ERRONEOUS STATEMENTS.

ASTORIA, Or., Oct. 13, 1881.

En. ASTORIAN: Referring to the very good send-off you gave in the Sunday morning's Astonian to the Democratic club meeting of the evening before, we would like to say that we dropped into the club meeting when it was partly through and heard one of Times and the Chicago Times-"all Republican popers," he said—and that they all assured us that the Democrats will certainly win in the Ohio election.

Now we have read the New York Herald for over forty years, and the Times ever since it was started, and have known the Chicago Times for many years, and will simply state that the Herald never was and pure restanded to be Reamblish. and never pretended to be a Republican paper. The most it ever claimed in that direction was to be independent. It has direction was to be independent. It has always been the most cranky, crotchety, independent, devil-may-care paper in New York. The late Horace Greeley called it and all similar papers "the Satanic press." At the commencement of the late civil war the Heratia advocated the separation of the south from the north, and the separation of the west from the east, so as to make three independent confederacies. pendent confederacies.

The Chicago Times has always been strong Democratic.
The New York Times has always been The New York Times has always been a quasi Republican paper and for the last ten years or more a free trade organ. The Republican party has for a few years pest tried to get rid of the New York Times. All three of those papers are ultra free trade.

Now if all the statements made at that club meeting were as much lacking in truth as that concerning those three papers, then the old saying will come to It is now considered certain that the pass of when the blind lead the wind the will all probably fall into the pit to be connected in six weeks' time,

From all such streams the dead bodies of salmon are seen floating out by handreds, which probably give rise to the idea entertained by some, that all the salmon which go up the rivers die without returning to salt water.—Oregonian.

The boiler of the steamer Clatson Chief has been recovered. It will be remembered that the Chief was run into by the steamship Ovegon at Willow bar, about three years ago, and was sank. When the steamship struck the Chief the latter for the last eight months, and her demise was not unlooked-for. Mrs. Dement was widely known and universally respected in this state, where so many years of her life had been spent. She leaves a large family, who are all grown up, and living in various portions of Oregon and Washington. The remains will be interred at Oregon City, and will be brought up on State next Saturday.

Was keeled over and cat in two her whole length, her boiler going to the bottom. There it has laid ever since in forty-six feet of water. A few days since Capt. S. F. Douglas, of the Westport, undertook the job of raising it, which, with the aid of a barge, diver and jack-screws, he successfully accomplished in two days. TO-DAY'S ELECTION.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.-The Herald to merrow will contain estimated majori-ties from every county in the state, except Hamilton county, in which Cinexcept Hamilton County, in which can-cinnati is situated, showing a net Repub-lican majority of about 19,000. This allows for a prohibition vote not much larger than last year. It is possible that this vote may reduce the Republican majority, and there may be an increase in the Democratic vote, through extenwill be very large.

CINGRATTI, Oct. 12.—Extremists on the Democratic side claim Hamilton county by 5,000, while the same class on the Republican side claim it by 2,503. Cooler-headed men in both parties think Hamilton county will be close, and that probably a mixed ticket will be elected. Speaking about the outlook for Ohio, in comparison with that of the corresponding time last year, Judge For aker, Republican candidate for governor in 1883, who has stumped the says it is much more favorable to the Republican cause. "Why, we have all the wool growers, who said they were ashamed for voting against me last year; and announced their intention to vote for General Robinson.

for General Robinson.

Gen, Noyes, ex-minister to France, has returned from a stumping tour of the Ohio valley. He says: "I have no great hopes of Hamilton county, but the state does not and never has depended on it. There is no discouragement in the pros-pect, but I tell you one thing, the river counties will do better than the reserve, but the Democrats are putting up their money. At Gallipolis a Republican told me that money had struck this county in bulk. One thing is certain—thousands of $60 ac to square of Democrats in Ohio will vote for Blaine who may not vote for Robinson. I do not see why Blaine's majority should not see why Blaine's majority should not be 25,000. As it I, I think the stale will go 10,000 next Tuesday for the Republicans. The tariff issue has been the king-nin of the caumain.

Columbus, Oct. 12.—The Democratic state central committee claim the state by 8,000. The Republican committee say they will have a Republican majority of 10,000. On Saturday last our reporter noticed by 8,000.

New Yong, Oct. 12.-After the Chicago convention John Kelly received several letters of a threatening character, one especially violent being from Baltimore. Since then Mr. Kelly has received a number of missives of the same character, the latest being from Philadelphia, in which Kelly

THE KEELY MOTOR.

The Philadelphia papers announce a successful exhibition of the Keely motor. The Times says: "The exhibition included experiments in firing projectiles from the Keely gun, the lifting of weights by pressure of vapored ether and the operation of one of the smaller vibratory engines. After charging the generator with less than one pint of water, which Keely injected into the machine from his month, the inventor turned several levers, struck a chord to put the vibrators in tune, and announced that he had produced motive power sufficient for the evening's work. The generator was not charged again during the entire exhibition. He first transmitted vapor from the receiver in such a way as to act upon the receiver in such a way as to act upon a one-inch plunger, set in a steel cylin-der, and supporting a powerful lever, weighted with 682 pounds of iron. Sim-ple computations showed that a power of nearly 12,000 pounds was required to lift the weight which hung from the long The instant Keely made his first expulsion into the small copper tube con-nected with the cylinder the plunger was seen to rise, carrying with it the enormous weight pendant from the long arm of the lever. The entertainment was concluded with an exhibition of a fifteen-horse power vibratory engine, set up in the room above the ground floor. Vapor was introduced from the generator by a copper tube, passing through a hole in the flooring. Power was still furnished by the original mouthful of water injected into the machine by the inventor. Early in the evening visitors crowded around the simple looking contrivance with the most intense interest. When Keely turned the lever there was a rushing sound, and in a moment the wheel began to revolve. It continued at a uni-form rate of revolution for half an hour, form rate of revolution for half an hour, and the combined power of the strongest muscle in the audience and the heaviest levers failed to retard the progress of the little wheel. Then Keely reversed the wheel, stopped it, wiped the perspiration from his brow and smiled proudly, while the gentiemen joined in three hearty cheers and a "tiger" for what they regarded the most complete exhibition the garded the most complete exhibition the inventor had yet vouchsafed his giant
