Pay your bets. President Cleveland. Read Cooper's new adv. Twenty-four years and out. Everyone reads THE ASTORIAN. The Columbia is due to-morrow. Did you carry a torch last night? Conkling, St. John, Burchard & Co. The next election will be for councilmen.

Well; the next thing will be something else. Phthisis is reported at Corvallis. Phthisis too bad. The Glasgow cleared for Newcastle yesterday with 55,619 bush wheat, worth $38, 219.

Republican hopes have gone glimmering through the dreams of things that were. Cleveland carried New York by 1,241 plurality in a vote of a million and a quarter. And now that the election is over and the country is safe let's all get back to work again.

The Washington Territory Board of Pilot Commissioners will meet at Ilwaco on December 4th. Services at the Presbyterian church at 11 A. M. and 7 P. M. Rev. E. W. Garner, pastor, officiating.

Divine service on board the Pettengill lying at Parker's dock at 4 P. M., Rev. J. McCornac officiating. There will be a special meeting of the Astoria Ladies' Coffee club at two o'clock to-morrow afternoon at Liberty Hall.

Don't forget the social that the Astoria Ladies' Coffee club will give at Liberty Hall on the evening of Thanksgiving Day. Cleveland is the first presidential candidate whose name began with a "C" that was elected. Clay, Cass, Calhoun, Crawford, and all the rest of the "Cs" were beaten.

Services in Grace church to-day will be celebration Holy Communion at 9 A. M.; morning prayer with sermon at 11 A. M.; baptism at 4 P. M.; evening prayer with sermon at 7 P. M.

The Oregonian reports that river towage rates have given way under competition, and recent contracts for the round tow between Astoria and Portland have been made as low as $100 for barges of 900 tons register.

The trial of J. Botger yesterday, in Justice Goodell's court on a charge of selling liquor to John Hull, an alleged minor, resulted in a verdict of "not guilty" by the jury, Hall stating that he claimed to be over 21 years of age.

Mr. H. B. Parker, who for the last nine years has so successfully conducted the Parker House has been obliged by reason of pressure of other business to lease his property to some one who can devote his whole time to its management.

The closing exercises of the week of prayer will be held at Y. M. C. A. hall this afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. Half hour song and praise service from Moody and Sankey's Gospel hymns. Everybody is cordially invited to attend this Gospel meeting.

The Oregon Democracy will have a grand rally and celebration at Portland on next Wednesday, the 19th inst. There will be a large delegation from Clatsop county. Those who wish to participate can leave on the Fleetwood Wednesday morning, that boat furnishing tickets for the round trip for $2.50.

The City of Athens drops down to bar anchorage this morning. She is loaded, has her crew, and is virtually ready for sea, but there is some hitch about her ability to get clearance papers, Mr. Laidlaw, who represents the San Francisco charterers, objecting. It is thought that an effort is being made to sell her cargo.

Mrs. Wallman has leased the new hotel recently erected by H. B. Parker, on the corner of Squeemoqua and West 6th streets, and will conduct a general hotel business. This is a fine building in a good location, and under the expert management of Mrs. Wallman will certainly obtain its share of public patronage. It will be known as the Germania Hotel.

Mr. J. H. Close has leased the Parker house and will hereafter have the entire management of that well known and popular hotel. Mr. Close is well fitted for the position, having for the last six years had the responsible situation of steward on the boats of the O. S. N. Co., and later of the O. R. & N. Co. He has had large experience, is well and favorably known, and brings with him in his new field the prestige of personal popularity.

Astoria Democrats were not quite so previous as some of their brethren farther east who proceeded to exercise their vocal propensities while still surrounded by a boundless contiguity of shade, but when they did "turn loose," it was with a vim. Last night will long be remembered in the political annals of Astoria, and some of the paraders when old, gray-headed grandfathers will tell their gripping ancestry of "the night we celebrated the election of Cleveland and Hendricks."

All Democrats Who wish to go to the grand Democratic demonstration in Portland on Wednesday, will meet at the club rooms of the Cleveland and Hendricks club, on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of making arrangements and mode of march. C. J. TRENCHARD.

Removal. Mrs. A. B. Jewett has removed to rooms 3 and 4, Odd Fellows Building. Dresses cut, made and fitted in the most fashionable style. PRAEL BROS.

Ladies remember that we allow you to wear the Ball's corsets for three weeks on approval, and return purchase money if not found perfect in every respect. ANOTHER INSTALLMENT OF BALL'S COILED SPRING, elastic section corsets just arrived at the Empire Store.

THE DEMOCRATIC CELEBRATION.

Music—Torchlight Procession—Illustrations—Bonfires—Cannon—Hurrahs—in Honor of Cleveland and Hendricks.

Astoria was lit up last night from one end to the other, on both sides and up and down the middle. The night was fine, the dust was laid, everyone was on deck and the entire programme was carried out. The streets were brilliantly illuminated; many of the stores and numerous private residences were resplendent in rows of lights from first floor to garret. Considerable taste and ingenuity was displayed in the decorations, and Republicans and Democrats saw that the lower lights were kept burning. Shortly after dark the cannon on Fife's wharf began to thunder out its hundred booms and the echoes reverberated among the hills. At 7:15 the procession was formed at the headquarters of the Cleveland and Hendricks club, which was a blaze of light. The procession marched in force to Upper Town, where it was met by a large delegation, and at half past eight the procession, now of great length, moved down Squeemoqua street, up Cass and along the lines of march. The Astoria Brass Band and the Cushing Post G. A. B. Cornet Band played patriotic airs, sky rockets and Roman candles filled the air, red fire made radiant the route, flags waved, men in the procession and on the sidewalks cheered, and at nine o'clock the procession reached the city hall.

After countermarching on Squeemoqua brief remarks were made from the balcony of the engine house by Messrs. Trenchard, Curtis, Cleveland and Hart. The remarks were mostly congratulatory of the fact that during the course of the campaign which had resulted in a Democratic victory the utmost good feeling and cordiality had prevailed on both sides. Hearty cheers were given for Cleveland, and at the proper suggestion of one of the speakers three cheers were given for St. John. Good order and harmony characterized the entire proceedings and after depositing the torches at headquarters the procession dispersed.

POST MORTEM EXAMINATION.

New York, Nov. 14.—The World prints this morning the following special from Augusta, Maine: Emmons Blaine who is now in New York, had a long conversation with a lady here, just before he left, in which he completely unbossed himself as to the views his father takes of his defeat. This lady in turn tells the story to me, and I betray no confidence in giving the substance of it. According to Emmons Blaine, the elder Blaine thinks he would have carried New York by a large majority, had he been elected, if the election had taken place a week before it did. He now regrets, above all things, that he stopped in New York on his return from the west, for it was there, during the last week of the campaign, that the two fatal blunders were committed, which would not have been committed if he had been elsewhere. The first was the celebrated lapses of Dr. Burchard, and the second the Delmonico dinner. When Blaine heard that Gould was to be one of the guests of the Delmonico dinner he protested against going, not because of any personal dislike to Mr. Gould, but solely as a matter of expedience; but both William Walter Phelps and White-law Reid said he must go, that it would be worth $1,000 for every plate on the table. Blaine resisted their appeals up to the last moment, but they finally pushed him into a carriage, and said that he would be no refusal. He was at that famous feast as an unwilling guest, and now, since the disaster that followed, he sees more plainly than ever that he was right. This is undoubtedly an authentic version of the rupture that now exists between Blaine and Messrs. Phelps and Reid.

Blaine's Sentiments.

New York, Nov. 14.—An Augusta, Me., special gives a copy of a letter from Mr. Blaine to a distinguished New York Democrat, who wrote to him, expressing the hope that he (Blaine) was making no attempt to influence the count of votes in New York. Blaine replied to-day by asking in what possible manner he could influence it, directly or indirectly, and then adds: In the whole controversy I have no desire except for a fair count and an honest declaration of the result. The Republican national committee have asked on their judgment at every step, and need no advice from me. I do not wish any political supporters of mine in New York to take the slightest advantage of mere technical defects in any returns where the honest intention of the voter is expressed. I would far rather lose than gain by the exclusion of returns on mere technical grounds. The presidency is not desirable if there be the remotest taint on the title. Promotion of that kind no more leads to honor than the possession of forged papers leads to wealth.

The Henry Villard.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The American ship Henry Villard has arrived at Plymouth in a sinking condition having collided off Portland light to-day with the English ship Madgebury. The latter sunk instantly and the crew, seven men, were drowned. The Villard belongs in Portland Oregon. (The Villard was one of the three American built iron ships of which so much has been said, and was 1,533 tons register. She was chartered by Sison, Church & Co., of Portland, to load flour for Queenstown at 28s and sailed June 8 last with 17,828 barrels valued at $141,765. The vessel was launched at Chester, Pa., in 1882, and brought a cargo of railroad material to the Oregon Improvement Company of Portland, by whom the vessel was owned.)—News.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

A Complaint Against School District No. 1, Asking that the Directors be Enjoined from Further Proceedings.

Hiram Brown, H. W. Corbett, Jacob Kamm, C. H. Page, Wm. H. Gray, James T. Gray, J. H. D. Gray, M. Rogers, Geo. W. Youm, James Taylor, Robert Caruthers and W. E. Warren have brought suit against School District No. One, I. E. Parker, C. H. Stockton, Louis Hartwig, W. E. Dement, J. O. Bozorth and Wm. G. Ross, asking that defendants be enjoined from collecting sundry taxes now advertised as delinquent on certain property in this city, and paying bonds issued in the name of the district. Plaintiffs allege in their complaint that defendants on April 30, 1883 and September 22, 1883, "did on or about said time enter into a conspiracy and combination, one with the other and all together, with the intent and the avowed purpose to cheat and defraud these plaintiffs of their property as aforesaid under color of law and decree that said papers called bonds and coupons of school district No. 1, be null and void, ultra vires, and of no force, value or effect whatever, and that said district and the officers and directors thereof, be restrained and forever enjoined from the payment of said bonds or any part thereof, or any interest thereon." That said tax levy made by said meeting false, fraudulent and void, and that said district and its officers and directors be restrained and forever enjoined from collecting said tax and taxes, or any part thereof.

C. H. Page, Dolph, Bellinger, Mallory and Simon are attorneys for plaintiff. The complaint was filed yesterday in the office of the county clerk.

A Point for Columbia Salmon Cannery.

An English journal says: The employment of steel in the manufacture of tinplate is rapidly increasing, owing to the cheap rate at which steel can now be produced, and it is likely to lead to excellent results in a direction which was not contemplated. The American canned and tinned meat trade has long been aware of the dangers to health that are frequently incurred by those who use this class of provisions, and is beginning to insist that tin should be made of steel instead of iron as heretofore. It is considered probable that many tinned foods, and especially fish, which were formerly tainted, as it was thought from defective soldering, are really made injurious to the customer through the use of the faulty iron in the cans. The can production has now assumed such gigantic proportions that the employment of mild steel in this direction will necessarily be on a large scale also.
