COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Repeal of the Twelve O'clock Ordinance.
The city council met in regular session last evening, Mayor Hume presiding.

To the Common Council of the City of Astoria: Gentlemen—We would respectfully ask that you honorably enact an ordinance authorizing police officers of the city of Astoria to arrest all children who may be away from their homes at night up to such an hour as you may deem proper, and who may be out without permission from those who are parents or guardians of such children, that the peace and quiet of families may not be disturbed at night and the moral welfare of the youth may be improved thereby.

The petition was referred to committee on health and police.
A petition was read from J. Botzger, asking for transfer of license and granted.

The Oregon Improvement Co. give notice of great reduction in price of coal.
It is particularly desired the old board of fire directors meet at the office of C. W. Fulton this evening at 8 o'clock.

The Emma Hume is fast being put in nautical trim, and presents a handsome appearance, as she lies at the Main street wharf.
It is now considered certain that Voorhees is elected congressional delegate from Washington territory by something over 100 majority.

Tickets for the Astoria Ladies' Coffee Club entertainment to-morrow evening are procurable at the drug and book stores, at C. H. Cooper's and Pral Bros.
At four o'clock yesterday afternoon a loaded bark was reported outside with pilot on board; the wind was blowing 45 miles an hour at the cape and heavy rain was falling.

The Emma Hume cleared for Queens-town yesterday, with 35,453 bush wheat, worth $23,300. She has a queer name for a bark, and is thought of greater tonnage than many barks.
Daniel Chambers, aged 40 years, died at his residence on Cedar street, yesterday morning of typhoid fever. The funeral will be from his late residence at two o'clock this afternoon.

"Ultimate America" is the subject of Rev. Jos. C. G. Jones' lecture at the Presbyterian church this evening. Tickets, $1, can be procured at the drug or book stores. The lecture begins at 8 o'clock.
A neighbor inquires if it would not be wise to have the legislature enact a law this winter, forbidding any but citizens of the state to take claim in the waters of the state, including the Columbia river.

La Grande claims "the finest school-house in the state, outside of Portland." Astoria has a very fine school-house which cost $30,000, and it is questionable if La Grande has one that is larger or presents a finer architectural appearance.
The Yaguna Mail, published at Newport, is to hand. It is an eight-page weekly, edited by E. G. Jones, is well printed and full of interesting news. It talks loudly for its section and deserves substantial support.

A meeting of the Blaine and Logan club was held last evening at the wigwam at which the accounts of the campaign were audited and all outstanding indebtedness ordered paid. The club discharges every dollar of financial responsibility and thus steps off the stage.
There are in the territory of Washington—including postoffices, land offices, custom houses, Indian service, district judges and clerks, internal revenue officials, surveyors, etc.—about 500 federal officials. Republicans at present occupy all, or nearly all, these places.

The attention of the charitable disposed is directed to a sad case that calls for that assistance that Astoria always gives the deserving. Nearly opposite Robert Carruthers' house, has till recently lived Daniel Chambers, a hard working man who did whatever he could find to do and tried his utmost to keep his family decently and comfortably. Yesterday he died of typhoid fever. He leaves a widow and five children, the eldest not ten years old. They are in sore need, and prompt assistance is necessary. Food and clothing and a little money from those able to give would be most acceptable. More need not be said.

The Lecture To-night.
In his journey across the continent the Rev. Jos. Cook whom critical Boston almost idolizes, has attracted the utmost attention. His breadth of thought, wealth of imagery, fervid imagination and brilliant oratory are alike the theme of the press and public and his every appearance is hailed with pleasure by crowded audiences. To-night he lectures in this city on "Ultimate America." The subject is invested by the speaker with an extraordinary amount of interest and to hear him will be an event worthy of remembrance. 'Tis seldom that Astoria enjoys an opportunity to hear such a famous man, and our citizens will doubtless avail themselves of the chance. The lecture will be at the Presbyterian church, beginning promptly at eight o'clock.

C. H. Cooper's leading dry goods and clothing house will close Thanksgiving day, Thursday, the 27th inst.
To Whom It May Concern.

Board of Delegates, A. F. D.
You are requested to meet at the office of the president, C. W. Fulton, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 26th, 1884, at 8 o'clock, without fail, to finish up the business of the old Board of 1883 and 1884.
By order of the president,
C. W. FULTON.
B. S. WORSLEY, Secy.

WHAT "VANCOUVER" THINKS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:
The election of Voorhees as delegate from Washington territory goes well along with the general swell of the year, and it will make the settlement of some mixed questions easier than would be possible were there to be no representative Democrat in Washington from this section under the Cleveland administration.

Mr. Voorhees will say who shall have the offices. This is pretty much settled. It would not be right for Hailey, the Democratic jack-moron elected from Idaho to do this, yet there must be a representative with whom the president and cabinet officers can consult whenever questions of appointment in Oregon shall come up; so it is arranged that Voorhees shall be the man.

It will take a load off the leaders here; who cannot afford to be continually running to Washington. Dell and Jeffries and Robie and Joe Teal and Nolter and Kelly and Grover need not bother their brains. There may be petitions and counter-petitions, but the quiet retirement of Voorhees will at last place the men.

When Voorhees finally consented to attend to the Oregon appointments, it was after some pressure and persuasion, and after he had been made to see that it was only "turn-about," which is counted fair play in matters political as well as in other matters. The Republicans in the Oregon delegation have been dictating territorial appointments to Republican administrations for a long time; and now, with no Democrat in Washington from Oregon, the Washington territory delegation is about to be proper man.

This was the argument that finally settled it, and now Voorhees is close as an oyster on Oregon matters, depending upon an adviser who knows the Democrats, though not living among them. The Democratic managers of Oregon made such a flat performance of their campaign that they cannot claim to have helped Cleveland any, though they had some of the general fund; so they are "out" from any part or lot in the distribution.

The editor of the Standard might have stepped into the dictatorial shoes had he possessed the good sense to have helped the Democrats of the territory upon this only occasion he ever had; but he dared say nothing upon the future issue, the only one worth a cent to the territorial Democrats in their fight. So he will not be consulted. It will be up to the combinations, but it will be fun for the boys on the outside. Those who think this is not a true statement of the case will be woefully left when it comes to the new deal in offices. VANCOUVER.
