A STRANGE SCENE FROM REAL LIFE.
"I have been traveling a good many years," remarked a commercial salesman, "and have seen some queer incidents, but the most peculiar sight I ever saw was in a country town in Ohio. Our train drew up to the station, when I saw there quite a crowd. It didn't seem to be a political crowd, either. Looking closer I discovered that there were two crows. At one end of the station stood a number of carriages. From them jumped a lot of well dressed, happy-looking people - young men and ladies. They bade goodby to a blushing couple, and there was much handshaking and kissing, peals of laughter and innocent jokes. It was a wedding party and the happy couple were starting on their tour by passenger car."
"At the other end of the station the people seemed entirely different. They were exceedingly solemn. The men were silent and looked down to the ground, while the ladies were all in black, and most of them wore veils. The two parties did not seem to notice each other, at least they didn't want to appear to notice each other's presence, though they were only a few feet apart. This unhappy looking party stood about a house, and as the train came to a standstill, I saw a coffin lifted from the baggage-car and placed in it amid subdued weeping. At the same moment the wedded couple were stepping aboard the palace car amid joyous laughter and friendly words of parting."
"It was one of the most strange and impressive scenes from real life I ever witnessed. The contrast was dramatic. But that was not all. Engaging in conversation with a gentleman who had come on the train there I learned that the coffin contained the remains of a young lady whose health had failed. She had been taken to Florida, but there was no air that could restore her, said the gentleman, because she was dying of a broken heart. It was a love affair. A young man had won her and secured her promise to be his wife and then deserted her. I then spoke of the happy bridegroom back in the palace car. At this the gentleman closed his lips tightly, his hands clinched and there was a strange look in his eyes. 'I don't wish him joy,' he remarked; 'that is the man who killed that poor girl in yonder coffin.'"
Chicago Herald "Train Talk."

A NOBLE REPROOF.
The Oakland, Cal. Tribune says: One of the severest and most just rebukes ever administered to one of those masculine fools who are always perpetrating slurs upon women, took place at a recent dinner in this city, at which no ladies were present. A man, in responding to the toast, "Women," dwelt almost solely on the frailties of the sex, claiming that the best among them were little better than the worst, the chief difference being in their surroundings. At the conclusion of his speech a gentleman present arose and said: "I trust the gentleman, in the application of his remarks refers to his own mother and sisters, not ours. The effect of this most unjust and timely rebuke was overwhelming; the malignancy of women was covered with confusion and shame. Of all the evils prevalent among men, we know of none more blighting in its moral tendency to speak slightly of the virtue of women, nor is there anything in which young men are so thoroughly mistaken as in the low estimate they form of the integrity of women, not their own mothers and sisters, we are glad to say, but of others, who they forget are somebody else's mothers and sisters. The evil is far too general and needs uprooting. The false ideas come from perverted and impure minds; never from an upright, honorable, moral gentleman."
Statistics from a London Directory.

The population of London is sheltered by 550,000 dwelling houses, and the area of streets and squares embraces 122 square miles. Every day sees an average of 160,000 strangers enter the city, and 123 persons added to the population; while each year about twenty-eight miles of new streets are laid out, and 9,000 new houses erected. There are 129,000 papers, upon whom 10,700 police keep a close eye. The population includes 120,000 foreigners, more Roman Catholics than there are in Rome and more Jews than there are in Palestine. Two thousand clergymen preside over 620 churches and 423 chapels, of which latter buildings the Independents have 121, the Baptists 100, the Wesleyans 77, the Catholics 90, the Calvinists 10, the Presbyterians 10, the Quakers 7 and the Jews 10. The number of cats kept by the people is so large (700,000) that "cat's meat" is daily delivered at the majority of houses. The 3,000 horses which die each week are utilized to meet this demand.

Don't Give Up Yet.
It doesn't follow that a patient will die because the doctors have "given him up," or that he will recover because they promise to "pull him through." It is never late to try the great virtues of Parker's Tonic. Mr. Michael Guilfoyle, of Binghamton, N. Y., was cured of Rheumatism by it after ten years of unpeakable suffering. Mr. H. W. Mosher, druggist, of same city, certifies that he has sold over a thousand bottles of Parker's Tonic through its reputation for this and other cures.

COFFISH IN NOWAY.
I sing of codfish and their livers' oil, for codfish is the daily and whole theme of all the dwellers on this western coast of Norway. They eat codfish, they drink codfish, they manure with codfish; in short, they live upon codfish in both senses of the word. The great resort of the codfish is the banks of the Lufoden islands, about 60 deg. north latitude. Hither they come in millions twice a year, and, strange to say, in the greatest numbers in the month of February, for the Gulf stream sets strongly along this coast, and very rarely are the froids frozen in this high northern latitude.
The genuine fish is migratory and puts in an appearance only twice a year on these banks, and he and his crew make the fishermen say that he has gone to sea. But the dwellers at home, the smaller codfish, who can be caught at any time, and upon whom millions of gulls feed, are a much inferior article.
It is estimated that 50,000,000 of codfish are taken off this coast every year. The government stations vessels at certain central points, and it is the duty of every fisherman to report his catch as he passes. This report does not include the fish and his crew make the fishermen say that he has gone to sea. But the dwellers at home, the smaller codfish, who can be caught at any time, and upon whom millions of gulls feed, are a much inferior article.

That Boy.
If his sister is kissed by anyone, he is always the person to witness the performance and tell of it before a crowd. He is always the one to give to the world the fact that his sister uses powder and wears false teeth, and is thirty-two years old. If there is a mortgage on the place, the boy hears you speak of it, and then goes around talking about it as though it were something to be pointed to with pride and pleasure. Everything you say in the bosom of your family that should not be repeated to the neighbors, and always has the faculty of repeating it at the wrong time and to the wrong person.

Good-for-Nothing!
Do you sometimes feel that way? Lassitude? Vertigo? Can't sleep? Can't enjoy a meal? Can't engage in pleasant conversation? Can't carry on business? Can't look hopefully on the future? Well, all that means dyspepsia, and general disorder of the digestive apparatus. "I now feel like a new man," is what Dr. I. C. McLaughlin, of Wolfesville, N.C., says, after using Brown's Iron Bitters. You may have the same experience, if you are suffering from dyspepsia, liver complaint or similar ills.
The news received in Philadelphia that the crew of the ship Salsbury had mutinied near Gibraltar, led a runner in Philadelphia to say that Bill Lewis was on board. He was an apprentice many years ago on the United States ship Sabine, and nearly succeeded in getting the other boys to desert it. He raised a mutiny on the United States vessel Harford at Leghorn a dozen years ago, and escaped the penitentiary by denouncing his comrades. He raised a mutiny on the bark Orbit, stole her and beached her near Sydney, Australia, pretending that she was shipwrecked. But, although his companions were arrested, he managed to get away. He was only a day out of port on the Dwight, when he mutinied and was put in irons and taken back to port. He was next on a fruit vessel, "gave back talk to the mate and was badly whipped." The next morning the mate was found lying insensible on the deck and Lewis had swum ashore. When he had a grudge against a ship's officer, he had an inconvenient habit of "accidentally" dropping a tackle or a marline-spike inconspicuously near the man he wanted to injure. In spite of his acquaintance with the habits of this troublesome sailor the runner appears to have had no trouble in shipping him on any vessel in need of hands.
