

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SUNDAY MARCH 15, 1885

The telegrams say that Blaine called to see Cleveland last Friday. It is questionable which of the two should congratulate the other.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has issued his first proclamation, warning Indian territory "boomers" not to enter Oklahoma lands at the peril of ejection by the military.

In Massachusetts, Maine and Vermont, the mercury ranged from 10 to 35 below zero on the 13th. Here a brilliant sun was shining, and the thermometer marked 62 degrees.

THE strike of the railroad employes is extending all over the Mississippi valley. The strikers have not as yet committed any overt act, but seem determined to resist the proposed reduction of wages.

It is reported that the French government is convinced of the necessity of marching upon Peking. The government will shortly ask for a grant of $10,000,000 to provide for the dispatch of 25,000 men to China.

The value of the products of our forests in 1880 exceeded $700,000,000. The value of the iron and steel produced that year was less than $900,000,000; of coal, both anthracite and bituminous, less than $100,000,000.

MANTONA has been grossly libeled, and the Winnipeg papers are rallying to her defense. Some tropical newspaper said the mercury reached 50 degrees below zero at Winnipeg the other day, and the people of that city want it distinctly understood that the statement is a contemptible lie—it was only 46 below.

DRAFTS drawn on the Canadian Pacific syndicate at the east have been returned dishonored. It is reported that the imperial government will come to the help of the Canadian Pacific and assist them in completing the railway, so that troops and munitions of war may be transported through British territory to the Pacific and thence to India.

DISPATCHES from Snakena state that mutiny has broken out in Osman Digma's camp. Deserters bring terrible tales of suffering among the Arabs, and say Osman Digma is only able to maintain authority by a system of terrorism, which includes beheading a few mutineers every morning at sunrise. A report is current among natives to the effect that El Mahdi has evacuated Metemneh. The reason alleged for the step is El Mahdi fears an invasion is about to be made into the Soudan from Abyssinia.

It is reported from Washington that the president and his cabinet take a lively interest in the Illinois senatorial contest, and will leave no effort untried to secure the election of Colonel Morrison, the Democratic caucus nominee. The appointment of General J. C. Black, one of Morrison's competitors, to the pension office, is said to have strengthened the latter's position at Springfield. It is also rumored that Speaker Haines is to be pleased and captured by appointing his son, J. C. Haines, formerly of Chicago, to be governor of Washington territory.

H. H. BRYANT, of Boston, predicts that unless the chief commercial nations of the world resume the coinage of silver within the next twenty, and probably within the next ten, years, general repudiation or revolution are not simply probable but inevitable. He argues that the load of public and corporate debt heaped upon mankind since the discovery of the mines of California and Australia, renders the attempt to rob the common people by the advance of the purchasing power of money an utter impossibility. This prediction, says the News, is strictly in accord with the logic of events, and is worth remembering.

On April 6th and 7th there will meet at New Orleans, one hundred boards of trade from various western cities to confer in regard to improvements of western waterways. Not only senators and representatives will be invited, but also the president and cabinet, and governors of all the states, the hundred boards of trade mentioned, but hundreds of the commercial cities and towns of the valley states will send mammoth delegations. After the adjournment of the commission there will be a steambot excursion from New Orleans to the mouth of the river and jetties, in order that congress may see for themselves the nature and magnitude and wants of these national highways. A delegation regarding the Columbia river obstructions is in order.

JOHN BRIGHT to his constituents: "Cast your eye back for a moment upon the reign of the queen. Do you imagine the reign of the queen is remarkably a reign of peace, and that heaven should be thanked for the long peace that we have enjoyed? A great many other people at your cost have not enjoyed it. Three wars with China, the most peaceful empire in the world; a war with Burmah; I know not how many wars in South Africa even before the Zulu war; a war in the Crimea of the largest proportions; two Afghan Wars, in one of which not less than 60,000 camels died of hunger, thirst and over-labor; another war in Egypt; and I assert that it was not possible for anybody to form, I will not say a just defense, but a reasonable excuse, for the wars that have been waged by this country during the reign of the queen."

A WASHINGTON special to the Chronicle conveys the information that society circles at the national capital are terribly shocked at President Cleveland's plebeian habit of breakfasting at 8 o'clock and working in his shirt sleeves. He is credited with feeling a contempt for society as it is constituted in Washington. His attitude in this respect is all the more noticeable when contrasted with the habits of his predecessor. Mr. Arthur's administration was a continued delight to society people. With his courtly manners, his aesthetic tables and bery of charming ladies in the fragrant parlor; the White house grew to be a sort of Windsor castle, to be admitted to which all society people felt honored. They are now disposed to look upon Cleveland as a crusty old bachelor, with severe ideas of business and a real contempt for society. Therefore society feels a little rebellious, and some of its leaders have already resolved to keep away from the White house altogether. People who are well acquainted with the president say that this resolve, if faithfully kept, will afford him almost as much satisfaction as the withdrawal of the politicians.

LATE war notes from Europe are less threatening in their character. In the English house of commons on the 13th, Gladstone announced that an agreement had been arrived at between Russia and England by the terms of which neither Russian nor the Afghan forces would advance any further on either side of the frontier. Commenting on the statement the London Standard says: "The agreement between England and Russia leaves the essence of the difficulty untouched. Matters must have been bad when such an agreement was paraded as a diplomatic gain. Many consider this pause in the situation a prelude to surrender." On the 13th, the czar of Russia, during an informal talk with several diplomats at an imperial levy, said: "I cannot conceive that any but the wildest dreamer could think that I would declare war on England. Our ends can be attained and will be attained, but will be by the gradual powers of civilization, and not by force." Baron Mohrenheim, Russian ambassador, has been interviewed in regard to the present Anglo-Russian situation. He expressed the opinion that Emperor William would exert his influence to avert war and also endeavor to induce England to make some concession. He scouted the idea that Russia would withdraw her troops from positions at present occupied. Such action would reflect dishonor upon the Russian armies. In case England did not declare war, it was certain, in his opinion, that Russia would not do so. He thought it extremely unlikely that England would declare war, as she has her hands full already. DeGiers, Russian prime minister, is animated by a desire for peace. The influence of the war party in Russia has diminished since the death of General Skobelev.
