glass can be cut under water with greatest ease, to almost any shape by simply using a pair of shears or strong seissors. In order to insure strong seissors. In order to insure success two points must be attended to—first and most important, the glass must be kept quite level in the water while the seissors are applied; and, secondly, to avoid risk, it is better to begin the cutting by taking off small pieces at the corners and along the edges, and to reduce the shape gradually to that required, for if any attempt is made to cut the glass to the shape as we would a piece of is only a part of beauty; the shape as we would a piece of scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver but it is a part. Every lady may have it; at least, what looks like it. Magnolia Balm both freshens and beautifies.

Some kinds of glass cut much better than others; the softer glass is the best for this purpose. The seissors need not depend on the state of the edge presented to the glass. When the operation goes on well the glass breaks away from the scissors in small pieces in a straight line with the blades. This method of cutting glass has often been of service when a William was observed with much

TUBULAR RAILS.

At the close of 1879 James R. Keene of San Francisco, counted up his riches, some said at $19,000,000. No one put them below $13,000,000. When he came to New York from California he was worth $5,000,000 and "played it up." He came in 1877 and got in on the rise. He bought enormous quantities of stocks during the railroad riots and when the disturbances ended prices jumped up in a way that added to his fortune faster than he could have hoped for.

The terrible "squeeze" he received in wheat marked the beginning of his so ld out under 90 cents and every dollar of the $8,000,000 was gone. More wheat was offered than he had counted on. Farmers were ready to eat hay along with their live stock, to get $1.25 or $1.30 for their wheat and the stuff came from everywhere until Keene was deluged. Keene at the time, was "long" of the stock market. It saves power by the evenness of the wheat lost they pounced on acting as one piece, the pounding at much he had lost they pounced on acting as one piece, the pounding at the stock market and bore prices the joints is avoided, and lighter, less down.
