

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: SATURDAY, JANUARY 1, 1905.

You stand on tiptoe, you can almost see the twentieth century.

The admission of the territories is the stream in the politics of '85.

What is behind the times is apt to look ill of them on the principle that nothing looks well from behind.

There is one universal growl of discontent all over the northwest at this juncture. Can't you? We have to find it.

Let us hope that '05 will be a better year for Astoria and Clatsop county than '81 was. It can't be much worse.

Astoria wants to be a city and have a mayor and a council and a school. Astoria evidently doesn't know when it is well off.

We count time by years, but life is better counted by experience and the fresh impulses of the heart. Some men are older at forty than others at seventy.

The rainbows of yesterday were evolved from the storm wreath by the subtle alchemy of the sun, and hung in flags of victory on the rear of the clouds of storm.

How many merchants are "taking stock" to-day. Wonder if we were to "take stock" of ourselves how would we find ourselves, better men and women, or the reverse, than twelve months ago!

It is reported that the immediate bureau of the board of trade is doing good work in spite of weather and adverse winds. The advances of the country are being set in a careful manner, and the way is being pointed out to home-seekers how and where to find good locations in the country.

Will the legislature choose for its senator? asks a correspondent. We don't know. There are a good many candidates anxious for the development of the state and the hastening of the day when we shall have a free government. We would be glad to see W. H. Wasco sent to Washington.

Neither the legislature nor the people should give a true account of the state of affairs (the telegrams being edited by the authorities) but private letters indicate that the state affairs are worse than they have been since the killing of General Sherman in December, 1870. The record of riots, conspiracies, scores of prosecutions and wholesale arrests.

On this gloomy background of a pending revolution trade is almost at a standstill, the cholera is raging in Toledo and in more than one other province, while the army is in a state of rebellion and the government is in a state of anarchy.

War Cry, the organ of the revolution army in England, issues a copy a week. Here is a copy of its style in announcing a meeting at Lincolnshire: "Hello! Here We Come! Who? Why, the Salvation Army. What? They do? Why, pull down the devil's kingdom and lift up Jesus to a dying world. Where are they to be seen? At Federation Hall, North Russell street, every evening during the week, till Gabriel blows his trumpet, when all have to acquit for the deeds done in the body. Everybody come to the meeting. Captain Anne Shirley, the Salvation Army; Captain Happy Jack, Lieutenant Hallelujah Faith, Singing Alice and a host of blood-washed warriors!"
