

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1884

LATEST FROM OHIO.

A Probable Republican Majority of 18,000.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, 7 P. M.—Ten wards and precincts show a net Republican gain of 178 over the vote of 1883. Returns from the western part of the state indicate that the vote will be the heaviest ever polled in the state. The Republicans are claiming gains, but there are not enough returns in yet to indicate the result: 7:30 P. M.—The bulletins for the Ohio vote will be based upon the vote of '83, when the Democrats had a majority of 12,529. There are 1,892 wards and precincts in the state. It will require an average of seven votes to the ward or precinct for the Republicans to overcome the Democratic majority and carry the election. Twenty-two wards and precincts show a Republican gain of 289. Thirty-five wards and precincts show a net gain of 389; this includes a large number of wards from cities, but no returns from Columbus, Cincinnati, or Cleveland.

8:30 P. M.—Forty-five wards and precincts show a net Republican gain of 576. No returns from the large cities. Kenton, Ohio, the home of Gov. Robinson, show a net Republican gain of 182. The 15th ward in Cleveland shows a net Republican gain of 218. Returns up to now, including a number of medium sized cities and precincts show that if the same rate is kept up all through the state there will be

A REPUBLICAN MAJORITY OF 18,000.

9 P. M.—Ninety-six wards and precincts show a Republican gain of 1,422.

8:30 P. M.—Returns from thirteen wards and precincts in the state of West Virginia, show a net Republican gain of 113. One hundred and fifty precincts in Ohio show a net Republican gain of 1,926.

The wards of the city of Columbus are divided into twenty-seven precincts. Returns from six show a net Republican gain of 107. One hundred and seventy-eight wards and precincts in Ohio give net Republican majority of 2,484.

The Republican majority on secretary of state in 1880 was 16,000; comparing the 226 precincts and wards received with that year shows a net Democratic gain of 318. The same ratio throughout the state would give a Republican majority of 16,000. Comparing the 226 precincts with the vote of 1883 shows a net Republican gain of 3,670; the same ratio of gain throughout the state indicate a Republican majority of 13,000; 324 wards and precincts in Ohio show a net Republican gain of 4,830.

Three hundred and sixty-six precincts and wards in Ohio show a net Republican gain of 5,627.

The latest from West Virginia at 11 P. M. indicate that Wilson, Democratic candidate for governor, has carried the state, but no figures are given.

11:30 P. M.—Fifty-five precincts in Hamilton county show a net Republican gain of 2,744. This is about one-half the precincts in the county. 471 wards and precincts in Ohio show a net Republican gain of 7,317.

The Wheeling Register (Dem.) claims the election of Wilson, Democratic candidate for governor of West Virginia by from 7,000 to 10,000 majority.

11:35 P. M.—Seventy precincts in Hamilton county show a net Republican gain of 3,758. McKinley (Rep.) is elected to congress from the 20th district. Butterworth (Rep.) from the First district, is also elected.

11:45 P. M.—331 wards and precincts in Ohio show a net Republican gain of 8,417.

11:45 P. M.—585 wards and precincts in Ohio show a net Republican gain of 9,886.

11:55 P. M.—Brown, Republican, is elected in Second district.

12:10.—Late returns show increased Republican gains. We have heard from a little over one third of the state, if the remaining two-thirds are correspondingly Republican indications are majority will exceed 19,000, and probably reach 20,000.

Very meagre returns from West Virginia give nothing positive as to result. Seven hundred and seven wards and precincts in Ohio show net Republican gain 10,939. Foran (Dem.) is elected to Congress for 21st Dist.

1 A. M.—768 wards and precincts in Ohio show net Republican gains of 11,969.

1:40 A. M.—Returns from West Virginia are very meagre, but Republicans concede the election of Wilson as governor.

1:50 A. M.—If Republican gain through the state continues as the 825 precincts so far heard from show, the Republican majority in the state will be 16,500.

THREE different civil engineers have made estimates of the quantity of water pouring over Niagara Falls every minute, and there is a difference of two quarts between the highest and the lowest.

A PHILADELPHIA official stole the roof of the poor house and sold it, but one in Hungary sold the doors and windows and floors as well, and herded the inmates in a barn.

CYRUS W. FIELD, who has lately made a visit through the northwest, has expressed his opinion of this section, and is very flattering. But, says The Dalles Times Mountaineer, what good will rich country do settlers if the products or the soil are taxed so high for transportation that it does not pay them to cultivate the soil? It is a fact in Eastern Oregon and Washington that wheat is no longer remunerative on account of the high freights. The farmers of any portion of the northwest can raise an abundance, but what is the use of spending labor on a crop when it only brings 35 or 40 cents a bushel after being hauled fifteen or twenty miles to a shipping point.

At the last meeting of the Portland Board of Trade, a communication was read from Henry Hewett, "calling attention to the fact that some ships had been taken down river drawing much less water than others, thereby causing heavy loss to the owners, and intimating that it was of little use to spend money in dredging the river if pilots are to be allowed to fix the draught of ships at any figure they fancy." The best way out of the difficulty to which Mr. Hewett directs attention is to load vessels where such a pull-dog-pull-devil style of doing business need not obtain. Load the sea-going vessels at Astoria and save the interests of the "farmer."

When the state Republican convention assembled in this city last spring a majority of the delegates were determined to instruct for Blaine, and howled down all suggestions that it might be well to send uncommitted delegates. Their enthusiasm for Blaine was boundless; what has become of it? Did it melt in its own fire? Certain it is that nothing has been heard from these gentlemen since.—Yesterday's Oregonian.

Certain it is that the Oregonian is either troubled with lapse of memory or else is "conspicuously inexact."

A good deal has been heard from the men that hurrahed for Blaine in that convention, and a good deal more will be heard from them in the remaining three weeks. But isn't the Oregonian beginning its crawfish movement a little previous, as it were?

SOME twenty libel suits have been brought against Oregon newspapers during the past year by irate individuals who fancied that they were aggrieved by personal remark. They have all dropped through and gone by default. Injured individuals are sometimes apt to confuse definition of character with defamation of character.

The New York Daily Commercial Bulletin reports the losses by fire in the United States and Canada during September at $9,200,000, a larger loss than ever before known in September. So far the fires of 1884 have been at a rate which, if kept up until the end of the year, will make the year's fire loss foot up $111,000,000.

The Seattle Post Intelligencer keeps up the fight against the N. P. R. R. and calls upon the people of Washington territory to rebuke the recent Republican convention that nominated Armstrong by defeating the nominee.

The figures for Massachusetts show that the workmen of that state produce a value of $696 a year each, and receive in wages $247 a year each. In Boston the average value of a workman's labor is $850 and his wages $500.

The telephone of the future will take up a whisper at one end and deliver it as loud talking at the other. It will be done by relaying the voice midway in the transmission.

In Pennsylvania the average workman's labor is worth $730, and his wages are $350. In Maine a workman's labor is worth $566 a year and his wages $257.

The international prime meridian conference in session at Washington has adopted the meridian of Greenwich from which to determine the world's longitude.
