

THE Oregon legislature meets on the 5th of next month. About the first thing in order after organizing will be to elect a United States senator. By the revised statutes of the United States, passed in 1874, the legislature of each state is directed to choose senators as therein prescribed, by viva voce vote of the joint assembly of both houses of the legislature on the second Tuesday after the meeting and organization thereof. Hence the election of Senator Slater's successor will be on the 13th of January, 1895. Who that gentleman may be is yet undetermined, and beyond the fact that he will be a Republican and a resident of Portland, we in this section of the state know very little as to the candidacy of the man who will represent Oregon for six years in the upper house.

After the election of Mr. Hirsch, or Mr. George, or whoever else it may be, the real business of the session will begin. There is not a great deal of actual work to do. The mortgage law needs repealing, unless, indeed, it is desired to still further drive capital out of the country in an abortive attempt to prevent water from seeking its level. The law exempting indebtednesses wants also to be looked into. As the matter now stands the more a man owes the better off he is. The original idea and intent of the law was, doubtless, good, but its practical workings makes a farce of the thing. Jones, in Astoria, is worth $20,000; $15,000 of this amount is secured to San Francisco creditors by notes; along comes the assessor with his blank "returnable in ten days." It is only a work of a little more than ten minutes to telegraphically transfer that San Francisco debt to Portland agents of the San Francisco house, and so, presto! the debt is now "within the state," Jones puts down his property and goods at $15,000; "indebtedness within the state," $15,000—amount to be assessed in Clatsop county—$500,000. It is only necessary to indicate that unless the Multnomah and Clatsop assessors are on the lookout, the $15,000 "owing in Portland" will be so juggled that by the time the Portland assessment is made out the indebtedness is either transferred to some other place in the state or else back to San Francisco, thus demonstrating the ease with which the law may be evaded, and is, in thousands of cases every year.

The long deferred matter of proper legislative appropriation in our county also should have a hearing. It is ridiculous that the second city in the state situated in a county destined to be second to none other in the commonwealth, should be longer put off with such a county as Tillamook or Columbia. Nothing connects us with either county but a legislative enactment and a trail, and we have less intercourse or common interest with our neighboring counties than with Wasco or Marion. One-half of a representative and one-third of a senator is our meager share. We hope that the knowledge of this injustice will put backbone enough into our legislators and sufficient sense of justice in their fellow representatives to give us in '95 what was our due in '80.

REPRESENTATIVE ROBINSON of New York has prepared a resolution which he will offer in congress Monday providing for a return to the simplicity of inaugural ceremonies as practiced by Jefferson. It prohibits the erection of triumphal arches and display of bayonets in Washington on inauguration day, and provides that the chief justice shall call upon the president-elect and accompany him either on foot or in a plain carriage, drawn by not more than two horses and without decorations or livery, to the capitol, where he shall take the oath and address such citizens as may be there to hear him.

A RECIPROCAL agreement has been entered into between the United States and Mexico, whereby the pursuit of hostile Indians can be continued in either country.

A CABLE special to the New York Times says that never since the close of the civil war in America have there been so many inebriated Americans in London as now.

STEPHEN GROVER CROWELL, a wealthy resident of Bloomfield, N. J., died November 19. He was named after his grandfather, Stephen Grover, after whom President-elect Cleveland was named.

WHEAT appears to have touched the lowest point and is on the up grade. It advanced 3 cents in Portland this week.
