DRATH OF CAPT. M. M. GILMAN.

Capt. M. M. Gilman died at his redence on Main street in this city at halfpast six yesterday morning, in the 75th year of his age. The news of his death will be read with regret by thousands all over the northwest who have pleasant recollections of the genial old gentleman who battled so long and so bravely against the cruel disease that at last triumphed over his enfeebled frame.

Milton M. Gilman was born in Hallo Milton M. Gilman was born in Hallo-well, Maine, November, 1810; he came to Oregon in 1830 in command of the bark Louisana, having in 1839 visited the coast of California on a trading voyage. He commenced his career as a sailor when he was 12 years of age. An event in his life which may interest many old Californians is the fact that he sailed on the ship Niantic from the time she was launched for sixteen years, this vessel having, in 1849, been broken up in San Francisco and the hotel of that name built on her hull. He settled in Astoria in 1851, and was engaged in piloting vesin 1851, and was engaged in piloting ves-sels on the Columbia from that time to 1883, then retiring from active service.

Lagion of Honor, held their annual meeting last evening and elected the following officers: B. S. Worsley, P. C.: J. C. Trullinger, C.; Mrs. F. Sherman, V. C.; F. A. Fisher, O.; C. Gratke, G.; R. V. Monteith, S. G.; G. A. Stinson, T.; Mrs. H. Trullinger, collector; Mrs. Wagner, chaplain; M. Wise, sentinel; J. Kipp, O. G.

The farmers in the Nehalem valley have discovered that their soil is peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of hops, and are making their arrangements to go into the business quite extensively. Many of them are confident that the valley will ultimately rival the celebrated Puyallup valley of Washington territory in the production of hops. The Nehalem valley is one of the most promising sections in western Oregon for immigration.

The high wind from the south last Monday night blew down the new wharf of the Clatsop Mill Co., on which was about 150 M of lumber. The wharf which was 60xf0 feet, was completely broken down, but, fortunately, the flood tide. choir.

Complaint Against Cant. Payaton.

H. Gibson, a sailor from the British bark Embleton, made complaint yesterday before Deputy U. S. Commissioner J. O. Bozorth, charging P. J. Paynton, present and addressed the chamber, his statements being to the effect that he was here to receive bids for the construction of a wharf, four stone barges, the supplying of 20,000 lineal feet piles, 25,000 tons stone, which begins the work of improving the Columbia river bar. He has full plans and specifications at his office at the custom house, and would be glad to see any one desirous of bidding for the whole or any portion of the supply called for. The meeting then adjourned.

The impression in certain circles in dragged him from his bunk, beat him The impression in certain circles in ortland is that the U.S. senatorship is for sale and that a prominent banker to sale and that a prominent banker he did the same thing; that Antoine dropped at the wheel, and that he, (Gibson) and the ship's carpenter picked him up to carry him to the forecastle; that before they got him to the forecastle Antoine was dead.

The Game Law.

"Every person who shall within the state of Oregou between January 1st and hear of no provision for the contingency that might arise if southern and eastern Oregon should "double bank" on Portland and center on some granger east of the mountains, as is hinted up there. We are not advised of those intorests having yet made preparations to organize a "kitchen," but if they mean business they will have to hand around the cigars, at least. Ber Holladay's style has greatly enlarged the importance of the average member in his own eyes, especially at sessions when U.S. senatorial candidates are plenty."

CLEVERLY CAUGHT!

The Rich Man's Fear of Burglars-The Story of an Electrician.

Buffalo, N. Y., News, At the dead of night, Mr. J. B. Anhony, a wholesale grocer of Troy, N. So said Mr. C. H. Westfall, the elecrician of Westfield, N. Y., to our reporter.

"Do city residents generally use burgiar alarms?"

"Yes, all first-class houses are provided with them and I have never had any dissatisfaction from my customers, many of whom are the best known and wealthiest people of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other large cities."

"Do wealthy men have much fear of burglars?"

"As a rule, wealthy men do not keep valuables in their house, and yet they are not sure that they shall escape burglarious attacks, and they don't feel secure rious attacks, and they don't feel secure without a first-class burglar alarm apparates in their house. Every door, window and scuttle is connected with the annuncistor, and it is quite impossible to effect an entranco without the fact becoming at once known."

"Don't electricians run considerable risk in handling wires?"

"Even the most careful of them sometimes get a shock. A few years ago, while I was descending stairs at Elmira, N. Y., with a wire coil in my hand, I felt as if I had received the entire charge from the battery. For over tire charge from the battery. For over a half hour I suffered the keenest agony. I did not know but what I had been fatally injured. After completing my bus-iness circuit, I returned to Boston, and for eighteen months did not get over the shock. I lost my appetite; all food tasted slike. I could not walk across the common without resting several "My head whirled, and I reeled like drunken man. "There is no need of death from hand-ling electrical wires if the operators will exercise care. In our burglar alarm at-tachments there is no receible denore. tachments there is no possible danger from that source."

ALL HE WANTED WAS "A SOUARE DEAL."

Though a very charitable man, as the orphans of this county can verify, savs the Welcome, old Captain John Harlow was not much of a church goer. When lying upon his death bed he sent for Benton Killin, his attorney, and after settling his worldly affairs, asked him in a confidential tone, "Benjamin," (he al-ways called him Benjamin) "what do of the ocean and the dashing of the ways called him Benjamin) "what do ways on a rock-bound coast, will be heard heavenly anthems sung by angelle Mr. Killin has never been obtrusive with his theological views, nor has he been his theological views, nor has he been prominent as a Sabbath school superin-tendent, still, at so serious a time he felt that he would have to do the bost he could under the circumstances—for didn't Joe Meek once play preacher smong the Nez Perces? "Well, Captain," replied the astute attorney, giving his opinion on the next world something after the style of selving a climaton. after the style of advising a client on a law point, "my observation of nature, and careful perusal of the best authorities on such subjects, lead me to believe that a man in the next world will get a square deal." "He will!" exclaimed the old ses captain, rallying for a moment at the character of the information, "then I'm not afraid to die—for all a square I'm not afraid to die—for all a square man wants is a square deal."

Foreign Salmon Beport.

The City of Delhi has arrived with 48, 830 cases Columbia river salmon, about half of which has been sold for arrival. She has not yet begun to discharge, so that it is impossible to say anything regarding the quality of the various brands. It is considered probable the greater portion of the remainder will go into stere, as merchants are not predisposed to accept the low prices now ruling. Another report states that at this season there is not much demand for salmon as a rule, but the low prices have induced grocers to take more into stock than they did at this time last year. Some retailers are now selling at 4%d and 5d per tin, which is certain to increase the consumption considerably. Our earlier remarks as to quality may be now considerably modified, as we find nothing this season which is better than hand-packed salmon of last season, and a large quantity of so-called best brands is wanting in flavor, and is rather dry and fibrous upon the palate.—Liverpool Correspondence London Grocer. that it is impossible to say anything re-

GLADSTONE EVIDENTLY WORRIED-GER-

New York, January 4.- A cable special from London of January 3rd says: The cabinet council, which adat 5 P. M. yesterday, not again this morning and remained in secret session for two hours. Interest in the result of the deliberations of the ministers increases hourly, particularly because of the extraordinary precautions taken to prevent publicity. No records are made, and the decisions arrived at can only be learned by closely watching for whatever changes of policy may be indicated by the orders of the heads of the different departments. Rumors are current to-night of excited wranglings and disputes on the Egyptian and other questions, but they cannot be traced to trustworthy sources and are probably the inventions of opponents of the govern-ment, who imagine that so prolonged a meeting could not have been harmonious. On the other hand, the friends of the On the other hand, the friends of the government and admirers of the premier state that their chief brought his advisers together at this time, not so much on account of the great necessity for immediate consultation on the affairs of the nation, but because he felt that he personally had duties to perform which would admit of no delay. He wished, they say, to convey in the fullest manner possible, while his strength permitted, the whole of his future plans to his colleagues, so that in the event of prolonged illness, or possibly death, the policy of the liberal party, as represented in him, would still live and be perpetuated in the persons of his ministers.

M., and drove to Euston station, where he boarded a special train for his home, at Hawarden. He looked pale and careworn, and wearily reclined on two or three pillows, which had been convenient-ly placed in the saloon-carriage which he occupied. He was accompanied by no-body save the two detectives, who have of late been his constant attendants. Short-ly after Gladstone's departure, Earl Der-by colonial secretary, and Right Honby, colonial secretary, and Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, president of the board of trade, also left. The other members of the cabinent remained in con-sultation until 4 o'clock. Sir Charles Dilke, president of the local government board, who has been on the continent, did not reach London until 6 o'clock, and Earl Spencer, who had also been sum-moned was too how with Link matter. moned, was too busy with Irish matters to leave Dublin. Immediately on the ad-journment of the council, Earl Granville, journment of the council, Earl Granville, secretary of foreign affairs, went to the foreign office and wrote several long dispatches to Berlin and Paris, the contents of which, of course, have not transpired. Political circles of London are excited to-night over the rumor that Germany has already opened negotiations with the has already opened negotiations with the government of the Netherlands for the government of the Netherlands for the purchase of the Dutch possessions in New Guinea. By this means she would acquire five-sixths of the island and render her position there practically unassailable, the right of acquisition by barter being more generally accepted than that of foreible entry. The scheme is considered quite possible by those well informed, for it is known that Holland wants money badly and cares little for her unprofitable New Guinea colony. Her rights there if properly sifted, are, at best, very shadowy, and German assistance in other directions, where she is in continual trouble with her colonies. in continual trouble with her colonies would be much more useful to her.

MANNER OF RAISING PUMDS FOR THE PRO POSED CLATSOP ROAD.

EDITOR ASTORIAN:

The impression seems to prevail in the minds of many that should the county commissioners be empowered, under the petition now in circulation, to take steps to aid in the building of the Clatsop road they would immediately saddle the county with an indebtedness of some $50,000 to be paid out of the pockets of the already heavily burdened taxpayers inside of the next three or four years. As I have, at the request of the commissioners, called upon a number of our prominent taxpayers with the above pe-tition I am now authorized by them (the commissioners) to state that such is not and never has been their intention, but should the necessary authority be placed in their hands their idea is to provide for the Clatsop road indebtedness by the issuing of county bonds bearing interest assuing of county bonds bearing interest at six (6) per cent per annum until re-deemable in say from ten to twenty years. The interest, of course, would have to be provided for by annual taxa-tion, but it can readily be seen, that this would be so light as hardly to be no-ticeable.

By the time the bonds mature it is reasonable to suppose that the county will be amply justified in paying for the road, the population of the county in all probability being then thribble what it is now. All agree that the Clatsop road would be a good thing for the coun-ty and are anxious to see it built, but I doubt very much if there is a single tax-payer, whether on the petition or off of it, who favors the building of the Clatsop road by immediate taxation to pay total cost of same. It seems to me that in a matter of such vital importance to the interests of the community a thorough understanding should exist between the people of the county and their represen-tatives—the county commissioners.
