FRANCE AND CHINA.

LONDON, March 28.—A dispatch from Paris says it is officially announced that Chinese troops on the Tonquin frontier yesterday made a desperate attack upon the entrenched camp established by General Negrier, between Langson and Kina, and from which General Negrier has been making reconnaissances beyond the frontier separating Tonquin from China proper. The Chinese drove the French back beyond Langson, and recaptured that town. General Negrier was gravely wounded, and the French casualties were very serious.
Latest accounts represent the French troops in full retreat with the Chinese vigorously pursuing them. vast quantities of commissary and other stores were lost. General Negrier received a gun-shot wound in the chest. He was brought from the field, but his recovery is doubtful. The total French loss, killed and wounded, are not yet known.
General Brier de Lisle, who is in chief command in Tonquin, telegraphs for assistance in an imploring tone, which leads Parisians to expect further disasters. A council of war was held to-day, with General Lewal, minister of war, presiding. Intense excitement prevails wherever the bad news has become known in France.
Should Thank Beecher.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Various stories are related as to the manner in which the new minister to England was discovered by President Cleveland. An eastern member of congress attributes Phelps' selection to Henry Ward Beecher. "The fact is," said this congressman, "President Cleveland never met Phelps but once, and knew so little about him that he would never thought of selecting him for the office if some powerful influence had not suggested it. Henry Ward Beecher has been a warm personal friend of Phelps for several years, and Beecher came to Washington about ten days before Phelps was nominated, and had a long talk with the president. I am told he came here expressly to ask that Phelps be named as minister to England. The president feels that he is under deep obligations to Beecher, so much so that anything that Beecher might ask would be granted. There is no doubt that Phelps got his place at the request of the Plymouth church pastor."

WALLA WALLA, March 28.—The readjustment of the limits of the Northern Pacific land grant by secretary Lamar, so as to run directly east from Wallula Junction instead of north-easterly, as formerly, gives great satisfaction here, as it will enable a large number of settlers who have made valuable improvements upon railroad lands to obtain title thereto. There was great uneasiness in the community in regard to the class of lands affected, and a failure to make the change would have involved a number of citizens in heavy losses, and meant absolute ruin to others.

A gentleman just returned from British Columbia, says the Indians who live near the cranberry marshes on the main land pick the ripe cranberries from the moss that grows under the vines now and sell them for 25 cents a quart. They are cherry red and very delicious sauce when cooked. It is said the Indians only pick them after the snow melts in early spring.
—Willamette Farmer.

A contract for furnishing beef to the garrison at Vancouver barracks, has been let to Mr. Blurock of Portland, for $6.90 per hundred. It is said that the contractor will have to lose money. Beef cattle are worth 10 cents in the cattle country east of the mountains.

Ainsworth, the railroad town at the crossing of Snake river, is abolished, as Yakima Junction is at Pasco, a few miles above it.

Herring are being caught at Yakima City in large numbers. They are said to be the best fish found in the bay.
Considerable immigration comes from California every steamer; also a large number comes by railroad.

The Table Grassed.
This is an old expression, used to convey the idea of a big dinner; so big as to make the table creak and threaten to tumble to the floor. Sometimes it happens that people eat too much of the big dinner and have to groan over the attacks of indigestion, the precursors of regular dyspepsia. Brown's Iron Bitters, the great enemy of dyspepsia, relieves all this trouble and makes comfort take the place of groaning. Mrs. Matilda Davidson, Montgomery City, Mo., says, "I took Brown's Iron Bitters for dyspepsia, and it did me great good."

A miner near Murray, Cour d'Alene mines, lately found a nugget that weighed nineteen ounces.
Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites.
In Scrophulous and Consumptive Cases.—Dr. C. C. Lockwood, New York says: "I have frequently prescribed Scott's Emulsion, and it is a valuable preparation in scrophulous and consumptive cases, palatable and efficacious."

OUTDOOR LIFE.

Man seems planned for an outdoor life in a mild climate, with just a leaf or two of shelter for a rainy day. His nature will bend for a time to the conventional burdens of an artificial civilization, but replant him on first principles in the outdoor garden of life and his recuperative forces will rebound with the elastic energy of steel springs relieved. Our fashionable friends would lose cast were they to use their neighbor's second-hand clothing, but they will daily try to purify their own blood with their neighbor's second-hand or ten times used breath, poisoned as it always is, even when exhaled by young and healthy persons. Man, in common with other warm blooded creatures, generates a surplus of heat within his body. Outdoor sleepers find that no matter how cold the surrounding air may be, if dry, enough of the outflowing heat may be dammed back and retained by suitable clothing to sustain the vital functions in health and comfort. Until domestic art can supply our lungs with cool, first-mortgaged air, in warm rooms, its votaries will have an important problem to solve. In the meantime out campers and dwellers will wear the best aerated blood in the land.

A farmer in St. Helena, Cal., raised a 300 lb. pumpkin last season, which he scraped out and uses the shell as a kennel for his big Newfoundland dog.—Exchange. Well, Mr. Exchange, Prairie Farmer wants to know why you didn't make a better story while you were about it; you "might as well die for a sheep as a lamb." Why, a man in Kansas wishing to start a new town at a railway crossing, followed the directions of this journal, and planted Hubbard squash seeds where he wanted houses. When ripe he cleaned out the insides, put in doors and windows, chimneys, floors and chimneys, with cellars in the bottom, rented them to families for dwellings, and sold the lots for enough to invest $500,000 in government bonds, and with the surplus change has gone to Europe with his family. Fact, Stranger!—Prairie Farmer.

Maine has twenty-three lobster canning establishments, which practically control the industry in the United States. The catch of lobsters averages about 15,000,000 pounds annually, something over one-half of which is canned. The Maine sardine industry is worth $25,000 a year. The menhaden fishery brought in $63,145 in oil and crabs caught in 1877, but owing to the periodic nature of the species, this kind of fishing has been practically valueless during the past three years.

The editor of an Alkali paper set up Cleveland's inaugural for its inside. When its patent outside came it also contained the address, so it appeared both on the out and inside. This is one of the beauties of pure insides.

Fifty acres of amber sugar cane is being planted on Snake river, near Wawawau.

PORTLAND, Ky.—Lieutenant Charles W. McKim, states: "For twenty years I had suffered with rheumatism. My suffering was terrible, when I applied St. Jacobs Oil. Its relief was rapid, as in half an hour I could stand up, and I no longer suffer."

The Northern Pacific is accumulating material to push its road west of Yakima.
"I Don't Feel Like Work."
It makes no difference what business you are engaged in: whether you are a preacher, a merchant, a mechanic, a lawyer or a common laborer, you can't do your work well while you are half sick. Thousands try to, but all in vain. How much better to keep your organs in good order by taking Parker's Tonic when you feel "a little out of sorts." It would be money in your pocket. One hour of good, rejoicing health is worth half a dozen hours full of languor and pain.
