Boiled down, the hundred columns of comment on the senatorial election in the state press amounts to this:—if Hirsch gets votes enough he'll be elected.

Yesterday's senatorial vote resulted as follows: I. D. Haines, 33; Hirsch, 28; Hare, 3; Failing, 5; George, 5; Cox, 1; Keady, 2; Williams, 7; Lord, 1; Carson, 1; Shaw, 1; absent, 3.

S.; Anna Trallinger, W. V. T.; Calla Brodie, W. C.; J. A. Buchanan, W. Sec.; Mary Iverson, W. A. S.; D. H. Caswell, W. F. S.; Minnie Brodie, W. T.; J. B. Elbon, W. M.; Lena Ross, W. D. The dullness of a rainy evening was enlivened a little last evening about 8:15 by the clang of the fire bell. The idea of a fire trying to do anything on such a night as last night was a ridiculous one, but the fire department turned out promptly and went flying down Water street. One,s had a little time turning the Occident corner, three men being slightly injured as the engine swung round into position. An exploding lamp in a residence on West 8th street was the cause of the alarm. No damage.

A whistling boy is usually a nuisance, but a New York man named Courtnay has invented a whistling buoy that is a necessity on foggy and rock bound coasts. It consists of a pear-shaped bulb that floats point up on the water. A long tube, open at its lower end, passes up through the bottom of the bulb and out at the top. The upper end is closed with a plate, through which there are holes. In one is secured a big locomotive whistle. In the other two are valves which open inwards. As the buoy rises on a wave the water sinks down in the tube and the air rushes in through the valves to take its place. Then the buoy sinks into the trough of the sea and the water presses up through the tube, forcing the air out. With the varying pressures the whistle makes the most heartrending sounds known to humanity.

Pangborn has compiled a very clever volume in his latest edition of the B. & O. Red Book, to which he gives the taking title of "The Revolution of '84." It covers the more important states in the late struggle most completely, and it would be hard to conceive of any data toward a thorough understanding of the situation which has not been considered. The book is well worth the sending of address, with stamp to C. K. Lord, Baltimore, for it. In typographical appearance the publication far surpasses all other political text books, all the figure work being clearly printed and faultlessly set. A feature of the reading matter to the data given of the programme for the inauguration, which cannot but prove decidedly interesting to those who intend being of the great American public assisting upon that occasion.

SMITH J: Feb. 10th.

Warren Olney vs. J. H. Moore; decree that the bill be dismissed and defendant recover his costs.

Warren Olney vs. Warren heirs; same.

Happy as a Clam.

Clams are very abundant at the mouth of Fraser river. When the tide is out the hogs that are pastured in the adjoining woods rush down the bank and begin rooting in the sand for the luscious bivalves. No sooner are the hogs down the bank than crows light upon their shoulders, and no sooner are the clams uncovered than the birds snatch them and fly away. They get over a rock, and dropping the clams, immediately dart down after them. If the shells are not broken the first time, they ascend higher and let them fall again.

COMMON COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

The city council met in regular session last evening, Mayor Hume in the chair; present councilmen Bergman, Cooper, Cleveland, Dealy and Trenchard. Minutes of the last meeting read and approved. A petition for a sidewalk on Cedar street between W. 6th and W. 7th, and another for a street lamp corner 8th and Lafayette were granted.

The reports of police judge and street superintendent for January were referred to appropriate committees. A motion to reconsider the vote by which an ordinance appropriating $200, passed at the last regular meeting, resulted in a unanimously affirmative vote for its reconsideration. The ordinance in question appropriated $200 to pay expenses of parties at Salem in the interest of a proposed charter. The ordidance then coming up, the question being shall the ordinance pass? resulted in a unanimous vote in the negative.

A very interesting letter was received from Mr. Paul Seiler of San Francisco, regarding an alleged electric fire alarm telegraph and balance due thereon. On motion of Councilman Cleveland the letter was referred to B. S. Worsley. A letter was read from Independence endorsing $200, part payment on the old hand engine, the receipt of which the auditor was instructed to acknowledge. Another letter was read from Mr. Paul Seiler which occasioned a little conversation relative to the efficiency of the alleged fire alarm telegraph. On motion of Councilman Trenchard the auditor and clerk was instructed to write to the Electric fire alarm Co., of San Francisco asking that company what they would give for the wire, gongs, boxes, etc., now in this city.

In the matter of the abrogation of the franchise said to be held by F. P. Hennessy for the building of a street railway, the committee submitted a report recommending that no present steps be taken in the matter. The committees to whom were referred the reports of the auditor and clerk and treasurer for '84, recommending that it be received and placed on file, were adopted.

The following claims were ordered paid: Gragg Bros. $135; Rescue Engine Co. No. 2, $6; Arndt & Ferchen, $53; Geo. Flavel, $11.93; Wheeler & Kipp, $3.50; P. Kearney, $22.20; R. P. Burns, $28.50; THE ASTORIAN, $33.65; Dr. Tuttle, $10; M. Conley, $123.12.

Ordinances granting liquor licenses to B. Gibson and G. Dipascuals, E. Munson were passed.

Ordinances establishing the grade of Pine street, Hemlock street, and Wing street were passed under suspension of the rules.

An ordinance making appropriation out of the general and police funds to pay the expenses of the city for 1885 was read third time and passed. On motion of councilman Trenchard the council proceeded to elect a captain of police. The name of G. W. Rucker was placed in nomination and unanimously confirmed.

On motion of councilman Dealy C. J. Trenchard was elected president of the city council to serve in the absence of the mayor. On motion M. Conley was engaged as janitor of the city hall at a salary of $10 per month.

On motion council adjourned.

THE SAN FRANCISCO BAR.

The bar has been very rough of late and on Wednesday night it was breaking heavily. The new tug Relief went down about 3 P. M. with the bark Otago, and, after letting her go, returned and started down with the bark Mary Glover. When inside the bar the master of the tug told the engineer, Mr. Gingle, to stand by his engine, as he might be required there at any moment. Soon after a cry was heard, and, although it was dark, the engineer was seen astern, having been washed or fallen overboard. A life-buoy was thrown to him, but it fell about fifteen feet short. As soon as possible afterwards the boat was launched and a search made, but the unfortunate man was never seen afterwards. He is reported as a man of marked ability in his profession, having worked for twelve years in Cramp's yard, Philadelphia, and leaves a wife and family.

Prior to this accident, the tug Wizard, in towing the ship John Currier out over the bar, parted a ten-inch hawser twice. She succeeded each time in getting hold of the ship again, but when, on the outer edge of the bar, a tremendous breaker struck the tug, throwing her astern over the hawser, which became entangled in the propeller, the rapid revolutions of which fortunately cut the rope clean, thereby saving the tug from destruction.

The tug Rescue which took the ship Chandos out, also had a rough time, and, after getting outside the bar, remained there all night, and did not come in until yesterday noon. The tug Donald went out the same morning and returned at a late hour last evening.—S. F. Chronicle, 6.

C. Leinenweber, of Clatsop-Tillamook, is as happy as a nigger in a new shirt, over the complimentary Democratic vote to-day for U. S. Senator. His course during the session deserves the honor, and his constituents have good reason to be proud of the gentleman.—Vidette.

The schooner Canute, now about ready for sea, takes a cargo that would delight a dynamiter. She has 285,500 pounds of giant powder, beside caps and fuses, destined for the Panama canal company. The crew will have a chance to go south and blow up with the country.—S. F. Daily Comm. News.

The bids submitted to Captain Powell, U. S. Engineer, for material and structures for the use of the government in the jetty at the mouth of the Columbia river, have been examined in Washington. A contract for 20,000 lineal feet of piling was let to P. F. Fallert of Kalama, at six cents per foot, his being the lowest bid. A contract for constructing four barges for stone was let to J. F. Steffen, whose bid was $5364. Contracts for delivering stone and for constructing the wharf have not yet been awarded, but will probably be let late this week. Work with scows must be commenced before March 17 and completed before April 15.—Oregonian 10.

STORIES ABOUT EX-SENATOR NESMITH.

The discussion of the two pictures which are now offered for sale to Congress by Miss Ransom and Mrs. Fasset, recalls the fiery speeches which Senator Nesmith used, to make against Sumner for his opposition to Vinnie Ream's works of art. Nesmith said that if Vinnie Ream's statue of Lincoln had been made in Rome, under Italian skies, the senator from Massachusetts would have fallen down and worshipped it. He made a brilliant speech in favor of the statue and helped more, perhaps, than any one else in securing its purchase. Poor Nesmith, an Oregon man tells me, is now in the insane asylum in Oregon. He has softening of the brain and his case is said to be incurable. He came here to Washington in 1861, as United States senator from Oregon, and he was, during the war, one of the big men in Congress. He was afterward appointed minister to Austria, but was not confirmed, and going back to Oregon, he was, while engaged in farming there, elected to congress. During the war Nesmith had rooms on the other side of Pennsylvania avenue, just opposite Willard's hotel, and his quarters used to be the loafing place of Grant while he was in the city. A friend of his told the following last night: "Nesmith was very anxious to see a great battle, and both Grant and the quartermaster-general, who was also a boon companion of Grant and Nesmith, were anxious that he should be gratified. This quartermaster and Nesmith both understood a gibberish dialect used by the Indians of Oregon, and at one of the battles of the Wilderness, the quartermaster, who was on the field sent a cypher dispatch in this gibberish to Nesmith, asking him to come on and bring a keg of old Bourbon with him. This dispatch was intercepted and sent to the war office. The most expert translators were put at it, but they could make nothing of it. At last Nesmith, who had immediately been put under the surveillance of detectives, was ordered to appear at the war department, and Secretary Stanton sternly asked him to read and explain the note. He did so. The secretary was bored, but relieved at finding what he supposed might be a deep conspiracy only a mare's nest, and he dismissed Nesmith with a slight reprimand."—Washington Letter Cleveland Leader.

A SWEDISH GODIVA.

The 2nd of February in Sweden is considered the midwinter day. In the era of Paganism it was a grest festival in honor of the heroine Goa of Goja, deified under the name of Disa, to whom the whole month was consecrated besides. The legend of Goa is very curious.

It states that at one time, when the country was visited by a frightful famine, the Thing, or ntional assembly, decided that, in order to alleviate the general distress, it would be necessary to put to death a part of the population, especially the old and infirm. Goa alone dared to protest loudly, and claimed to be able to propose a means of remedying the dearth, which would prove more efficacious as well as more human. The king ordered the execution of the decree to be postponed; but in the interim desiring to test the sagacity of the young girl, and to confound her audacity, he sent her word he would only receive her on condition that she would come to his dwelling neither on foot nor on horseback, nor in a vehicle, neither dressed nor undressed, neither in the course of a year nor during any particular month, neither by day nor by night.

Goa solved the enigma. She came to the king's house on a sledge drawn by a goat, holding on to one side of the sledge, with one leg resting on the pole of the sledge, the other on the goat. She wore a fishing net only in lieu of garments, and she came exactly at the epoch of the solstice, when the month is still undetermined at the time of a full moon, but while it was yet twilight. Being permitted to speak she advised that the old and infirm instead of being exterminated, should merely be sent to the still unpopulated parts of the country, where they would be able to obtain the means of existence, without being any burden to the community. The king liked the advice, and as the adviser had charmed him by her beauty and her wit, he took her for his wife.

The Coming Fashion in Colors.

Green is to supersede gray for spring wear. Reseda is to be the ultra-fashionable shade in this color; it is a delicate grayish green and is charming alike in thick and thin material. Tea green is also a new tint, and, together with olive, oresson, fir and myrtle green, will have a fair share of popularity. Apple green and that of a yellowish tint are used for tea-gowns and evening dresses. Ruby, tannine, a pale shade of ruby, and dark mushroom are among the new colors. All shades of brown, from a rich chocolate to a golden hue, are very fashionable for ball dresses; the floral garniture harmonizing with these colors being rich, yellow chrysanthemums, daffodils or marigolds with foliage in brown tints.

The Best Evidence

Of the merits of a remedy is the effect on the system, so there can be no doubt that the California Fig Syrup Company is pursuing the wisest plan possible to make known the wonderful efficacy of Syrup of Figs for all the ills arising from an inactive condition of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Bowels, in giving away sample bottles free of charge. Ask our enterprising druggists W. E. Dement & Co. for a free sample bottle, or you can buy large bottles for fifty cents or one dollar

Mrs. M. Klipstein, wife of E. W. Klipstein, so lately prostrated by a severe attack of illness, has so far recovered that unless a relapse should take place, she will be enabled to receive to-day and on next Saturday, her many friends and acquaintances whose generously offered their aid and assistance to relieve her in her great sufferings and agonies but whose services by strick orders of her attending physician had to be unavoidably declined at those critical periods.

WALL PRINTING CONDEMNED.

"I'll tell you," said Manager Hess, of the Grand Opera house, the other night, "I am opposed to wall printing and lithographs. I believe that all the money managers have to spend for advertising ought to go to the newspapers. Wall paper and lithographs for first-class attractions means so much money thrown away. To illustrate: Minnie Palmer was billed and lithographed to appear at the Grand, Sunday night last. The Lynwood folks got discouraged and quit and we had Saturday night free. We wanted Rogers to take it with the gentle Minnie. John H. kicked a little. He said, our printing is out for Sunday night, and the public won't know what to make of it. If we have a bad house on Saturday night it may ruin the whole engagement." I said, 'Never mind your printing; put advertisements in Friday's papers and I'll guarantee you a big house.' And it was so. We never changed the wall paper. We just announced the change in the newspapers, and Saturday night the house was jammed. Now that convinces me that expensive printing and lithographs do no good. A twenty or forty or sixty line advertisement in the leading dailies is worth more than all the fancy lithographs an advance agent's trunk will hold. Hereafter I am in favor of devoting all the money we have for advertising to the newspapers. They do us more good than any other agency."—Chicago Herald.

Salmon in England.

The demand in the country for salmon is reported to be fairly good, especially so for the first few days of the year. It seems, however, to be tending towards low-priced parcels. This, after the experience of last year, is somewhat strange; nothing but really good salmon can revive the trade—it is the low and inferior parcels which have been the cause of the falling off in the demand. the importers of salmon per Woodlark (now discharging), and the Alameda (just arrived), are preparing to send the salmon into store. The fine quality of the best brands of this year, is sure to meet with eager buyers when grocers fully realize the difference between the various brands. There is no alteration in price. Salmon held on shippers' account is valued at much over the present rates, and, with the information they possess, they are determined to hold for an advance. Another report says the inquiry for salmon is only limited, as most of the grocers are now engaged in stock-taking and there will be no business for a week or two.—Liverpool Correspondence of London Grocer.
