GENERAL GRANT'S CONDITION.

NEW YORK, March 31.—A. M.—At 11:45 Senator J. B. Chaffee left the Grant residence. He said the general had just been put to bed, and that as compared to his condition twenty-four hours ago the general was better. When asked if the physicians considered the patient out of danger, Chaffee replied he could not say that such was the case, but that the present condition was more favorable.

At 11:55 Dr. Douglas and Colonel Grant left the house for the night, it being considered necessary for only Dr. Shradly to remain. Dr. Douglas said the general had just retired and was very comfortable. Little morphia had been given to induce sleep. The general has been improving all day up to the present and the betterment had continued all evening. He had been chatty and bright, conversing with the family and physicians. His pulse and temperature are very nearly normal. He had slept five hours within twenty-four.

At midnight the vestibule doors were locked and within the next hour all lights were extinguished, except one in the library and one on the top floor.

2:45 A. M.—At 1:45 an effort was made to get a bulletin concerning the condition of General Grant but the porters were unable to gain admission to the house, and no one inside would come out. As the house remained dark as stated in an earlier dispatch, it is not thought a change has taken place in the condition of the general.

4 A. M.—An associated press reporter has just seen Dr. Shradly, in charge of General Grant to-night, and learned the following facts: At midnight Dr. Shradly made applications to Gen. Grant's throat, and an anodyne was administered to Dr. Douglas, who then left for his home, and Dr. Shradly remained. Soon after midnight Gen. Grant slept quietly in his bed from that time until 1:30 when he awoke and sat in his easy chair, and there slept peacefully for a time. His breathing was easy and he did not complain of any disagreeable feeling in his throat. At this hour (4 A. M.) all is quiet about General Grant's house, a solitary gleam of light being seen in the library. No one has entered since Dr. Douglas left the house.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The Tribune says General Grant has expressed himself as being entirely in his physicians' hands, and said he would do whatever was suggested by them. Nothing whatever is kept from him in regard to his condition, and he was informed of its seriousness and probable termination. He received the statement that there was an indication of a speedy end without a change of expression, but did not say anything about his feelings. He had known for some time that the disease was sure to kill, and has been ready at any time to go.

Dr. Douglas said: "The general has no appetite, but he eats when food is brought to him. The feature of to-day is his great weakness. He is growing weaker and weaker. I do not know whether he fears a recurrence of the spasms in the throat or not. He has not said anything about it. This was one of the changes incident to the progress of the disease."

Minister Romero said to-night: "As soon as the disease reaches an artery it will create hemorrhage, and as he is so weak that he cannot expectorate blood out it will choke him to death. He cannot endure another attack like Saturday night. The family fear the worst and keep near his bedside, although as much out of sight as possible. There is great swelling on the side of his face."

An Outrage at Asplawall.

PANAMA (via Galveston), March 30.—Star and Herald bulletins published to-day say the steamer Colon was seized to-day at Aspinwall by revolutionists, who demanded the delivery of shipments of arms on board for the revolution. The agents refused to deliver. Connor, local superintendent of the Pacific Mail Company, was first arrested, and later the captain and the purser of the steamer were placed under arrest on board. Subsequently Captain Dowell of the Pacific Mail Company, Mr. Wright, United States consul, and the lieutenant of the American man-of-war Galena, were arrested and marched off to the quarter. They were released at 6 o'clock, on condition that the arms should be delivered, and delivery is now going on. American and England war ships did nothing to protect foreign interests, because the revolutionary chief declared he would resist their interference by force. Americans are indignant at the insults to their flag and outrage to their persons and property. Troops go from here to-night to attack the revolutionists, who, however, are in strong force, and with the arms from the Colon will probably be able to control events in their own way and to their own interests.

WILLAPA RIVER.

The Willapa river heads in Lewis county, within a few miles of Chehalis river. Its course is generally westerly, although very crooked. Its entire length is about seventy-five miles. There are fine bottom lands the entire length, varying from one-half to two miles in width, covered generally with timber and brush, although there are several large and fine prairies. The soil is of great depth and fertility, producing very large crops of cereals and roots—corn not doing well on account of cool nights. The country slopes gradually away from each side of the river to high ridges, all covered with heavy growths of fir, spruce and cedar of an extra quality. There are large tracts of government and railroad land yet to be had. There are a great many small streams tributary to the Willapa. The largest, South fork, has the same general characteristics, as in fact do all the smaller streams, as the main river. The river is at present navigable for the bay steamers for about twenty miles, but with a small amount of work could be made navigable for several miles further. Vessels of the deepest draught go as far as South Bend—twelve miles from the mouth—the most important point. It consists of a large saw mill with a capacity of 60,000 feet daily. There is a good school and about 200 inhabitants. Nine miles further east is Willapa city, formerly called Woodard's Landing. It is practically at the head of navigation. It consists of two stores, warehouse, two hotels and saloons, blacksmith shop, school, and about 100 inhabitants. It is a growing place, and is bound to be a good town in the near future, as it is at the outlet of the river. There are several large settlements at different points for about 50 miles, but no business centers. Every settlement has a school. Logging is the principal industry, although farming is carried on to a larger extent than at any other point in the county. The camps and mills make a fine market for all the products raised in the valley. When the country is more thickly settled and some of the smaller streams opened up there will be more of an incentive and more help to open up the communications to different portions of the valley, and to other streams, which are naturally tributary to the Willapa. The chief obstacle at present is to get a market for small grains. Transportation is so high that it cannot be raised with profit. There is a fine opening here for a grist mill, as there is none in the county. All flour used is brought from California and Oregon. There is also a fine location for a shingle mill, as the spruce and cedar here are of an extra quality and there is a large local market to be supplied.—Pacific Journal.

LONDON, March 30.—A Paris dispatch to the Exchange telegraph company states that war with China will be officially declared to-day, 50,000 reinforcements will be forwarded and the army ordered to march on Peking. It is expected that Admiral Courbet will bombard Canton. Figaro states the French killed and wounded at the fight at Langson was 1,200. Some papers favor impeaching the ministry.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 30.—Gen. De Schweinitz has informed Degiers that Germany desires peace, and would not refuse to mediate between England and Russia, if requested to do so. It is reported the czar recently told Gen. De Schweinitz that he had the best hopes for a peaceful settlement.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Count Orlowsky, Russian consul at this city, states that two Russian cruisers have left the Mediterranean for this port. Their object in coming to this port is to do as much damage as possible to the English merchant marine and the British possessions, in case war between the two countries is declared.

Mind That.
A Plantation Philosopher says, "poverty of body is bad, but poverty of mind is worse." Yes, good friend, but please to remember that if the blood in the body is impoverished, the mind is affected by it and made poor also. When you enrich your blood and tone up your system with Brown's Iron Bitters you strengthen your mind and quicken your intellect. Mind this, Dr. J. B. Morgan, Dolphin, Mo., says, "I have found that Brown's Iron Bitters gives general satisfaction as a restorative."

LONDON, March 30.—It is reported to-day in newspaper circles that prospects for a peaceful solution of the Russo-Afghan question have greatly improved in the past twelve hours.

Statistics show an appalling death rate from narcotic medicines. Not a trace of opiate or narcotic in Red Star Cough Cure.

SUAKEM, March 30.—A messenger from Osman Digma, bearing a flag of truce, has arrived here, asking for terms of peace. An answer must be sent to-morrow.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites.
In Scrophulous and Consumptive Cases—Dr. C. C. LOCKWOOD, New York says: "I have frequently prescribed Scott's Emulsion and regard it as a valuable preparation in scrophulous and consumptive cases, palatable and efficacious."
