tion and selection of all candidates.

We in the United States decided at the start to found our government on the census returns. Perhaps that is has it on good authority that Gov. as good a way as any, though when Cleveland will shortly be united in one realizes that a few hundred votes in New York state neutralizes the hundreds of thousands of majorities in eighteen sister commonwealths, it looks a little unequal.

It is not wholly wise to sneer at politics as being a matter of self interest. It is self interest that prompts the best things on earth, and it is "self interest" that holds us together as a nation. If any political result interfere with the prosperity of the nation, which is only an immense aggregation of individuals that self interest which prompts every one to "look out for himself." will be the poise to keep the country from going too far toward possible destruction. Persons will always want protection for property, and the tural wish for prosperity will always exert force—under any political rule.

In times like the present, when men are excited and auxious, and all eyes are turned toward the Empire state to see who has the vote, Blaine or Cleveland, are heard expressions of doubt as to whether after all our style of popular government is the torial tor style of popular government is the best. That is not the question. The real question is what is fittest, not what is best. Our system of government is best fitted for our age and time; it is most satisfactory to us as a people, for our institutions are in line with the spirit and temper of the time. With all this coming and going of the great tides of public feeling, the ship of state cannot help rocking a little. But on board a ves sel there is never any danger because the ship is in the water: the possibility of danger lies in the water being in the ship.

There is no occasion for any worry. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE undersigned has been appointed administrator of the estate of Charles Wallman, deceased, and all persons having claims against said establishment must present the same, duly verified, to her at her home, in the city of Astoria, Oregon, within six months from this date.

EVA WALLMAN.

November 8th, 1884. We have too high an opinion of the American people to suppose that any body is going to lose his scalp in any counting of ballots. Good intent, earnest effort, honest work and reliance on one's own rights always insure enough of this world's goods to satisfy the contented man. In New York 1,300,000 men walked to certain polling places and were counted, and it appears that those who wrote certain names on pieces of paper exceed by a few hundred those who wrote other names on other pieces of paper, and in good time we will all know and recognize that there is "nobody

But it will seem singular to a good many, to have a Democratic president. The Republicans have elected their president so often that it had begun to be taken as a matter of course by a good many people who never knew anything different. To those who were born in this country since 1856, and to those who came here from across the sea since 1861, there never has been other than a many, to have a Democratic presi-

Republican president; and to that class numbering several millions, the coession of a Democratic chief executive has at least the charm of novelty. It will take some time to get used to it. Men whose memories go back to
