Notice to Advertisers. THE ASTORIAN guarantees to its advertisers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia river.

Last day of the legislature. The Columbia arrives to-day. The Graceland has arrived.

A popular vote in Astoria would elect Mitchell senator by a large majority. The choir of the Congregation church will hold their regular rehearsal this evening.

A substantial addition has been made to Wilson & Fisher's dock at which the Telephone will land.

The O. R. & N. Co. announces the low rate of one dollar a ton on wheat from all points on the Willamette to Portland.

Frank Surprenant started from Fort Stevens last Wednesday afternoon in a row boat, but one of his oars breaking, he went drifting toward the bar.

No word was received yesterday from Salem regarding the election of pilot commissioners, but it is very probable that Capt. Allan Joyce and Louis Wilson of this city and J. A. Brown, of Portland were elected.

M. Johnson, of upper Astoria, was one of the picked bodyguard of thirty-five men, who accompanied General Gordon in his operations against the Tai-pings in China in 1863.

A bill to give the Columbia bridge company the right to build across the Willamette river between Portland and East Portland has been passed by the senate.

According to the new city directory the population of the city of Portland proper is 35,000. This not including the Chinese who number 2,000, nor does it take into consideration East Portland or Alameda, which would swell the total to 43,000.

Henry Felling, John H. Mitchell, Sol Hirsch—one of these three will be elected United States senator at Salem to-day, with their chances in the order named.

The Oregon is advertised to sail for San Francisco to-day. Among other things she takes 15,000 sacks of potatoes to California, the largest shipment ever made.

THE WOMAN SUFFRAGE BILL. LOST.

In the state senate last Wednesday, Siglin's woman suffrage bill came up under special order. Davenport did not believe in the constitution taking away the rights of half of its citizens; did not believe in vested rights; believed all power was inherent in the people, and as part of the people women should have the right of suffrage.

Lee felt in honor bound to heed the voice of his constituents, who had declared their will at the last election upon this question.

Siglin should vote for this bill, because it was just and right. There was no constitutional inhibition against such measure. He believed men were towards who would not honestly face this subject.

He thought his daughter had as much right to vote as the man who blacked his boots; believed in keeping pace with human progress, and though others might, he would not anchor his faith to the dead past.

Haines explained that his constituents had voiced their sentiments upon this question, and he would not change by his vote their verdict.

Hearts believed women could vote under the constitution but they should go to the courts for redress. He voted against the bill, against the earnest appeal of his wife and daughter.

The vote of the bill stood: Ayes—Billings, Carson, Davenport, Davenport, Hall, Hirsch, Houli, Miller, Siglin, and Voorhees—10. Nays—Allen, Borch, Caulhorn, Coleman, Dorris, Emmitt, Haines, Hare, Lee, Myers, Pennington, Price, Reed, Simon, Simon, Wainwright, Ford and Waldo—18. Warren and Williams were absent.

The general appropriation bill in the legislature provides as follows: Work-shop and penitentiary, $10,000; additions and repairs to the asylum, $30,350; agricultural college, $5,000; light waterman at the state capitol, $1,800; expenses of the superintendent of public instruction, $1,850; purchasing governors' portraits, $1,750; books for the state library, $2,500; payment of the state officers, $20,800; for the asylum, $10,000; blind school, $11,000; music school, $12,000; incidental expenses of the state departments, $18,000; conveying convicts to the penitentiary, $15,000; conveying insane to the asylum, $14,000; printing and binding, $18,000; salaries of judicial officers, $65,000; care and treatment of the insane, $134,800; support of the penitentiary, $505,000; orphan's home at Salem, $1,000; expenses of the legislative assembly, $35,000; orphan's home at Portland, $3,000; arrest of fugitives, $3,000; management of state lands, $15,000; pilot commissioners, $2,400; health officers, $1,200; support of state paupers, $1,000; janitor and assistants, $2,800; return of purchase money, $2,750.

The following are the deficiencies for which no provisions have been made: Contingent expenses library and advertising, $80; incidental expenses, $68; pilot commissioners and clerk, $1,000; rewards for mail robbers, $900; expenses of blind school, $1,500; expenses of asylum, $41,000; conveyance of insane, $4,420; conveyance of convicts, $4,800; pay to executive and administrative officers, $3,300; pay to judicial officers, $11,000; pay of California wireworks, $7,000; heating apparatus, $2,000; repairs and additions to penitentiary, $30,135; collateral penitentiary $16,844; water supply at asylum, $3,100; expenses of music school, $2,875; pay of Captain Mullin, state agent at Washington, D. C., $2,500; repairs and additions to capitol building, $3,045; pay of agents selecting swamp lands, $11,550; miscellaneous claims, $2,800; back pay Governor Chadwick, $1,174.

Another Man "Behind the Times." "Anti-monopoly legislation" reached high water mark in the new pilot bill devised to "free the Columbia river bar" from monopoly. It takes $10,000 out of the treasury to keep up a little sail boat that will be of no use whatever, and will cost the wheat growers of the state many times this sum in increased rates of pilotage.

The sail pilot boat can't bring a vessel in, and the pilot and the tug pilot will have to be paid by the ship. This will come out of the wheat crop, of course. Your anti-monopoly legislator, when he gets right down to his work, can do fearful and wonderful things.

Editorial in Yesterday's Oregonian. Captain U. B. Scott's new steamer Telephone is being finished as fast as possible. It is expected by her builders that she will be ready for active service one week from to-day.

WHERE IS THE MONEY?

The balance of trade has been in favor of the United States for eight years past, during which we as a nation have lived within our means and have saved twelve hundred million dollars. During the same eight years not less than six hundred million dollars of gold and silver have been dug out of the ground, and added to all the other hundreds of millions in the country prior to 1877.

Including these three sources, it may be reasonably stated that the United States ought to be ahead now at least $5,500,000,000 in coin, and would be were it not for the payment of debts owed by our people in Europe.

It is hard to believe, though, that anything like the amount above named has gone for that purpose, or the half of it, and the supposition is probably a good one that there is now in the country not far from $1,500,000,000 in gold and silver.

This is a sum beyond comprehension, but it is no more so than it is beyond comprehension where all the money has gone. With a record like the foregoing one would think that all the channels of trade should be gorged with money, and that the people under such circumstances would have entered upon a career of enterprise and speculation, or of extravagance, unparalleled in history.

Such is not the case, however. On the contrary it has been a long time since such caution in business and such general economy has been witnessed as has been the rule of the American people during the past twelve months.

First Come, First Served. A case of interest to wholesale merchants was decided by the supreme court Tuesday. It was the case of Atwood against Martin, sheriff of Umatilla county, and others, appealed from Umatilla county. Briefly told it is as follows:

The stock of one Donaca, a general merchandise dealer at Centerville, Umatilla county, was attacked by Portland creditors in January, 1884, for sums aggregating about $10,000. Donaca confessed judgment, and in the course of time the sheriff took possession of the property and began making preparations to sell it to satisfy the judgments.

Donaca owed about $8,000 in San Francisco, and these creditors asked for an injunction to prevent the sheriff from selling the property, on the ground of alleged fraud between Donaca and the Portland creditors. When the case came up for trial in the state circuit court the plaintiff did not establish the charge of fraud and the injunction was dissolved.

The supreme court affirmed the decision of the lower court, and the San Francisco creditors are "out and injured." It was a case of speed in securing claims, in which Portland outran San Francisco and had the law to protect them.—Oregonian, 19.

Is It Not True? There can be no argument as to the qualities essential to a perfect remedy for the ill arising from a disordered or inactive condition of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.

Everyone will admit that it should be perfectly safe for old and young of both sexes, at any and all times; that it should be acceptable both to the taste and the stomach; that it should never fail to act promptly and thoroughly, yet be painless; and it should give strength to those organs. It is now well known that Syrup of Figs possesses those qualities in a pre-eminent degree. W. E. Dement & Co. are agents for Astoria, Oregon.

Notice. MR. D. H. CASWELL IS NOW ENGAGED in taking a census of School District No. 1. Parents and others interested will confer a favor by assisting him to make it as complete as possible.

Notice. To Cannerymen and Fishermen. WE TAKE PLEASURE in ANNOUNCING to the trade that we have secured the services of Mr. M. JOHNSON, so long and favorably known in the SALM-MAKING trade in Astoria.

WHAT DYNAMITE IS.

Dynamite is prepared by simply kneading with the naked hands twenty-five per cent of infusorial earth and seventy-five per cent of nitro-glycerine until the mixture assumes a putty condition, not unlike moist brown sugar.

Nitro-glycerine is made of nitric acid one part and sulphuric acid two parts, to which is added ordinary glycerine, and the mixture is well washed with pure water.

The infusion is composed of small, microscopic silicious shells which have lost their living creatures. The cellular parts receive the nitro-glycerine and hold it by capillary attraction, both inside and out.

The earth is very light. Water is expelled from it by means of a furnace, and then in a mortar of a powder it is mixed with nitro-glycerine. Nitro-glycerine has a sweet, aromatic, pungent taste and the peculiar property of causing a violent headache when placed in a small quantity on the tongue or wrist.

It freezes at forty degrees Fahrenheit, becoming a white, half-crystallized mass, which must be melted by the application of water at a temperature of about 100 degrees Fahrenheit.
