The company is a strong one in every department and the members being in perfect accord with each other and the play, cannot but render their performances both charming and thorough. Joe Grismer, as Edmond Dantes, Count of Monte Cristo, did a fine piece of acting. He is remarkably effective. His manner is singularly easy end graceful, his reading pure and intelligent, and his expression full of fine feeling and truthfulness. He gave a thoroughly balanced performance and invested the character with artistic power. vested the character with artistic power. The Wildest Excitement in Capitol.

SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN LONDON, Jan. 34th, 2:30 P. M .- The offices were severely shaken and considdynamite explosion a few minutes ago. It is impossible at this moment to tell the exact extent of the calamity. The greatest excitement prevails and enornous crowds are assembling at the scene of the explosion.

3, P. M.-The explosion occurred close to the house of Lords, near Westminster hall. It is reported that the explosives were placed fin the crypt under the building The force of the shock was tremendou and was felt a great distance. The dam age done is very great. Rumors are our rent at this hour that another explosion occurred at 2 o'clock this afternoon at London Tower. The excitement increase es with every moment and the city is filled with flying ramors of the most terrible nature. There were two explosions instead of one as first supposed at the parliament houses. The second came about three minutes efter the first one which was near the house of commons and the other at Westminster Hall. One man has been arrested near the scene of the explosion. A large detective force is hard at work now seeking further developments, which are anxiously awaited, particularly by the people in the neighbood of Westminster hall.

Up to 4 o'clock but sixteen persons have been officially reported as injured by the explosion, none mortally, 4.20 r. M.—The attack was made on the building known as the "White Towar." The roof was blown clear off the structure; all the persons known to be injured were visitors. Saturday being the usual visiting day at the houses of parliament the buildings contained a great number of sight seers at the time of the explosions. The first explosion occurred in the crypt of Westminster Hall; the second took place in the strangers' gallery in the of Westminster Hall; the second took place in the strangers gallery in the house of commons. This explosion knocked the peliceman is charge down and injured him seriously. His case is considered critical. The second explo-sion in the parliament buildings occurred three minutes later, and was far more three minutes later, and was far more destructive. The dynamite which caused the second explosion must have been placed under the sears' gallery on the left side. Little hope is entertained of the survival of the wounded policeman. In the state senate last Thursday a remonstrance was read against the passage of the charter amendment; on motion of state senator Reed it was laid on the table. The charter will come up for action in the house on to-morrow or Tuesday, by which time it is probable that there will be some more Astorians there. It is thought that if that clause making a $500 property qualification tar for votors were stricken out or so altered that it would simply require every voter to be a taxpayer, that it would stand the spot. The cabman went in pursuit of the runaways who were soon over-taken and arrested by the police. The prevalent belief is that the destructive agent was conveyed into the house of commons by some Saturday visitors.

All the woodwork of that part of the building is shattered and a wide hole made through the floor. Every pane of glass in the house was smashed to atoms; the gallery benches were overturned and the gallery generally dismantled. the gallery generally dismantled.

deposition was taken; he was then deliri-ous part of the time; morphine and opium had been administered to him until the morning of the day he died, and he had been gunder the influence. E. Diren testified to being present on Priday morning while doctors were present; after doctors left McDonald told witness he would give $300 to see his mother before his death.

C. H. Stockton recalled; was asked to state what statement McDonald made concerning the shooting; objected to on allegation that evidence showed McDonald was not in his right mind. Prosecuting attorney asked did deceased sign writing; witness answered "No." "Was writing; witness answered "No." "Was writing signed by deceased or any other person?" "No." "Who took statement down?" "I did." Witness then testified that deceased said that he left Tillie's saloon, crossed the street, Chas. Herbert called out "Scotty;" he stopped, turned sround, saw Herbert with a smile on his face, his hands concealed, and said: "How in hell will you get even on me?" and that the next thing he felt the ball passing shrough his stomach; that he dried out "Good God! Good God!" that there was no one there but himself at the time. Witness them produced a me. there was no one there but himself at the time. and that immediately afterwards he was shot in his storageh. "I reduced all that he said to writing except what I have said about the $2.50. I have read over what I have said in sections and he said it was correct."

E. P. Hoff recalled: when deceased made statement he said "I think I am going to die." He was then asked if he would make statement under the im pression of death. He said "Yes; I may live 24 hours. I came out of Tillie's sa-loon when Herbert said "Oh, Sootty, what did you mean by getting even with me?" I said 'Oh, for Christ's sake don't commons by some Saturday visitors.

Cross examined. "It took him some time to say this; he was vom-iting and in convulsions. It was taken down and part of it read to him; I don't think it all was."

G. G. Smith recalled testified substantially as preceding witness.

B. S. Worsley recalled and testified that McDonald said that when Herbert asked him what he meant by saying he (Harbert) would be sorre for it does not (Herbert) would be sorry for it, deceased answered "I meant just what I said," that Herbert said "Well, damn you, you Win. Beresford, sworn: is a sailor; lives at Golden Gate saloon; saw McDonald and Herbert together the evening of the shooting at Tillie's saloon; heard conversation.

Charles Herbert sworn: I am the defendant; myself and a boarder went to Tillie's and had a drink together at the har; Scotty came in and asked me for $2.50; I said, 'I don't owe you $2.50.' He said: 'You do, God damn you, and if you don't pay it I will take it out of you,' or kill you, or something of that kind. While talking I believe he put his hands in his coat pocket and pulled something out. I can't tell what it was; don't think I had any further conversation with him. I walked to Geo. Hill's; stood there a few minutes, and went over to Russian Bob's; there I met some friends and we had a drink together. I then went to Geo. Hill's to see if I could find one of two men working for me, Mett and Sweeney. He had hold of me by the arms, and walked me off half a block or a block, and I said, 'Mr. Carlson, let go of my arms, and I will walk along peaceably and quietly.' He let go and we walked together. He never asked me for anything, or where the pistol was until we got to the city jail; then he asked me what I had done with the pistol. I told him I didn't know; that I dropped it alongside me; he searched my pockets alongside me; he searched my pockets and locked me in a cell. His borse plains, was frozen to death and only two head of sheep found alive. His horse was found tied to a tree. The snow on Beaver creek is ten inches deep; stock generally enduring well. From Bear creek the snow is reported to be deep yet, and quite a loss to the horse stock by reason of the marcs losing their colts, consequent upon the extreme cold weather and perhaps slipping. The horses tramp about in the snow over spaces of ground not fifty feet square and stay there till driven out, acting discouraged. On the driven out, acting discouraged. On the Deschutes above Tetherow's ferry, horses are suffering. The snow is two feet deep. On the desert in one location there was but little snow, where four or five bands of sheep are doing well.
