Skilled operators always in attendance, and the most minute attention paid to pictures of children. Don't forget the location, S. W. corner First and Harrison streets, up stairs. No trouble to show specimens to visitors. Street railroads pass the door every ten minutes, and this is the nearest gallery to the five principal hotels.

CLEVELAND EXPRESSES HIS VIEWS.

Boston, Nov. 22.—In the course of an interview with a representative of a Boston paper to-day, President-elect Cleveland, speaking of the business and manufacturing interests of the country, and the effect of the change in the administration on these interests, said: "It goes without saying that the Democratic party is made up of merchants, business and workingmen, and everybody surely desires good times and realizes that all the people must be prosperous to insure that result. We have 55,000,000 people, almost boundless resources, hundreds of the strongest financial institutions in the world, thousands of enterprising merchants, the most skillful manufacturers, and the most intelligent farmers and workmen on the face of the earth. Now, surely a country with these characteristics has every qualification for solid permanent prosperity. It will be my aim, and the aim of all associated with me in the conduct of affairs at Washington, to give the people of the United States a safe, economical and conservative government. The fact that so many business men and manufacturers and working men voted with the Democratic party this election shows that they were not afraid of a change in the administration. The Democratic party, in its Chicago platform, meant what it said and said what it meant, and will carry the provisions of that platform which relate to the business interests of the country into effect. The most important thing is a restoration of confidence and a determination to forget partisan heat, and devote our lives to things which tend to the substantial welfare of the country and all of its people. In this work every man should feel that he has a part to perform."

Utah Possibly, but Not Dakota.

New York, Nov. 22.—S. E. Redmond, a merchant of Salt Lake, in the city, says it is understood in Utah that the first step the Democrats will take will be to admit Utah as a state. This would give them two United States senators, and add slightly to their strength in the lower house. Mormons are all Democrats. The Tribune says: "Dakota, we fear, has irretrievably ruined its chance for immediate admission as a state. This has been done by giving a majority of about 60,000 for the Republican delegate to congress. The territory now has a population of about half a million, and is entitled to three members of congress and two senators, but the Democratic majority in congress last winter steadily refused to admit the territory as a state for no other reason than it would give its electoral vote to the Republican candidates."

There have been several close elections in this country in the past. In 1839, Edward Everett was defeated for governor of Massachusetts by 2 majority. A change of one vote would have thrown the election into the whig legislature and elected Everett. In 1840, Pennsylvania only gave Harrison 349 majority over Van Buren on the official count. The votes were counted and certified, and the electoral vote given to Harrison. In 1844, Polk lost Tennessee, his native state, by the official count of 113 majority. In 1848, Johnson was elected over Longstreth in Pennsylvania by 305 majority on the official count. In 1850, Horatio Seymour was defeated for governor of New York by Washington Hunt by 262 majority, and again in 1854 by Myron H. Clark by 309. In 1879, Plained, the Democratic candidate for the governor of Maine, received 234 majority. The official count was necessary to decide.

It is currently reported that a new enterprise has been entered into by an Oregonian, who has made arrangements to kill ducks and geese on Goose lake, can them and ship to San Francisco. A thousand tin cans have already been ordered, as a starter, and also a lot of wool sacks to hold feathers. If the scheme meets with the success anticipated a narrow-gauge railroad will be built from the lower end of the lake to Redding, next summer, in time for the fall and winter shipment of canned meats.

Two cattle kings of the coast, Messrs. Miller & Lux, are rated at $8,000,000 to $10,000,000, and were poor men twenty years ago. They have about 9,000 head of cattle and 115,000 of sheep, of which latter they kill 6,000 per month. They own an irrigating canal worth $1,000,000, fence 300 miles in length (a fortune in itself), in California 600,000 acres of land, in Nebraska 10,000 acres and 15,000 acres of alfalfa grass.

There are so many seals in the river at Oregon City that salmon catching with a seine has been suspended.

Fashion's Use of Flowers.

Either for wedding or funeral a design in flowers may cost you from $5 to $100. Some funeral notices say, "omit flowers," but no effort has been made to exclude the beautiful things from weddings. Their beauty soon perishes, while Brown's Iron Bitters, which costs but a dollar a bottle, is of permanent use in restoring red roses to pale cheeks, curing dyspepsia, weakness, malaria, etc.

What to Talk About.

Keep clear of personalities in general conversation. Talk of things, objects, thoughts. The smallest minds occupy themselves with personalities. Personalities must sometimes be talked because we have to learn and find out men's characteristics for legitimate objects; but it is to be with confidential persons. Do not needlessly report ill of others. There are times when we are compelled to say, "I do not think Bonner a true and honest man." But when there is no need to express an opinion, let poor Bonner swagger away.
—Dr. John Hall.

The two great parties of the country are nearly balanced as to voting strength. The Democratic party came into power by the votes of every southern state and by the aid of a voting population within a radius of forty miles from the City hall of New York as a center. The manner of that election is now, and will be hereafter, a matter of grave concern. Practically, the states which seceded from the Union are about to place a new administration in power. Just at this stage it may be noted that the southern states are prosperous. Much of this prosperity results from the administrative policy which the Republican party has enforced for twenty years. Every one of these states was brought back into the Union through that policy. Since the close of the war these states have had the advantage of the best financial system ever known in the history of the country. The tariff has done them no hurt. So far from this, it has stimulated and fostered important industries in that part of the Union. The southern states have begun to work up their raw material, manufactures have sprung up, business has rapidly increased, the market for the great staples of the southern states has been, for most of the time, a good one. The southern states today have no real grievances other than the old and unforgive one that they have been compelled to come back and take their places in the Union, and that slavery has been abolished.

In the recent Connecticut state election, Walter Duggan, for governor, received 67,880 votes, while Harrison, Republican, received only 66,436. Walter's popularity was 1,253, but as there was a considerable scattering vote, he lacks 984 of a majority of all the votes cast. Under these circumstances, as the constitution requires that the candidates for state offices shall receive a majority over all, neither of the candidates named has secured an election by the people. The provision of the law in the premises is then that the lower house of the legislature shall elect from the two candidates receiving the largest number of votes. As the lower house is Republican, Mr. Harrison will be elected, although he received 2,441 less than the combined opposition. This is the second instance in history where this has been done, the first occurring six years ago when Governor Andrews, Republican, was chosen by the house.

A political phenomenon in the late vote in King county, W. T., is that in a total vote of 5,165 the highest candidate on the Republican ticket, Sheriff McGraw, received a majority of 2,563, and the highest Democratic candidate, Voorhees, a majority of 2,246, a difference of 4,809 votes between the highest Democratic and the highest Republican majority.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites.
Very Palatable and Efficient in Wasting Diseases.—Dr. C. T. BROEMSEN, Rochester, N. Y., says: "After having used Scott's Emulsion with decided benefit upon myself, I have taken great pleasure in recommending it since in the various conditions of wasting in which it is indicated."

The late election was the closest seen in New York for at least fifty-six years.
