Notice To Advertisers.
 THE ASTORIAN guarantees to its advertisers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia River.

Order seems to be plentiful of beverages just now.
 The State arrived in at noon yesterday; the Oregon sails to-day.

The Portland Evening Chronicle is dead—water on the brain.
 The annual meeting of the Occident Packing Co. will be held to-day.

Cornelius Taylor will address the Democracy at Occidental hall this evening.
 The annual meeting of the Washington Packing Co. will be held November 5th.

The Lingo Law comes down today. The City of York is also on the way down.
 The Hunter arrived in from Shoalwater bay yesterday afternoon, with a load of oysters.

The Portland Mechanics' fair begins next Thursday. Astoria will send a respectable delegation.
 The Clarence S. Bennett, previously reported arrived in yesterday; the George F. Benson crossed out.

The A. E. Field came in at eleven last Thursday night, and left out for Tillamook last evening. She took 800 sacks flour.
 A dollar saved is two dollars earned. Earn two dollars by getting your cards, bill heads, letter heads, etc., at THE ASTORIAN OFFICE.

At two o'clock this afternoon E. C. Holden will sell, without reserve, a consignment of ladies' cloaks, fancy goods, etc. See adv.

A blaze in the rear of a barber shop next to R. R. Marion's saloon, yesterday morning, was put out with little damage to surrounding property.
 Major John J. Rogers, 1st artillery, was ordered on the 29th inst., to proceed from Fort Canby, W. T., to department headquarters on public business.

There may be finer weather than this somewhere, but the latitude and longitude of its location had not been ascertained up to the time of going to press.
 Prof. A. J. Francis arrived from Victoria yesterday. Orders for piano-tuning, etc., may be left at the Occidental. The professor will be here about ten days.

The Cleveland and Hendricks Democratic club will have a meeting at Occidental hall at 8 o'clock this evening. Col. Cornelius Taylor of East Portland will address the meeting.

School in district No. 9 begins in upper Astoria next Monday. Prof. C. C. Brown and Miss Davis will have charge for the ensuing term. There will be a probable attendance of 85 or 90.

The four-masted schooner building at Oos bay by Simpson Bros. has been housed over and operations have been suspended on her for the present. The great depression in the coasting trade is the cause.

From Seaport, Me., comes an invitation to the wedding of Miss Ada B. Pennington and Mr. E. A. Noyes, which took place on September 29, at the residence of the bride's parents. THE ASTORIAN tender its best wishes.

"I give you verbal notice to leave."
 "Let's see your verbal notice." "Well, I can't let you see it, I tell you, I tell you, I don't care, I want to see it."
 "I couldn't show him a verbal notice and that's what caused the row."

A detachment of twelve men of the Fourteenth infantry, from Vancouver, arrived at Fort Stevens last Thursday evening, under Lieut. Richard Yeatman, relieving the present detachment under Lieut. A. H. Merrill, which goes to Fort Canby.

Major Kimball, chief quartermaster of the department, returned from Alaska on the 24th ult., and Lieut. H. T. Allen, 3d cavalry, A. A. D. C., leaves on the outgoing steamer for that territory, under orders to proceed to the mouth of Copper river, Alaska, on public business.

There have been several gentlemen in the city and on a visit to Tillamook recently who contemplate going into the dairy business in that place on an extensive scale. They will milk 400 cows, and have a large cheese factory. That section is admirably adapted for the industry.

It is at once amusing and painful to note the columns written regarding the "Irish vote" and the "German vote," as though the "Irish" or "German" vote was something new in this place, though sold at so much a bundle. How would it do to talk a little while about the American vote?

The Blaine and Logan club had an effective drill at headquarters last night. They were divided into companies and put through military evolutions. Owing to the impossibility of securing a suitable steamer to day trip to Westport has been postponed till after the regular meeting next Tuesday.

Here's what New York people pay for their meats: Prime roasts of beef, 22 cents; porter house roasts and steaks, 30 cents; sirloin steak, 22 cents; fillet of beef, 50 cents; corned beef, 12 cents; loin of veal, 28 cents; leg of veal, 22 cents; veal cutlets, 28 cents; mutton, hind quarter, 16 cents; fore quarter, 12 cents; fresh caught salmon, 40 cents.

In all elections not otherwise provided for by the constitution of the state of Oregon, every white male citizen of the United States, of the age of 21 years and upwards, who shall have resided in this state during the six months immediately preceding such election; and every white male of foreign birth of the age of 21 years and upwards, who shall have resided in this state during the six months immediately preceding the election, and shall have declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States one year preceding such election, conformably to the laws of the United States on the subject of naturalization, shall be entitled to vote at all elections authorized by law.

Scandinavians.
 Members of the Scandinavian Blaine and Logan Club, and others who desire to work for the election of Blaine and Logan, under the auspices of said club will please to meet this evening, at the Blaine and Logan Wigwam, at 8 o'clock P. M., to transact business of importance.

SEIZURE OF THE SCHOONER ADELE IN ALASKAN WATERS.

The Craft Confiscated and Turned Over to the United States Marshal.

The Schooner Adele arrived from the north Sunday in charge of a prize crew commanded by Lieut. J. Lutz of the United States revenue cutter Thomas H. Corwin. She was seized at the north and confiscated to the United States Government for violation of the fishing laws.

PAPERS OF THE ADELE.
 The papers of the Adele gave her register at fifty tons (British measurement) and certified that she sailed under the German flag. When seized she was owned by Gustave Erickson, master, and A. Wilson, A. C. Folger and G. Hansen, mates in the order named. She had on board two white men whose names do not appear on the ship's papers, and who passed as passengers. There were twenty-four men all told on board of the Adele when seized, the crew of eighteen being all Japanese and speaking little or no English. The Adele was built in Hamburg, from which point her papers were taken out. Although sailing under the German flag, not one of the white men aboard of her are of German nationality. Erickson being a Norwegian, Hansen a Swede, and Wilson and Folger Americans. The two unknown men were certainly not Germans, neither were they passengers as claimed. They were more indignant at the seizure than were the officers of the Adele. The German ownership in the little craft is supposed to be only a nominal matter, because for the last three years she is reported to have been sailing in and out of Shanghai as a pilot-boat, clearing Yokohama on her last disastrous cruise. The officers and two passengers worked in all probability, as do whalers, namely, "cut lay," or, in other words, receiving a proportionate share of the net proceeds of the voyage. The eighteen Japs, from all that could be learned from their talk, had no other interest save their wages, being engaged at so much a month for a voyage to last a definite period.

LIEUTENANT LUTZ.
 Lieut. Lutz sailed from San Francisco on April 29th inst., on the cutter Thomas H. Corwin. He was detailed to protect Outer island and surrounding seal islands from marauders. Under his command were scows Bray and L. L. Lucas. There is on Outer island a frame building erected by the Alaska Commercial Company for the protection of the government vessels. Lieut. Lutz has passed two cruises on the island previous to this. He had observed nothing unusual until last August. Then two or three small vessels were seen to windward on various occasions. Two of them were sailed as if about to land. A fog shut in and at the end of two or three days, when the fog lifted, the vessels had disappeared. The revenue party left Outer island for St. Paul's on the 29th. On the 29th they saw a schooner off St. Paul's, the crew of which were leisurely shooting seals as they bobbed up.

TWO VESSELS WATCHED.
 On the 30th of August the two native whalers, Bray and Lucas, stationed themselves to watch the two vessels that passed and were standing to the northward. A watch was kept all night, and at daylight on the morning of the 31st of August one of the schooners was observed lying to about twenty miles to the northward. A fresh gale was then blowing from the west. The weather thickened in the afternoon. A light drizzle fell and the schooner was lost sight of once more. A vigilant watch was instituted. Half an hour after midnight she was discerned steering about one mile to the northeast point. She was standing down the beach of St. Paul's island. The picked crew was immediately aroused, the whaleboat launched and the lieutenant set out in pursuit. At 1 o'clock the morning of the 1st inst. the whaleboat came alongside the marauder, after a pull of a mile and a half. Her people were evidently taken by surprise. The vessel proved to be the Adele, riding at anchor. Captain Erickson was aboard all alone. He acknowledged that he was sealing, and that his three boats were ashore making a catch. Soon after the three boats returned to the Adele laden with the carcasses of seals newly slaughtered, whereupon the schooner was seized and the twenty-four men made prisoners.

FORWARDED TO THE UNITED STATES.
 The vessel and her tackle, apparel and furniture, becomes forfeited to the United States, and each man on board engaged in the marauding is liable to a fine of not less than $300 and not more than $1,000, or imprisonment for not more than six months or by both such fine and imprisonment. Capt. Erickson was willing to submit to the seizure. The other white men, and especially the two "passengers," made a great fuss, one of them drawing a revolver. They made such a show of resistance that Cap. Erickson braced up and vowed he would out the cable and leave the Adele to go adrift. "I ordered my men to have their rifles handy," said Lieut. Lutz. "The Captain looked at the arms, found them all right, and went off to study the weather. The crew being prisoners, the lieutenant proposed to take them to the wharves of the Adele, as it was policy for him, on account of his very small crew, to remain on as friendly terms with his prisoners as the exigencies of the case would permit. The twenty-four men of the Adele were fully equipped with rifles. The white men refused to sail with Lieut. Lutz. The vessel having been seized, and they having further interest in her, they abruptly declined to aid the officer to bring back their own vessel to a port for confiscation. The 18 Japs refused allegiance to the new commander, because they did not like to go to a foreign country and jeopardize all claims for wages earned on the cruise. The white men refused to be recaptured from him. The six white men were therefore sent on shore to be kept in custody until the arrival of the Corwin, and nine of the Japs were persuaded to remain by the vessel, on the representation that the course would be the surest for them to get their pay for their seven months' voyage.

A STRAIN CHASE.
 Two more vessels were reported on the arrival of the Adele at the village, and it was also reported that one was then taking seals from the beach. Lieut. Lutz set out in pursuit and overhauled the vessel eight miles to the northeast of the island. The marauder would not leave to the lieutenant to board her, and two shots were fired, one across her bow and one into her rigging. The schooner, under way, was on the next morning in the boat. A stern chase and a desultory fire resulted in nothing. None of the revenue party were hit. The schooner got away at dusk and the chase was discontinued. Returning to the village Lieut. Lutz, with seamen Bray and Lucas and nine Japs, sailed in the Adele for San Francisco on the 24th inst. The Adele's steering apparatus was found to be out of gear, and other repairs had to be made, necessitating a delay of four or five days. The party came through rough Onimack passage on the 1st inst., since which day she has met with fog and variable weather. The Corwin is expected to arrive in this port on or about the 1st of the next month with the officers and the other nine Japs of the Adele, who with the nine now with Lieut. Lutz, will be surrendered to the marshal for trial. It is not supposed that anything will be done with the Japs, they being ignorant persons who shipped as seamen and with no knowledge of the real purport of the cruise. When captured they were made to skin the carcasses of the seals brought in the three boats. The schooner had therefore on board a cargo of 348 seals, ten other skins, seventeen seal-ion skins, thirteen fox skins, two tons of salt and two tons of fish. As she has no crew in the harbor she is valued at about $8,000. She has to be condemned before being sold on behalf of the government. The Merchants' Exchange records her as being registered to the United States marshal.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Johnson's New Universal Cyclopedia.
 Our best critics and educators pronounce Johnson's cyclopedia superior to all others. Europe honored it above all. At the Paris exposition in 1878 two medals were given it. By Hon. W. E. Gladstone, prime minister of England, says: "The amount of information is truly wonderful." "Extremely useful to all classes."—Hon. Chas. O'Connor, LL. D. "More information than can be found in any other."—A. W. M. Woolsey, LL. D. "For condensed and accurate information, Johnson's comes nearer to completeness than any other work of reference I have ever examined."—Rev. A. J. Libby, general manager for the coast, Portland. For further particulars, address as above.

He Wouldn't.
 Up in Shornton they had an alarm of fire, and the boys rushed for the machine. Old Joe Baker, who had for thirty years taken the end of the rope, stood with his hands in his pockets. "Whoo'er up, Joe," cried out Sam Draper. "No, sir; didn't I tell yer if you bought that new nozzle I'd not go with yer?" In a moment some one cried out, "It's Joe Baker's barn that's on fire." "D'y'e hear that?" shouted Sam Draper; "it's yer barn which is burning." "Can't help it," he said; "I wouldn't stick out if it takes a leg."—Boston Journal.

Lime in Baking Powders.
 Prof. R. A. Withams, M. D., Medical University, Buffalo, N. Y., who is the authority, says that "Calcium Tartrate (improperly called tartrate of lime), advertised as the lime found in Baking powders is derived from the wines that produce cream of tartar. It is a constituent of the great and other fruits and is absolutely harmless."

The Century will begin with the November number of the present year, and contain the history of the war, in all its separate papers, the object of which is set forth in clear and graphic manner, the life and spirit of the most important of modern military campaigns—the war of the Union. The main portion of the scheme will be papers of a popular character on the great engagements of the war, by general officers high in command at the time, either upon the Union or the Confederate side. In many instances the contributor will be the officer of first command, and in every instance a participant in the engagements under consideration. For instance, the battles of Shiloh and Vicksburg will be described by General U. S. Grant, who will contribute four papers on the subject. Beauregard will write of the First Bull Run; General McClellan, of Antietam; General Rosecrans, of Stone river, etc., etc. The Passages of the Forts below New Orleans will be described by Admiral Porter, and the Western Gunboat service by Rear-Admiral Walker, and the fight between the Monitor and the Merrimack by Colonel John Taylor Wood, the senior surviving officer of the latter vessel. Other prominent Confederate generals have engaged to contribute, and some of these contributions will be hardly less notable than those above mentioned. In several instances briefer supplementary papers chronicle special incidents or consider special phases of an engagement. Personal reminiscences of the several of the most prominent military leaders, now dead, will also give variety to the scheme.

Mr. John Lee, farmer, Ashbourne, Mudgee, N. S. W., Australia, writes, that he suffered intense agony for several months, with scintillation, and that the first application of St. Jacobs Oil, the magical pain-cure, relieved him and in a short time he was cured.

A Fine Display.
 At Mrs. Malcolm's Millinery Parlors there will be a fall opening of fine goods to-morrow. The goods are all new, and the readers should attend. STATE AND TERRITORIAL NEWS.

Willamette valley farmers can't give fruit away.
 Work progresses on the Cascade branch of the N. P. R. R.

Wheat is worth 32 cents a bushel in "trade" in Eastern Oregon.
 The stone steps of the Clackamas court-house have been attached.

The Ledger is after the Tacoma chief of police with a stick sharpened at both ends.
 John Daly, of Vernonia, Columbia county, has twenty hands at work picking hops.

Wheat receipts at Portland for September amounted to 320,811 bushels, 2,000 centals more than for the same month last year.
 There are said to be 50,000 sheep running wild in the San Juan islands, off Washington territory, which can be sheared only once in four or five years.

There are fully half a million pounds of hops on the vines in Puyallup and White river valleys in immediate danger of being lost, owing to the scarcity of pickers. Some crops are already raised from the same cause and will not be picked.

The suit of W. B. Dillard against the Northern Pacific railroad has been transferred from Columbia county to the United States circuit court in Portland. The suit is brought to recover $515 alleged to be due for services rendered as an attorney.

The law school of the state university of Oregon will be opened at Portland next Friday. The occasion will be interesting, as being the inauguration of a movement for affording better instruction to students at law than they have heretofore been able to obtain north of California.

The Northern Pacific company has just completed a hospital at Missoula, which is by far the best institution of the kind on their road, with the exception of that at Brainerd. It cost $30,000. Its two wards will accommodate eighteen patients each, and besides it has ten rooms for private patients.

The report of the superintendent of the state prison shows that the total expenses of the institution for the quarter ending September 30, was $5,083.00; total earnings, $3,551.56. The production of the bricks was 400,000 bricks. The number of convicts at the close of the term was 256, while the average number during the term was 247.

In the case involving the validity of the rules allowing women to act as qualified jurors, appealed from Judge Greene's court to the supreme court of the territory, the decision of the lower court was sustained by Judges Hoyt and Winland. Judge Turner gave a dissenting opinion. It is said that the matter is to be taken to the United States supreme court.

Charles Galloway died at the home of his son, Hon. William Galloway, near Bellevue, on the 1st, aged 85 years, 1 month and 8 days. Deceased had been an invalid from paralysis and old age for the last three years, and was confined to his bed during the entire period. On the day of his death he appeared unusually well, but shortly before 12 o'clock he died very suddenly of what is supposed to be the result of the heart. He was of Irish-Scottish descent; his father served during the Revolutionary war, and he himself was in the Blackhawk war, serving under Governor Dodge. He came to this state in 1824, and settled in Yamhill county, where he has since resided.
