago steel rails were sold in this country at $172 per ton; now they are quoted as low as $28 per ton.

THURMAN has been wasted upon our invisible navy $387,000,000 within the last eighteen years.
